Alice Longworth Says

(Special To The News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 24.—Members of the American Newspaper Publishers Association have not sidestepped the issue of freedom of the press.

They condemn in damaging detail the terrorist procedure of the Black Inquisitorial Committee. They make it clear that they must stand together against the tyranny threatening them from Washington; that it is imperative they maintain a united front, regardless of political affiliations.

There is heartening evidence that the press refuses to be intimidated, and will fight with every weapon it possesses when its freedom is menaced by those in high places.

It would be folly to make this question a partisan issue. The newspaper supporters of the New Deal might do well to recollect that, remote as it may seem to them, there is always the chance of another administration coming in. It would be deplorable if it became the political custom for Democrats to filch Republican communications, and for Republicans in reprisal to filch those of the Democrats; for each party when it is in power to invade the privacy of members of the other party.

ALICE LONGWORTH.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

There seems to be no slump in the automobile business, judging by the great number of new cars of all types which pass through the city. There was an unusually large number of trucks being driven through the city today.

* * *

Hyacinths are beginning to appear in bloom, following the crocuses and daffodils. Pa Newc notices that the foliage on the trees is beginning to sprout also. Soon the countryside will be a mass of foliage and bloom.

* * *

The past winter was an unusually good one for the grass crops. Pa Newc has never noticed lawns in as good condition so early in the season as they are this year. The heavy snows of the winter seemed to protect the grass from the cold weather.

* * *

Abe Martin once said "four out of five have forsythia" but that doesn't apply this year. Not one out of ten have it for the severe winter seems to have frozen all the bloom. The pretty yellow blooms are missing this spring.

WPA workers are making steady progress on laying the new sidewalk on Croton Hill, and a few more days like today will see the work completed.

Weather like today makes the golf bugs anxious for the opening of the season. Many players have already gotten in their first licks, and nice weather over the week end will bring them out in large numbers.

Haile Selassie May Ask Italy For Armistice

Report From Addis Ababa Says Truce Is Becoming Possibility

ITALIANS PRESS NEARER CAPITAL

Another Report Says Addis Ababa May Not Be Defended By Ethiopians.

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

ADDIS ABABA, April 24.—A truce—directly negotiated between Emperor Haile Selassie and Marshal Pietro Badoglio—became a possibility today as two Italian armies, after seven months of bitter fighting, pressed nearer to Addis Ababa.

Haile Selassie, under pressure from his vanquished generals and deserted by the League of Nations, was reported returning to Addis Ababa to discuss with his ministers the advisability of seeking an armistice.

Ras Kassa, whose army was shattered in the Tembien mountains with a loss of around 5,000 men, is understood to be one of the army and government leaders who are strongly insisting that serious peace negotiations be started.

Italy served notice on Ethiopia, through the league, that a truce must be arranged with the Italian high command in the field, and that negotiations for a permanent peace could be held only between Italy and Abyssinia direct, without league interference.

The emperor, at last reports, was directing the defense of the mountain passes north of Addis Ababa, where the Ethiopians were dynamiting the narrow defiles and battling the Italian infantry.

To Enter Under Flag Of Truce

Rome, April 24.—Under the white flag of truce, the Italian northern army will be escorted into Addis Ababa without the firing of a shot, Il Tevere reported from Djibouti today.

The dispatch quoted Lieutenant Frere, one of the Belgian military advisors who left Addis Ababa for Djibouti early this week, as saying that the Ethiopian cabinet had decided not to defend the capital itself.

With the American advisor to Emperor Haile Selassie, Dr. John Hathaway Spencer, as one of the party, Lieut. Frere reportedly said, a delegation will meet an Italian group about 25 miles north of the capital and pledge non-resistance.

Others under the Ethiopian white flag will be Foreign Minister Takagne and Mayor Takela, of Addis Ababa.

Colnot Wins State Title At Pottsville

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

POTTSVILLE, Pa., April 24.—Gilbert Colnot, of New Castle High School, today won the state bassoon title at the annual two-day contests of the Pennsylvania music and forensic league.

Two other champions were announced among the first finalists. They were Aldus Frantz, Waynesboro High School, French horn, and E. J. Nichlas, Shaler township, Glenshaw, flute.

The winners were announced following completion of first preliminaries for the 47 music events listed.

Oppose Extra Gasoline Tax

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, April 24. — Motorists in Pennsylvania will oppose Governor George H. Earle's plan to increase the state tax on gasoline another cent a gallon to raise $12,000,000 annually for relief, J. Borton Weeks, president of the Keystone Automobile Club, announced here today.

Weeks characterized the proposed new levy, to be submitted to the forthcoming special session of the legislature, as "unfair," adding that Pennsylvania automobile owners paid $72,000,000 into motor funds last year.

Tragedy Occurs In Hollywood Studio

(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, April 24.—One man was dead here today and another critically burned from a bolt of electricity which narrowly missed several motion picture celebrities.

The spectacular tragedy occurred when James Reeves, 30, blinded by the sun, swung a crane into contact with a 33,000 volt high-tension line in a studio.

The bolt flashed down the crane, killing Reeves instantly and critically burning his helper, James R. Hayden, 45. Standing within a few feet of the fatal bolt were Bing Crosby, Dolores Costello Barrymore, George Raft and other actors and studio officials.

Primary Election On Next Tuesday

Ballots and election supplies for the primary next Tuesday have been distributed in the country districts and boroughs. On Monday the county commissioners will distribute the city ballots.

The campaign, which comes to a close on Monday evening has been an unusually quiet one, due largely to the fact that there have been no county offices to be filled this year. Principal interest here is centered in the nominations for congress, state senate and assembly. There are also delegates to the national conventions to be elected, members of the county committees in the various districts, and members of the state committees.

Republican Candidates

Candidates on the Republican ticket are as follows:

State Treasurer, Frank P. B. Thompson of Philadelphia county and Frank L. Pinola of Luzerne county.

Auditor general, E. Arthur Sweeney of Westmoreland county.

Congress: Edwin F. G. Harper,

Pittsburgh Court Passes Sentence On Confessed Slayer This Morning

CRIME OCCURRED SIX YEARS AGO

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 24.—Youthful George C. Skidmore's six-year bloody battle with the law ended today when he was sentenced to life imprisonment in the Western penitentiary for the brutal killing of a crippled gasoline station attendant in a holdup.

He pleaded guilty before Judge Ralph H. Smith for first degree murder in the slaying of Charles Hammond in a holdup in 1930.

"We shall leave you with the life God gave you," Judge Smith declared. "Let Him decide your future. We think you would have faced death unflinchingly; we hope you take your sentence the same way."

Deprive You Of Freedom.

Skidmore, who killed another man while fleeing posses in Rattlesnake mountain near Bellefonte after the Hammond slaying, was emotionless until Judge Smith added:

Mayor Decrees Work Penalties

Four Prisoners In Police Court Ordered To Work For City Two Days

OTHERS LIABLE TO SAME SENTENCE

Mayor Charles E. McGrath during police court today suited action to words and as a result four men who were accused of begging Thursday were sentenced to two days' work for the city. They were placed in charge of Sanitary Patrolman Chauncey Davis for work in Sampson street. The mayor said that all persons accused in the future of a similar offense may receive a like sentence.

Sometime ago the mayor indicated that unless panhandlers ceased operations here they might find themselves with an axe in their hands standing before a huge pile of logs.

Today when His Honor called prisoners before him in police court he said:

"I know you men want to work. I have found some for you. I hereby sentence each of you to serve two days' work in Sampson street."

HIGH SCHOOL CONTESTS BEGIN AT POTTSVILLE

(International News Service)

POTTSVILLE, Pa., April 24.—An advance guard of more than 3,000 high school students from 145 high schools in the state arrived here today to open the annual two-day contests of the Pennsylvania Music and Forensic league.

The list of contestants will probably swell beyond 5,000 this afternoon. Six speech and 47 music events were listed.

Sponsored by the University of Pittsburgh, the contests are being staged in the eastern part of the state for the first time in several years. Oil City was the scene of the league meeting last year.

Winners of the 53 separate contests will be adjudged state champions in their respective events. Contests will be held not only in the PARIS, April 24.—England may be all right as a sanctuary but its April blasts proved too much for Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh.

They were on their way today from Boulogne by motor car to Monte Carlo, "seeking sunshine" on the Riviera, friends said. The Lindberghs left England yesterday, leaving their son, Jon, in the care of a nurse.

Band Leaves For Pottsville

High School Musicians Enroute To State Contests In Buses

WILL COMPETE ON SATURDAY

New Castle's high school band players, riding in two chartered motor coaches, were enroute to Pottsville, Pa., this afternoon for their competition on Saturday afternoon wtih the cream of bands from all over the state.

Individual contestants and others who will perform in ensemble events there were also aboard the buses. A smaller group left yesterday morning to compete in contests today.

It was announced that the ensemble and solo events will be run off today, tonight and Saturday morning. The band contest begins on Saturday at 12:30 p. m., but results are not be announced until about 4 in the afternoon.

"We won't know the outcome of the band competition until late tomorrow afternoon," Principal Frank L. Orth declared at senior high.

Accompanying the musicians was Prof. Joseph F. Replogle, music director, who will lead the band, and several high school teachers. The party will be under the teachers' supervision throughout the trip.

The buses will return over the 290-mile trip together on Sunday. The trip by coach requires about 10 hours one way.

Flood Control Plans Opposed In Eastern Area

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 24.—Maj. Gen. E. M. Markham, chief of army engineers, today submitted an adverse report to congress upon a proposal for an investigation to determine the feasibility of construction of dams or other flood control structures in the Delaware river between Easton and Stroudsburg, Pa., for the prevention of floods.

The report said that the improvement would not benefit general commerce or navigation sufficient to warrant federal expenditures.

The report called attention to the fact that army engineers have submitted to congress a comprehensive plan for utilization of resources of the Delaware river water sheds, combined power developments, storage and regulation of water supply and incidental flood control benefit.

Amelia Earhart Tells Of Daring Ocean Hops And Boosts Aviation

Amelia Earhart, world-renowned for her exploits in the air, told an audience of approximately 900 persons at the senior high school auditorium on Thursday night some of the exciting thrills of the daring aviation adventures which have won for her lasting fame and admiration.

The noted aviatrix came to speak for the Lions club's annual benefit for its blind fund. The proceeds will go to its sightsaving work.

The club's president, Attorney William D. Cobau, introduced her as "a very interesting and colorful public figure." And Miss Earhart, by her charming use of words thruout the evening, proved to one and all that she's an accomplished speaker, too.

Tells Of Ocean Flights.

For the most part she took her audience back to the two transoceanic flights which thrust her into prominence and recited, in a conversational-like manner, the outstanding recollections of those trips. The first was from Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, to a farmer's pasture in Ireland, and the second from Honolulu, Hawaii, to Oakland, Cal.

Most of her listeners probably had read of most of the thrills in newspapers long ago, but hearing them from Miss Earhart's own lips was a new experience.

"Two-thirds of the success of any expedition, I contend," said the fluffy-haired flyer, "lies in the preparation for it. That is, preparation of equipment and personnel."

She said she believes all the worrying should be done two months ahead of any great aerial undertaking.

Miss Earhart told the audience she felt that she had one chance in ten to successfully fly the Atlantic and had a 50-50 chance for success on the Pacific venture. She explained the weather conditions that made the flights somewhat different.

At different points the safety of air travel was emphasized. She said that anybody going along the ground (in an auto, of course) at a 50-mile-an-hour or over speed, should get into the air.

The safety remarks were referred to by the flyer as "my sermon of the evening".

Never does she fail to ask her

Men Saved From Moose River Mine To Win Battle For Life

SCADDING TAKEN TO HALIFAX, N. S.

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

HALIFAX, N. S., April 24.—Dr. D. E. Robertson and Alfred Scadding, leading figures in the grim drama of the Moose River gold mine cave-in, were definitely on the road to health today.

All doubt that the men would survive the rigors of their imprisonment in the narrow mine chamber, which cost the life of their associate, Herman Magill, has been dispelled.

Scadding was brought to Halifax hospital from Moose River yesterday afternoon and attending physicians this morning said he probably would be in sufficiently good shape to leave for his home in Toronto in ten days. Scadding, 44-year-old timekeeper of the mine, lost about 25 pounds during his tenday confinement and developed an infection, known as "trench feet," because of the dampness of the mine chamber.

Dr. Robertson Recovering

Reports on Dr. Robertson from Moose River, where he is still in the emergency hospital at the mine, were even more favorable. The 64-year-old surgeon's condition was described as "truly remarkable."

A bulletin issued from the temporary hospital read as follows:

"Dr. Robertson has showed continued progress. He has had some sleep and has taken nourishment regularly. No complications are evident."

It was thought probable Dr. Robertson would be brought to Halifax today.

Deer On Road; Auto Overturns Two Are Killed

(International News Service)

DANVILLE, Pa., April 24.—Two youths were killed instantly, and a young girl was seriously injured early today when their automobile overturned on the Elysburg-Danville highway, one mile southeast of here.

Orville Mordan, Danville, driver of the coupe in which authorities said five persons were riding, claimed a deer ran in front of the speeding car as the party was returning from Sunbury. Mordan jammed on his brakes and the car swerved from the highway, turning over in a nearby field.

Mordan and Charles St. Clair, also of Danville, the fifth occupant of the machine, escaped with minor injuries. Coroner A. J. Ancerawicz and state police were investigating the accident.

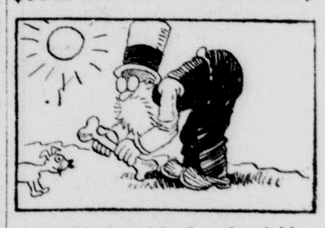

Suggest Shipyards For Pacific Coast

PUERTO RICO IS AROUSED

Refererldum Stirs Island

Roosevelt Administration's Bill For Popular Referendum Is Surprise

POPULACE NOT AGREED ON ISSUE

(International News Service)

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, April 24.--A verbal hurricane swept across Puerto Rico today as the result of the Roosevelt administration's surprise bill for a popular referendum offering the island independence.

A spokesman for the majority coalition of Republicans and Socialists said "economic and political ruin of Puerto Rico" would follow granting of independence as provided in the bill, while Pedro Albizu Campos, head of the small but vociferous "Yankee-hating" nationalist party, jubilantly declared the island would vote "90 per cent for independence."

A third group, composed of business men and liberals, denounced the bill and asked instead of outright independence, an autonomy in which American protection and American markets would be reserved for Puerto Rico.

Invitation To Murder.

"The Tydings bill appears to be an official invitation to wholesale murder in Puerto Rico by endorsing the elements responsible for the Riggs assassination and other violence," said Rafael Rivera, editor, in the statehood coalition newspaper El Pais today. Col. Francis Riggs, American chief of insular police, was slain recently by nationalist terrorists.

"The bill is un-American and an unfair betrayal of the Democratic party, whose 1932 platform included a statehood plank. The bill represents the permanent enslavement of Puerto Rico under a permanent colonial form of government, or it is a sentence of death by starvation under independence."

The bill povides for a "yes" or "no" referendum in November, 1937, at which islanders would vote on independence. If approved and ratified, independence would be effective after a four-year transitional period with Puerto Rico as a commonwealth.

Washington, April 24.—Hope of freedom to govern themselves was extended the people of Puerto Rico today by the administration's surprise bill introduced in the senate to pave the way for their independence.

The measure was introduced by Senator Tydings (D) of Maryland, chairman of the senate committee on territories. If it passes both houses and is signed by the president it will mean the passing of self-government of another of the country's insular possessions gained through the war with Spain.

MERELY HYPOCRITICAL

"Here," lamented Mrs. J., "is another invitation from Mrs. Boreleigh, asking us to one of her dull parties. I wish we didn't have to go."

"Tell her we have a previous engagement," said her husband.

"No," said Mrs. J., vigorously, "that would be a lie. Edith, dear, write Mrs. Boreleigh that we accept with much pleasure."

The way people live doesn't always indicate how much they are making. It merely shows why merchants go broke.

audience three of her favorite questions, and she maintained that record last night.

Willing To Make Flight.

She asked how many had had an airplane ride in the past three years, and possibly a score of scattered hands went up.

She asked how many would take a ride with her today in an air liner if it were possible, and almost every hand shot up.

Then she asked how many would not accept her offer, were it possible, and a few hands straightened into the air.

"It's in you who wouldn't accept a ride that I'm interested," Miss Earhart promptly continued. 'I want to tell you it's not so bad. You may get air sick—yes, maybe—but the percentage of people who do is very small.

"I could compare airplane travel with auto travel by comparing ox-carts and automobiles. Autos go much faster—and I didn't see any ox-carts out in front of the school tonight."

At the close Miss Earhart, who in private life is Mrs. George Palmer Putnam, volunteered to answer aviation questions.

Answers Questions.

Answering them, she declared, among other things, that the Allegheny mountain "hell stretch" got its reputation from the old mail plane days—and she thinks it's "unjustified"; that the auto-gyros (the windmill type plane that goes straight up and down) has many advantages; that she has never been forced to "bail out" and that only once, to her knowledge, has lightning struck a plane.

The moment the tall aviatrix, wearing a tailored formal gown of brown crepe—brown's her favorite color—walked onto the stage, she won the affectionate admiration of the audience. She stood in one place as she spoke and her poise and grace on the platform equalled that she is known to demonstrate in the cokpit of her plane.

Mr. Cobau and Mrs. James L. Vogan, president of the Ladies of the Lions, the Lions' auxiliary, were with her on the platform.

Band music for the evening was provided by the Benjamin Franklin junior high orchestra, led by John E. Paton.

Magill, which opened in Moose River yesterday, was postponed last night until next Thursday . . . at which time, it is hoped, testimony from Dr. Robertson and perhaps from Scadding, will be available. Dr. Glen Donovan, who examined the 30-year-old lawyer's body, declared he thought death was due to pneumonia.

Magill died in Dr. Robertson's arms in the mine early Monday, a short time after communication had been established by the rescue workers with the entombed trio.

To Probe Cave-In

Meanwhile Minister of Mines Michael Dwyer was preparing for a complete investigation into the circumstances surrounding the Easter Sunday cave-in that trapped the men.

Dwyer said the old mine, unworked for 25 years, was flooded for several years and was in a dangerous condition before Robertson, Scadding and Magill entered it on a tour of inspection. Dwyer said the men had been warned repeatedly that the mine was not safe.

The mines minister revealed, incidentally, that since the rescue was effected early yesterday the emergency shaft through which the men were brought to the surface had sunk almost a foot. He predicted the shaft would collapse completely within three days, virtually banishing all hope that mining operations can ever be resumed there.

Late yesterday officials at the mine had to board up the entrance to the treacherous shaft to prevent souvenir hunters from entering it and imperiling their lives. Hundreds of visitors who descended on Moose River took as souvenirs almost everything they could lay their hands on.

Magill's body was brought here from Moose River by hearse late yesterday. The young lawyer's widow accompanied the body and will take it to her home in Toronto today for burial.

A few months ago he and Robertson purchased the abandoned mine, which was once reputed to have yielded $400,000.

LIFE SENTENCE FOR SKIDMORE

and the green fields you love to roam."

Then Skidmore, an expert woodsman and a crack shot with a gun, bowed his head. The muscles in his jaws stood out convulsively.

When Skidmore escaped from the mountain posse, he left three members wounded. William Fox, 32, an air mail beacon custodian, died of his wounds.

Skidmore then fled to Idaho where he set himself up as a rancher, ran for office against the sheriff. He was captured last month by the same sheriff after a farmer saw Skidmore's picture in a detective magazine and tipped off the police.

Things even up. The more children he has to support, the less tax he pays to support the school.

Hitler Declares First Amnesty

Amnesty Will Free Several Hundred "Minor Political Malcontents"

(International News Service)

BERLIN, April 24.—Germany's famed concentration camps for political offenders will be nearly emptied under terms of Chancellor Adolf Hitler's first amnesty since the death of President Von Hindenburg in 1934, it was announced today.

The amnesty, it was stated, will free hundreds of "minor political malcontents". It will be aimed particularly at scores of Nazis who violated the law in the name of the party and were placed in concentration camps for discipline.

The amnesty will embrace the following three categories:

1—Pardons for Nazis who were "overzealous in action on behalf of national socialism", and violated the law.

2—Pardons for political grumblers and gossipers who were sentenced to not more than six months.

3—Pardons for petty offenders sentenced to not more than one month in jail.

Concerted Drive Is Planned For Flood Control

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, April 24.—A flood control council, dedicated to demand immediate governmental action, emerged today from a meeting of representatives from 15 river-bordering communities in the Susquehanna-Juniata basin.

Uniting to force steps which will prevent repetition of the recent March floods which wrought $35,000,000 in damages and untold human suffering in the district, the council telegraphed Senators Joseph F. Guffey and James J. Davis to urge passage of the Wilson-Copeland flood control bill. The council also decided to ask Gov. George H. Earle to include proper flood control measures in the special session of the legislature convening May 4.

Concerted Drive

With a future meeting planned, the council indicated it will seek two representatives from each county in the basin and one representative from each key community to organize for a concerted drive.

Urging no delay to permit dilatory measures in congress, Tom R. Hutton, managing editor of the Binghamton, N. Y. Press, told the meeting:

"This is the first time the industrial centers of the east have asked for one cent for such purposes . . . you must join in a united front with other northeastern states."

Hutton, chairman of the legislative committee of the Central-Southern New York Flood Control Council, declared that "protection is not enough," and that long range, but immediate planning was necessary.

Monessen Put On Defensive Today In School Case

(International News Service)

GREENSBURG, Pa., April 24.—The city of Monessen was put on the defensive today in its battle to keep the school conducted by Ira Bird for children of Jehovah's witnesses closed.

The school was closed by Mayor Gold because religious beliefs prohibit members from saluting the American flag. Today the sect went to court and obtained an order calling upon the mayor to show cause within ten days why an injunction should not be issued against his closing decree.

Three judges heard the plea, made by attorneys for the "witnesses." The lawyers urged haste, so the children would not lose any more time from school.

Judge Charles D. Copeland observed: "If they don't want to salute the flag, they are not entitled to anything but a rule."

It seems to be a rule. The queerer he is, the stronger his conviction that he is a typical American.

He Who Laughs Last Has Best Laugh Of All

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 24. — The laugh was on the police yesterday but today it appeared the laugh would be on three 16-year-old West End youths.

A half dozen police yesterday spent a merry but fruitless afternoon with picks and shovels when the boys confessed to a series of robberies and said they had buried the loot. Later it was found that some of the places supposedly looted were vacant lots.

Today the lads don't think it's so funny. They were in the city jail awaiting hearing in morals court.

Italy is lucky in one way. She is going broke while her war is in progress and thus getting all of her suffering done at once.

FIELD CLUB BRIDGE PARTIES ARE RESUMED

Following a period of Easter observances, the usual bi-weekly bridge parties were again resumed Thursday evening at the New Castle Field club when members and guests gathered for a session of card playing. Mr. and Mrs. K. C. Steele presided as hosts over the occasion, which was well attended.

Bridge held sway with handsome prizes being captured by Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Kariher, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Green and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Long. At this gathering, special recognition awards for card honors, were given to Mrs. S. E. Patterson and A. B. Street. In two weeks, another evening bridge will be featured at the club, the hosts to be announced.

Of further interest to the women members is the dessert-bridge to take place in their social rooms with Mrs. James Stone, hostess. The series of afternoon parties were temporarily discontinued until after the holiday festivities, which will be held regularly beginning the coming week.

MRS. McGOUN RECEIVES HIGHLAND BOOK CLUB

In the East Lincoln avenue residence of Mrs. H. D. McGoun, Thursday afternoon, members of the Highland Book club were entertained.

After the usual book exchange, bridge provided a pleasant hour or two, and refreshments were served. Mrs. H. C. Harper will have the next meeting in four weeks, in her home on Wallace avenue.

KATHRYN HITE TO WED CAPTAIN SMITH

Leo P. Hite, of 215 Park avenue, announces the engagement of his daughter Kathryn A., to Captain A. A. Smith, of Lock Haven, Pa. The wedding will take place in June.

Bridge '35 Club

An evening of cards was enjoyed by Bridge '35 members Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Perry Rodgers on West State street. At the close of play, Mrs. Robert Dailey and Mrs. Oliver Smith were each awarded a prize for holding honor scores.

Refreshments were served in the dining room by candle light, the hostess being aided by her mother, Mrs. C. Boal. Dainty appointments prevailed.

Thursday, May 7, Mrs. Louis Gunton of Edgewood avenue, will entertain.

LES BRIDGEURS CLUB EVENT HONORS BRIDE

Les Bridgeurs club members were entertained at a popular travern in New Wilmington, Thursday evening, as the guest of Mrs. Catherine VanDyke. While the affair marked their usual social event, it also honored one of their number, Mrs. George W. Wright, nee Gertrude Wolf, a bride of recent date.

Bridge claimed attention, prizes were awarded to Mrs. George E. Wright, Mrs. A. H. Klingensmith and Mrs. Elmer Reiber. Before the serving of a dainty menu by candle light, the group presented Mrs. Wright with a lovely gift. Appointments were in keeping with the season, and the dining table was cleverly arranged with individual favors at each place.

Mrs. Charles H. Whalen will entertain at her home on North Jefferson street, Thursday, May 7.

NAOMI CIRCLE TEA AT HIGHLAND CHURCH

An event of next Teusday afternoon, April 28, is a meeting of the newly reorganized Naomi Circle of Highland U. P. church in the church parlors at 2:30 in the afternoon.

In connection with the meeting there will be a shower for the kitchen with each member bringing tea towels or tablespoons. A musical program will feature.

Naomi officers and unit chairmen will sponsor the affair, these including: Mrs. R. R. McGeorge, president; Mrs. H. A. Wilkison, first vice president; Mrs. Lee Pyle, second vice; Mrs. T. I. Elliott, secretary; Mrs. Thomas Lindsey, treasurer; Mrs. Herbert Christman, chairman Unit 1; Mrs. Merle Ingham, Unit 2; Mrs. H. R. McCulloch, Unit 3; Mrs. Charles Streib, Unit 4.

S. H. Bridge Club

Mrs. C. H. Conzett of Bell avenue, received a coterie of friends Thursday evening, the group comprising members of the S. H. Bridge club. The popular pastime was in play at two tables with the awards going to Mrs. Charles Charlebois and Mrs. C. W. Carman.

The small tables were reset for luncheon and centered with spring flowers. Mrs. Robert Park assisted. For the meeting in two weeks, Mrs. Robert Park will be hostess at her home on Chestnut street.

Yucatan Club

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. White will entertain the Yucatan club Monday evening at 8 o'clock, in their home on Hazlecroft avenue.

PARLEY-VOUS GUESTS AT EVENING PARTY

The annual April party was held by members of the Parley-Vous club Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. O. J. Davies, Martin street. The affair carried out the Easter motif, and the drawing of gifts from the traditional "Holiday Gift Box" proved one of the enjoyable features. In addition to this, attention was given to card playing and various contests, the program being in charge of Mrs. Robert Slack. Prizes fell to Mrs. Carl Wright, Mrs. Ella Howard, who was a special guest, and Mrs. O. J. Davies.

Refreshments were served at a table nicely appointed in seasonal tones, a bouquet of Jonquils forming the attractive centerpiece. Following, they planned their next assemblage for May 29 with Mrs. Jack Dunlap on Court street, hostess. Mrs. W. S. Caskey was appointed chairman of the program for this date.

TWO HUNDRED ATTEND TEA THURSDAY NIGHT

Two hundred guests attended a beautifully arranged "calendar tea" in the Central Presbyterian church Thursday night. The affair was sponsored by the S. of D. Missionary Society and proved to be an outstanding success.

With Dr. C. B. Wingerd, pastor of the church, serving as the announcer, a splendid entertainment was presented. Those taking part were Catherine Ann Johnson, Dorothy Barnsley, Mrs. Josephine Hoover, Joe Moore, Mrs. Anna Pedan, Mrs. Charles B. Wingerd, Donna Jean and Doris Murphy, Mrs. Lawton, Miss Eppinger, Alice Jean Young, Joanne McCollum, Shirley and Betty Jean Coryea, Alene and Elsie Proctor.

Tables represented the months of the year and the entertainment accentuated the same idea.

Tea was served at the close.

Mrs. Herman Decker was general chairman of the affair, assisted by a group of able helpers.

S. M. F. Club Meeting

Thursday evening, Harriett Schmid on Hillcrest avenue, entertained associates of the S. M. F. club informally at their usual bi-weekly social event. A short business period was conducted, when plans for a theatre party on April 30 were completed, and also, a discussion was heard on a roller skating affair to take place soon, the details to be announced.

Cards filled in the balance of the evening, as well as dancing and music. Miss Nedra Sergeant captured the honor score prize in bridge. At a late hour the hostess served a dainty repast at a table decorated in tones of green and white. Miss Dorothy Cooper assisted with the menu.

On Thursday, May 7, Mary Gretta Jackson will entertain at her residence on Morton street.

W. M. O. Club

A most enjoyable meeting of Wednesday evening, was that of the W. N. O. club members, at the home of Margaret Cameron, West Pittsburg road. Sewing, music and conversation filled in the time, and a hankie shower was tendered Mrs. Rhoda Dugan and the hostess, in observance of their birthday anniversaries.

Lunch was served at a suitable hour by Miss Cameron, with her mother assisting. Rose and blue appointments were used throughout in the table decorations. The coming week, members will meet with Mrs. Marion Pittaway on Mulberry street.

O. G. Club

As guests of Mrs. Georgana Walsh, of Neshannock avenue, Thursday evening, O. G. club members were entertained with several rounds of 500. Trophies fell to Mrs. Helen McKinley and Mrs. Sally Measels. Mrs. Kenneth Clark was a visitor.

At a suitable time, a dainty refection was served with the aid of Mrs. Leona Cox and Mrs. Helen Brickner. Mrs. Mary Homm extended an invitation for the May 7 meeting, in her home on West Washington street.

Re-Delta Deck

Re-Delta Deck club members, will be entertained Wednesday evening, April 29, at a downtown tea room.

Celebrate Golden Wedding At Church

Central Christian church was the mecca for an outstanding celebration Thursday, when Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Richards, who reside at 325 South Alvaradox street, Los Angeles, Cal., formerly of this city, observed 50 years of happy married life. The honored couple made the journey to New Castle expressly to observe this occasion, and to make new contacts with their hosts of friends and acquaintances.

At 12 o'clock noon a family dinner was served in the church dining room, which was appropriately decorated. Two large tiered wedding cakes, carrying out the gold and white theme, adorned the tables, with places marked for 15.

During the afternoon from 2 until 5 o'clock, an informal reception was held, and in the evening guests were greeted from 7 until 9 o'clock by Mr. and Mrs. Richards. A buffet lunch was served thorughout the social periods, with the register book indicating approximately 250 parcipitating.

A special feature of the evening was the second wedding ceremony for the guests of honor, with Rev. T. B. Shearer, new pastor of the Central Christian church, officiating, assisted by the Rev. Charles Johnstone, former pastor.

The bride was attired in a lovely gown of lilac crepe, with shoulder corsage of sweetpeas and rose buds. Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Bowman of this city were the attendants, the latter being attired in white crepe with a shoulder bouquet similar to the bride's.

Mrs. Charles Morrow of Wampum contributed two vocal selections, "I Love You Truly" by Carrie Jacobs Bond, and "O Promise Me". Mrs. Carl Turner played appropriate music, including the Bridal Chorus from "Lohengrin" and the Wedding March from "Mid-Summer Night's Dream" by Mendelsschn.

Mr. and Mrs. Richards, who were first wed in the First Congregational church at South Wales 50 years ago, took up their residence on Reynolds street, New Castle, upon coming to this country, and resided there for some 35 years or more, when Mr. Richards was affiliated with the American Sheet & Tin Plate company. They left this vicinity eight years ago for the west coast, when he retired, settling in Los Angeles.

Beautiful floral gifts, which added to the decorative church setting, were received by Mr. and Mrs. Richards, as well as numerous cards and telegrams conveying congratulations from those unable to be present, adding further to the joys of the day. Among these were letters from Mr. and Mrs. Griff Davis and Miss Stewart of Los Angeles, Cal., former New Castle residents, and others living at great distances.

This seems to be a year for celebrations in the Richards family. Another event that is creating wide interest is the birthday party which will be held in South Wales on May 17, honoring the 102nd birthday of Mrs. Richards' mother, Mrs. Gwendolyn Thomas. She was paid great tribute last year when she reached the age of 101, which included messages from the nobility of Wales.

Mr. and Mrs. Richards will remain in this vicinity during the summer months, spending some time with their six children, Mrs. Charles Henry and Trevor Richards of South Mill street, Mrs. Phillip Wink and Theodore Richards of Liberty street, and later will visit with Stanley Richards and Thomas Richards, their sons, who reside in Chicago, Ill. There are 11 grandchildren in the connection.

LUNCHEON-PROGRAM LADIES ASSOCIATION

Ladies Association of the First U. P. church held the April meeting Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Roy M. Jamison of Sheridan avenue, with her mother, Mrs. Jessie E. Edgar, Mrs. Harvey Robinson and Mrs. H. C. Mitchell assisting hostesses.

Luncheon at one o'clock was the first procedure, after which the business session was held with the president, Mrs. Fred E. Sontum presiding. Reports were given by Mrs. Charles Wallace and Mrs. Harvey Robinson of the presbyterial, which was held in the Second U. P. church.

The program in charge of Mrs. John Ingham, had for its theme, "Egypt," with interesting phases being discussed by Miss Minnie Sterling, Mrs. Walter Patterson and Mrs. Edwin McBride.

For the May meeting, on the third Thursday, the home of Miss Minnie Sterling, on Shaw street, has been selected.

QUEEN ESTHER CLASS NAMES COMMITTEES

Queen Esther Class members of Third United Presbyterian church, have plans completed for their annual "Homecoming" which will be fittingly observed Sunday morning, during their Sunday school period, in the Loyal Band class room.

Mrs. Chester T. R. Yeates, wife of the pastor, will be guest speaker on the occasion and the reception committee is composed of Mrs. Emerson Flansburg and Mrs. Wilbur McKibben. The program committee includes Mrs. Floyd Kelley, Mrs. Ralph Sacripant and Rose Sacripant.

Guests will be in attendance from Indiana, Youngstown, O., Ellwood City and other vicinities, as well as here. All former and present members will be welcomed.

Council Women At Ellwood

New Castle Section National Council of Jewish Women was represented by a group of several members at a meeting of the Ellwood City Section Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Harry Caplan, president of that group, at which Miss Anna Kaufmann, of New York City, was the guest speaker.

In the neighborhood of 40 guests were present, some coming from Sharon, Butler and Beaver Falls, as well as New Castle. Following Miss Kaufmann's talk which was brilliant and instructive, tea was served from a beautifully decorated table centered with spring flowers.

Birthday Honored

Members of the S. C club met at a downdown tea room one evening this week to honor the birthday of Mrs. Isabelle Ralston. Places were marked with individual corsages which were most attractive favors.

Dinner was served at 7 o'clock, after which a shower of dainty handkerchiefs was presented the guest of honor. A theatre party featured in the evening.

The next meeting will take place on April 28, at the home of Mrs. Ralston, on North Liberty St.

Jolly Eight Club

Members of the Jolly Eight club gathered in the home of Mrs. Glenn Montgomery, East Grant street, for the regular weekly session, Wednesday evening.

Cards featured with two tables of 500 in play. High honor awards fell to Mrs. Sadie Duncan, Mrs. Willis Campbell and Mrs. Glenn Montgomery. Refreshments of a dainty nature were served by the hostess.

On Wednesday, April 29, Mrs. Earl Dean, West Grant street, will be hostess to the group.

W. T. D. Class Party

The dining room of the First Baptist church was the scene of a most delightful event Thursday evening, when members of the W. T. D. Class assembled for an informal party.

Singing and a discussion of numerous topics of the day formed the popular pastimes of the evening. At an appropriate time, dainty refreshments were served by Mrs. William Elmore assisted by Miss Pauline Starke.

LUNCHEON GUESTS OF MRS. TOEPFER

Luncheon at 1:30 Thursday, with Mrs. E. F. Toepfer of Hazelcroft avenue, hostess, was a distinct pleasure for 14 members of the Mahoning Book club and one visitor, Miss Rebecca Bowden, who assisted.

The business session afterwards was followed by the customary exchange of popular books and an informal discussion of current topics. Mrs. Frank Wallace invited the group to her home on Madison avenue on May 7.

ASSAILS COLLEGE ATHLETIC SPECTACLES

DR. CHARLES J. TURCK president of Centre college, told a group of educators the other day that the worst thing that ever happened to his school was the famous victory of the "Praying Colonels" over Harvard's football team in 1921.

"That victory upset the whole town's judgment of college values," the educator pointed out, adding that only 32 of the 134 freshmen attracted to the college after the great victory remained to be graduated four years later.

And so, urges Dr. Turck, we ought to get rid of this "octopus and let commercial agencies of the sporting world provide for the public these gladiatorial shows."

Looking back at the swift decline of that 1922 freshman class, it's easy to see why he feels that way. It's about time our colleges distinguished between athletic spectacles and the real purpose of an educational institution.

SLOW PROGRESS

At the national conference of chemists last week in Kansas City it was disclosed that the step from silk worm to machine was 4,000 years in the making. It was that long before scientists thought of taking the same natural elements the silk worm uses and producing a more uniform thread than the worm produces.

It reminds how slowly the clock of progress moves. Think of the ages which must have passed before it was discovered that articles could be moved on rolling logs more easily than on a drag, and later that a section of log could be made into a wheel. It required thousands of years for man to perfect a hook upon which he could catch fish and other thousands to add the barb which held the fish once they were caught. The royal table of Queen Elizabeth was not equipped with forks. Until our own time no fault was found with the common drinking cup. Every school had one, there was one in every railway coach. All through history and before, a common drinking vessel was customary and the pestilences were traced to other causes.

YOUR MAILMAN

The very foundation stone of the nation's vast network of postal service is the least considered, as a rule, when stories are heard about the post office department.

One hears much about the bland, bald James J. Farley, postmaster general; about the airmail; about prospective trans-oceanic service; about departmental "surpluses" (attained by slick book-keeping); about post office buildings, new and old, and about community postmasters themselves.

But amid all the furore, little or nothing is said about the man who has made and is making all these things possible—your mailman.

But there he is, on the job unfailingly, getting your mail to your door no matter what interferes. He's the very core of the entire system, that mailman.

Alexandria, Va., has a mailman who is about to retire after walking eight times around the world (figuratively speaking, of course) and carrying 172 tons of mail during his 46 years' service. He has delivered something like 12,000,000 letters to two generations of citizens and has worn out 23 mail pouches in the doing of it.

New Castle, too, has had several veteran mail-carriers retire under the law in the last few years—men who for many, many moons were familiar figures about our streets and who delivered tons and tons of mail to local residents while walking thousands of miles doing their daily stint.

Yes, the mail must go through—and the mailman is the fellow who sees to it. Give him a hand. He deserves it.

MOCKING JUSTICE BREEDS CRIME

The solution of the brutal Titterton murder in New York brings well-deserved credit to the police of that city for their persistent and painstaking efforts in making the one tangible clue, a 13-inch strand of twine, the key to unlock a baffling mystery. Once they had established that the hemp was of a kind used by upholsterers, pinning the crime upon the upholsterer's assistant was the next problem logically presented—and it was solved.

But there is more to this crime than its fiction-like denouncement. There is the abuse of law and justice that permits such a man, an ex-convict and parole-breaker with known criminal tendencies, to be at liberty to prey upon society.

This self-confessed murderer had been arrested four times. Arrested for automobile theft, he was permitted to plead guilty to a lesser charge—what the underworld knows as "copping a plea"—and was freed on suspended sentence. Arrested again for burglary, he was permitted again to soften the penalty by a plea and sentenced to 2½ years in prison. He was freed on parole in one year. Arrested again while out on parole for theft of an automobile, he was again permitted to plead guilty to a lesser charge and returned to prison, only to be freed again in eight months. He was immediately arrested for theft and promptly freed on probation.

The recital of his police record shows how this man was repeatedly able to gain his freedom by three methods—suspended sentence, parole and probation. The crime to which he has confessed cries aloud for restraining action to halt this three-pronged mockery of justice that looses this man and countless criminals like him upon our streets—waiting the chance for their next atrocity.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

No danger of dividing the wealth. Those who hope to get rich outnumber those who have given up.

Another good way to distribute the wealth of the prosperous is to get them excited about a bull market.

In rural sections, the great aids to virtue are contact with nature, simple living and watchful neighbors.

Living sensibly and eating carefully must not be good for you. The only people who do it are sick ones.

About Newspaper Men.
Connolly, Mead, Others.
Some Ethiopian Manners.
Supreme Is A Big Word.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

NEWSPAPER OWNERS, editors and publishers from all over, are gathered in New York, talking shop and other things. They ought all to see the exhibit of King Features and the other syndicates that Joseph V. Connolly has arranged at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

Merchants as well as publishers might profitably visit that exhibition for ideas on advertising presentation.

Intensely interesting is a huge photograph of John D. Rockefeller, with the caption "Life Begins at 95." Older newspaper men will see in that intelligent face, close to 100, proof that hard work does not kill—if you eliminate some other things.

MR. CONNOLLY may be said to have a "wide newspaper acquaintance," for newspaper features that he supplies are published in thousands of American newspapers and in seven hundred foreign newspapers published in fifty-three countries and twenty-seven, including Iraq, languages.

ABOUT TWENTY editors and publishers had luncheon with Mr. Connolly Wednesday, able men, each a public watchman in his corner of the United States, among them T. J. Dillon, of the Minneapolis Tribune; Ben Lawrence, of the Indianapolis Star; George Longan, of the Kansas City Star.

Longan and his associate owners of the Star have proved that a group of newspaper men, that have worked together for thirty years, can run a newspaper successfully, under joint ownership.

THERE WAS John Mead, of the Erie (Pa.) Times, who looks all of 53, and is actually 74 years old. He would interest modern young men looking for a career, ready made.

He started his nawspaper with twenty-five dollars, total capital, fifty years ago, and, Irish, by the way, Mead fought poverty for twenty years, enjoyed that and conquered. Since then he has successfully fought prosperity, sometimes harder to conquer than poverty.

Newspaper men have interesting lives because they are always subject to the "initiative, referendum and recall." Nobody is compelled to buy their newspapers, although Connolly thinks his features make it almost compulsory.

SOME ETHIOPIAN tribes under Haile Selassie are reported in revolt, the Emperor turning the command over to his son, the Crown Prince Asfa Wosan.

It would enlighten Englishmen and others, moaning about the use of poison gas by Italians, if the moaners could see the evidence of Ethiopian brutality that Italy has sent to the League of Nations. It is not Italian evidence; that of impartial, non-Italian observers.

Many Italian non-combatants, working on roads, surprised and seized by Haile Selassie's men, were so horribly multilated that the brutality could not be described, much less could the actual photographs be printed. The League has seen them.

ONE ITALIAN tank was captured by Ethiopians with four men; the heads of two impaled on bayonets,

NIGHT WALK

CAN'T STAY inside on a night like this. . . . Must go out and take a walk. . . . Don't feel a bit sleepy, even if it is late. This night's too precious to waste in snoozing. Even a sleepy head must go out and see the moon and hear the night birds and feel the cool wind blowing against his face.

Just half a moon up there in the clouds. . . . Not bright enough to flood out all the stars, just right. When it's full you lose all the stars and that's a pity because stars always stir the heart to mystery and wonder. Even a cynic can't look at the stars without being impressed and even humbled a little. Even astronomers, who know so much more about them than we do, don't lose that natural primitive feeling about them. . . . Let's walk.

Blossoms are all gone from the trees along the street. Leaves are out and each tree has a black and friendly shadow. . . . A bird in that tree sings intermittently. His song isn't exactly lovely, but it's nice to hear a bird singing in the night. . . . Here comes a little white dog, wagging his tail, sniffing. I know you, you rascal, you're the fellow that barks so loud when I'm trying to sleep. Don't bark at me—I'm a friend. Most of the houses are dark. People gone to sleep. . . . There's a room where the light was just switched off. Windows are all up. They can hear my footsteps on the walk. . . . A student is studying up there in that attic room. . . . They're having a party in this big house. All lights on, cars out in front—they'll make a noise when they say good night.

Here comes a couple, youth and maiden, walking our way, close together, arm in arm. . . . Don't bark at them, Dog, they're friendly. . . . Nice old couple live here. They go to bed early, get up early, work in their garden. . . . Somebody's sick in the next house. We saw a doctor going in yesterday. Knew him by his little black bag and the caduceus on his car. . . . Well, here we are home again, Doggie. Good night and behave yourself. Don't do any barking. . . . People want to sleep. . . . We had a good walk, didn't we?

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 6:47. Sun rises tomorrow 5:08.

They're talking of making a shrine out of the old covered bridge at Edenburg. Not a bad idea. It would be a mighty good place to hold a picnic on a rainy day. The cartways could be used for race tracks, and the sidewalk for the bleachers. If that old bridge could talk, we've a suspicion that it could tell some tall stories. Lots of things have happened in the old covered bridge.

Those news stories about Haile Selassie having a close shave when Italians attacked his army command can't be true. The King of Kings still has that awful beard.

ALAS, TOO TRUE

The following epitaph on a spinster's grave in New England tells a complete but sad story:

Here lies Ann Man.
She lived an Old Maid,
But died an Old Man.

The world moves on, but judging from the news received from Europe recently, it appears to be going down hill.

Many of the dairymen of Lawrence county are equipping their stables with milking machines. It won't be long until the modest milkmaid, with her three-legged stool, gingham apron and sun-bonnet will be a thing of the past. Modern invention seems to be driving out the memories of yesterday. Anyway, we've a notion the cows won't be sorry, especially the ones that have been man-milked. We've seen some male milkers who didn't give a hang how bad they hurt a cow's feelings.

Still, the murderer merely does what every angry person tries to do when he strikes a blow.

How can we defeat swindlers? Well, when fish quit grabbing free worms, men will quit offering worms on hooks.

Of late the bandits seem to have a preference for state liquor stores. They know that the state stores do a cash business, and they get a pretty good idea of the amount, by reports from the state liquor control board. The board seems to think that the more money they take in the greater the prosperity. It might also bring a little prosperity if this same money were spent for food and clothing.

CAUTION!

Answering the telephone in the fire station, a fireman heard a woman's timid voice. "Is this the fire station?" she asked.

"Yes, that's right," replied the fireman, eagerly.

"Well," continued the voice, "I have just had a new rock garden built, and I've put in some new plants, but—"

"Where's the fire?" the fireman almost shouted.

"Some of these new plants are very expensive, and—" the voice went on.

"Look here," the fireman broke in, "what you want is a flower shop."

"No, I don't," said the voice. " I was coming to that in a minute. My neighbor's house is on fire, and I don't want you clumsy firemen stomping over my garden when you come here."

There's nothing ike the modern apartment to bring families closer together.

Republican and Democratic leaders are turning their attention to the so-called keynoters, who are to furnish the fireworks at the opening of the big national conventions in Cleveland and Philadelphia. A keynoter don't need a fog horn voice anymore, since the modern amplifier gives a mild voice as much power as a jazz. If the keynoter knows how to appeal to the prejudices of his voters he is all set.

American sports teach us unselfishness, says a noted educator. Oh, yeah! We have still to see an ardent athlete who didn't want to win.

When a proud father tells you how welcome the new baby is, you do not know whether he is thinking of additional income tax exemption, or additional federal relief.

Never laugh at a man because he may wear a little feather in his hat. Remember, Napoleon wore ice cream colored pants and that was real lace that dangled from the sleeves of George Washington's best coat.

If cruel punishment is illegal, why do they postpone a hanging and make the victim endure the agony of anticipation again?

It may be wrong to punish a child, but how can a child be good without it when grown-ups can't?

When a man teaches school, it's a career. When a girl does it, she's killing time till she finds the right man.

OR SUMPIN'

An East Side man says that he saw this sign on the bulletin board of a nearby country church recently:

"The quarterly meetings of the deacons will henceforth be held every six weeks instead of semi-annually, as formerly."

You can't blame a man-hater. You'd be mad, too, if you were yearning to be petted and nobody ever tried it.

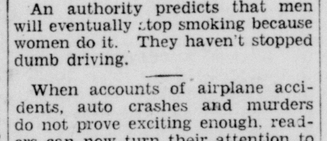

An authority predicts that men will eventually stop smoking because women do it. They haven't stopped dumb driving.

When accounts of airplane accidents, auto crashes and murders do not prove exciting enough, readers can now turn their attention to the political advertisements. The campaign seems to be warming up hereabouts and there is no telling what may be sprung before the primary election.

It may be that "somewhere the sun is shining", but it hasn't been doing a very good job around here so far during the month of April. Of courst, there is an old saying that there is a silver lining to every cloud, but the trouble seems to be that the most of us are on the wrong side of the cloud.

Crown Prince Michael, of Rumania, is learning to be a javelin thrower. But he'll never equal the prowess of his dad, King Carol, who once tossed a throne away.

Some boys with a flashlight were seen combing the big lawn of the old Phillips homestead on Grant street the other night. One boy manipulated the flashlight while the other carried a can. In our youthful days they didn't have flashlights and when we wanted bait we had to dig for it. Pretty soft for the youngsters nowadays but we'll wager we used to catch more fish.

All of us endure wrongs, most of which would be unknown if we didn't read the papers.

A gossip's tongue is the only sharp-edged tool which does not dull with constant usage. If anything, it become sharper.

State offices at Harrisburg are to be closed while the spring primaries are being held. Some of the overworked clerks in the different departments live in the backwoods and it is necessary for them to have a day off to indulge in the great exercise of casting their ballots. Aside from the exercise, there's a reason.

IT FOOLED HIM

"I turned the way I signalled," said the lady indignantly, after the crash.

"I know it," retorted the man. "That's what fooled me."

Etiquette Hint: Always light your companion's cigaret before you do your own. In that way, he, and not you, will inhale the obnoxious sulphur fumes.

Colorado believes that the way to keep up wages is to keep cheap labor out of the state. The whole southern boundary is now being paroled, and the hordes who usually swarm up from Mexico and other points south, are now being turned back. That's one way of solving the labor problem.

Stories that end wrong are called "realism." A two-headed calf is real, too, but would you call it true to life?

Never boast before your children that they resemble you. It may give them an incurable inferiority complex.

But a stranger in a car can't make insulting advances to a nice girl who stays on the sidewalk while saying no.

Good Taste

By FRANCINE MARKEL

By FRANCINE MARKEL

DEAR Miss Markel: I am monogramming some linens and would like to know where to place the initials on napkins, sheets and bed spreads.—C. P.

Answer: The monograms on your napkins should be placed so that they will show when the napkins are folded—either in the upper center or on one of the ends, depending on their size and the folding.

On sheets, they should be put along the top that they will show when the sheets are turned over the blankets after the beds are made.

If the monogram is elaborate, it may be placed in the center of the bedspread as a centerpiece. Or you may place it on the middle of the top section, which will cover the bolster when the bed is made.

Dear Miss Markel: At a home wedding, during which the bride will wear a veil, should the maid-of-honor wear a hat? Are ushers absolutely necessary? Should the bride loosen her bouquet before throwing it over the stairs?—M. A.

Answer: To complete her costume, the maid-of-honor should wear a head covering, which may be flowers (now very fashionable) or a hat.

You need have no ushers at a home wedding.

Throw your bouquet intact—for whoever catches it, according to legend, will be the next bride.

Republicans Split On One Plank.
Tariff Issue Bothersome.
Democrats Unfortunate Also.

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

UPON ONE PLANK, at least, the Republicans will be a house divided against itself. The leading financiers of New York no longer are for an "isolationist" tariff. Those financiers speak through men like Ogden Mills, Representative James W. Wadsworth (mentioned as a vice presidential possibility) and Colonel Frank Knox.

Traditionally, the Republicans always have been for a "protective" tariff. Through the Republicans, manufacturers have obtained every bit of protection for which they have asked.

They asked for too much during the Hoover administration, and President Hoover signed a bill with increased duties only after considerable hesitancy. It was a fatal act Economists say it was one of the precipitating causes of the 1929 financial debacle.

Leading financiers have been saying for some time that unless the international economic stalemate is broken, there can be no sure recovery.

But the industries chiefly protected are not so sure of that. They are not up on such "un-Republican" economics.

There will be a behind-the-scenes fight in Cleveland on the tariff. Neither side is likely to obtain the kind of plank it desires.

* * *

MISLED?

The Democratic high command, led by Postmaster General James A. Farley, has been unfortunate in the local support it has given. Its side usually gets knocked out—to speak in Jim Farley's own prize fight parlance.

Farley chose the Kelly-Nash machine in Illinois over Governor Henry Horner, although presumably making no decision. Horner refused to be counted out; instead, he knocked out his opponent. Farley undoubtedly believed the Kelly-Nash machine was needed to carry Illinois for President Roosevelt. Farley now will have to go on his hands and knees to Governor Horner.

Two years previously, Farley picked conservative McKee to beat the independent New Dealish La Guardia to win the New York mayoralty election. La Guardia won—and many of his supporters had unpleasant things to say over the manner in which President Roosevelt opposed those who could give him the most aid.

Farley, of course, cannot understand that a single man, honest and independent, can lick a machine. The people pray for a strong courageous man. Farley was brought up in the politics of Tammany, which is as foul as politics come. He, himself, is far above it, a real general, with an honest faith in President Roosevelt's ideals. But he cannot forget his early environment and training. He never will learn that a David can defeat a Goliath.

* * *

A VITAL THOUGHT

One of the most outstanding New Dealers is a Republican. Dr. John G. Winant, chairman of the social security board, former governor of New Hampshire, is known internationally for his sociological views.

This recent remark of his may become a rallying cry:

"It is time that the old idea 'blind economic forces will forever take their cyclical toll of human misery' be wiped out, just as medical science wiped out the superstition that disease was a visitation of providence."

* * *

HIS OWN MASTER MIND

Who will be President Roosevelt's master mind in campaigning, now that his closest adviser on that score, Louis McHenry Howe, is dead? There will be no successor. The President will be his own master mind.

* * *

TARIFF BOUNTIES

Speaking of the tariff—there is little likelihood of much more being said on AAA payments, Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg's efforts to make much out of large AAA payments has not been met with answering echoes of applause from the Republicans.

There is a reason—or, rather, two reasons:

1. Good Republicans took the AAA payments without question.

2. Farm organizations threaten to "show up" benefits to corporations under the tariff bill.

For example, Representative Marvin Jones of Texas proposed a resolution calling upon the tariff commission to report the names of all corporations which benefit from the existing tariff to the extent of $100,000 a year or more.

That would make the AAA payments look picayunish. And quite a number of those corporations are within Senator Vandenberg's own state of Michigan.

THE POLITICAL FIND

The battle's beginning, from now on to fall
The hopefuls and doubtfuls start hitting the ball.
The people have muttered:
"Get sombody new!
Their fingers are buttered,
The old boys won't do!
Give us a show for the money you spend."
So out comes that stranger: the taxpayer's friend.

They've kept him in hiding; no one knows his name;
He sits on the bench in the regular game.
Most certain the fact is
They think he is queer.
It is only for practice
They let him appear
But now when the bases are loaded they send
The signal to warm up the taxpayers' friend.

The crowd in the bleachers will shriek with delight:
"Where did you find such a boy over-night?
Look at his wind up!
And notice his speed!
Hey! Get him signed up!
He's just what we need.
Now all our worries and troubles he'll end.
We'll cop the flag with the taxpayer's friend!"

He'll be the wonder from now until fall.
He'll do the pitching that baffles 'em all.
He'll brush the voters
Away from the plate
He'll dish up floaters
They'll hit at too late;
But in November this line will be penned;
"Back to the bush goes the taxpayers' friend!"

Today's Yesterday's—April 24, 1162—Temuchin, son of Yesukai Bahadur, was born near the northern bend of the Hoang-ho river, in Mongolia. He was only 13 when he ascended his father's throne and announced with youthful confidence his intention of conquering the entire world. He did in 20 years become master of all Asia and Eastern Europe, destroying—it is estimated—in his wars and expeditions at least 5,000,000 lives. History knows him by the name he gave himself, Gangis Khan ("greatest of kings").

April 24, 1704—John Campbell, Scotsman and postmaster of Boston, published the first issue of the first continuing newspaper in America, the Boston News-Letter. It was a single sheet, 12 by 8, containing excerpts from a royal speech to parliament and other London notes. It's newest news was 13 months old, and there was no news of Boston!

It's True—The first civil war in this country wasn't in 1861. There had been several previously, beginning in 1635, when Virginia and Maryland went to war against each other.

The first thing transmitted by Pelletier, wasn't a murderer, but a petty thief.

The first thign transmitted by telephone wasn't words, but a tune. The tune was used by Philip Reis, of Frankfurt, Germany, who gave the telephone its name, in demonstrating this system of communication in 1861—17 years before Bell gave his first demonstration.

David Hume wrote "Treatise on Human Nature" which T. H. Huxley and others have characterized as "under the circumstances, the most remarkable philosophical work, in its effect upon the course of human thought, ever written" before he was 25!

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

JUST ANOTHER

There are many stories, parlor and otherwise, concerning men and their stenographers, and here is another one:

There was a certain business man whose wife was unknown to the employees of his office. She had never appeared, but they knew he had a wife..

One day a strange woman appeared for Mr. Blank.

"I am very sorry," said the young lady at the desk, "but Mr. Blank went out and stated that he was having luncheon with his wife and I do not know when he will return."

"When he returns from luncheon with his stenographer," was the quiet reply of the enquirer, "tell him his wife called."

Yet if good people never tried to get something for nothing, swindlers would starve to death.

Mothers To Meet At Westminster

Annual Program To Be Enjoyed At New Wilmington Saturday

MRS. McGEORGE IS ONE OF SPEAKERS

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, April 24.—Over 200 mothers are expected to visit Westminster College Saturday for the annual Mother's Day program.

The day's festivities will open with Lois McGill, Ben Avon, playing the organ prelude for chapel, will be followed by a welcoming address, President R. F. Galbreath; greetings from the mothers by Mrs. Chauncey K. McGeorge, New Castle; response by Mary Jane Stevenson, Pittsburgh; music by the Westminster women's ensemble; greetings from mothers by Mrs. Susan M. Turner, Cambridge Springs, and response, Robert Grier, Pittsburgh.

Luncheon for mothers will be served at 12:30 in Browne Hall and Hillside. At 2 o'clock in the gymnasium, Jack Hulme, director of men's athletics, will present an athletic exhibition. Tea will be served in Browne Hall at 4 o'clock; dinner at 6; and two plays in the Little Theatre at 8:15 p. m.

"Such a Charming Young Man," by Zoe Aikens, and "The Wandering Scholar from Paradise" will be presented.

Woman Gymnast Queen To Retire

Mrs. Bonniwell Plans To Quit Following Olympics

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, April 24.—Mrs. Eugene C. Bonniwell, better known as Bobby Ranck in the gymnastic world over which she ruled as "America's Queen" for a number of years, plans to retire from competition after the Olympic in Berlin next summer.

"But right now I'm practicing hard in the gymn," said the graceful athlete as she demonstrated the "lever" while practicing on the horizontal bars. She is now the wife of a Philadelphia municipal court jurist.

"I want to make a clean sweep this year—and then give up competition."

Completing her practice, Mrs. Bonniwell hastened to explain that she will continue her work in the gym just "for the fun of it and the exercise."

The country's outstanding woman gymnast is a member of the Philadelphia Turngemeinde, a club which has often held the world's gymnastic title and which undoubtedly will furnish America with many members of the team that goes abroad.

were carried proudly at the head of Ethiopian troops. The other two were kept in prison, that the emperor, Haile Selassie, might have the satisfaction of seeing them upon his arrival. They were horribly beaten, while chained.

After Italy has seen the photographs of these tortured and mutilated men, it would be wise for Haile Selassie to keep out of the Italian government's hand, for a while, if possible.

Mussolini might do to him what the English thought they would do to the former Kaiser, until they remembered that he was a cousin of their own king and a hanging would not look well in the royal family records.

EULOGIZING CHANCELLOR HITLER, Air Minister Goering concludes his address:

"Heil, victory to the Fuehrer, and the supreme war lord."

"Supreme war lord" is a fine title, but it usually comes after supreme conquest.

Goering, who bestows the resonant title on Chancellor Hitler, would be advised by such old-fashioned men as Bismarck or Von Moltke to wait at least until after the first battle.

Many heavy cannon, airplane and bombs belonging to foreigners stand between Chancellor Hitler and that "supreme war lord" title.

SIMILAR things affect different men in different ways. In Honolulu, James Dodd, 29, told "you are fired," went to the airport, flew up 2,000 feet in his new monoplane, pointed it downward, killed himself in a power dive.

PAUL ARMSTRONG, wonderfully good sporting writer, told by his editor, "You are fired," replied:

"Much obliged, now I shall carry out my plan to write a play and get it on Broadway."

Within a year he had written "Alias Jimmy Valentine," and enjoyed its great success. Temporary failure is good for the right kind of a man; fatal to others.

HOWARD HUGHES, remarkable young pilot, combining the acquisition of flying records with the ability to earn money on a big scale, has just broken the record from Miami to New York, making more than 1,100 miles in 4 hours, 21 minutes, 32 seconds.

He climbed 13,750 feet as he flew out of Florida, and for a good part of the time flew five miles a minute. Four times that speed would take him around the world, at the equator, as fast as the sun seems to go around.

PROF. LEE R. DICE, of Michigan University, has a singing mouse that sings almost as well as a canary. He utters his pleasing, soothing note with a voice so feeble it cannot be heard at a distance of more than twenty-five feet.

One of Prof. Dice's associates, a biological expert, suggests giving to all politicians a blood transfusion from such a singing mouse in presidential years.

Renew Battle For Publicity On Income Tax

One Group Battles For Publicity On Both Salaries And Taxes

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 24.—Publicity of income tax returns and salaries was revived as an issue today as congress prepared for a protracted battle over the new $803,000,000 tax bill.

With one group demanding full publicity, efforts were to be made to write amendments into the measure requiring complete secrecy of tax returns.

Way Cleared

The way was cleared for the fight by action of the ways and means committee in rewriting provisions of the 1934 tax law into the new measure. The two provisions are:

1. Authority, now unused, given the president to make public all income tax returns.

2. Authority under which the treasury recently made public corporation salaries of $15,000 a year and over.

It was disclosed that the committee, in secret session, rejected, 9 to 4, a motion by Rep. Boehne (D) of Indiana, to repeal the publicity provision. The committee also rejected a motion by Rep. Treadway (R) of Massachusetts, to strike out the salary publicity provision from the new bill.

Would Be Opposed

While strong sentiment for income tax secrecy was disclosed in the committee, some members said that favorable action by the house would be blocked in the senate. Rep. Duncan (D) of Missouri, member of the committee, said:

"I think I am safe in saying that every Democrat on the committee would repeal income tax publicity provisions, but they realize that such action likely would be opposed in the senate."

Senator LaFollette (R) of Wisconsin, was reported to be planning to fight for an amendment for mandatory income tax publicity.

As the house swung into its second day of debate on the tax bill, the senate finance committee continued to hear treasury tax experts in secret session.

RHEUMATISM

Your pharmacist will tell you that the chances are that your rheumatism is caused or aggravated by excess uric acid. That being the case, he can also tell you that one swift and safe prescription is Allenru—often the terrible pain and agony are gone in 48 hours—ask any live druggist in America for 8 ounces prescription Allenru. Costs about 85 cents.

Plans Completed For Anniversary

Mabel Wilson Auxiliary Plans For Twentieth Anniversary On May 13

Members of the Mabel Wilson auxiliary met at the Eagles hall on Wednesday evening for their bi-weekly meeting.

Plans were nearly completed for their 20th anniversary which will be held on May 13. There will be a large class for initiation and grand lodge officers and assisting lodges will be present. Twenty delegates planned to attend a meeting of the Sharon lodge on Thursday.

A sunshine party followed the meeting in which an exchange of gifts was featured. A tempting lunch was served by the following committee: Mrs. J. S. Doone, Mrs. William Hofer and Mrs. Norman Grimm.

The next regular meeting will be on May 13.

RELIGIOUS EXERCISES

Saturday morning at 8 o'clock will mark the beginning of the forty hours devotions, at St. Margaret's church. Adoration hours will be maintained throughout Saturday, Sunday and Monday. The devotion will conclude Monday evening at 7:30. Visiting priests will be in attendance on the three days.

NEPHEW IS KILLED

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Rheinhart, of West Madison avenue, have returned home from Erie where they were called by the accidental death of their nephew, Walter F. Coleman, who was the victim of an automobile accident on April 14.

SPECIAL MEETING

A congregational meeting will be held in the Lyceum Hall, St. Margaret's church this evening at 8 o'clock, for the purpose of completing arrangements for a dinner.

Mrs. Walter Stone Honored At Shower

Mrs. Walter Stone, the former Gwendolyn Frew, was honored by a shower at the home of Miss Evelyn Marshall, North Cedar street, Thursday night.

Guests were members of the E. A. M. class of the Mahoningtown Presbyterian church. They were called by the hostess to the dining room, after the business meeting, where a shower of gifts for Mrs. Stone was concealed in a pink umbrella. A delicious lunch was served by Miss Marshall, assisted by her mother, and Miss Peggy Wallace.

Mrs. Stone, who was married just recently, received the hearty best wishes from the group of friends. It was a very delightful evening for everyone.

Gaston Park Is Being Improved

Many New Castle Residents Have Never Visited This Beauty Spot

(Contributed)

Many New Castle citizens have never visited Gaston Park, one of nature's loveliest beauty spots in this vicinity.

This park, under the care and supervision of Owen Fox, is being developed gradually to serve New Castle people as an ideal recreation and picnic center.

Here the National Youth Administration is carrying on one of the most interesting and valuable unit projects on the program. For many years the value of this program will be felt in the community for the lasting service it has been able to render.

Few people realize the task of making possible to the public such a pleasure spot as Gaston Park. Twenty-seven acres of ground compose the area of the park proper. Located as it is far from dangerous traffic and the city noise, nature has also equipped it ideally with much level land for game spots, such as a baseball and football field, tennis courts, and horse shoe courts.

The N. Y. A. boys are assisting in preparing for and constructing of tennis courts, building ovens for outdoor cooking, making covered rustic seats and picturesque bridges from lumber from the park itself, for the comfort and convenience of all visitors.

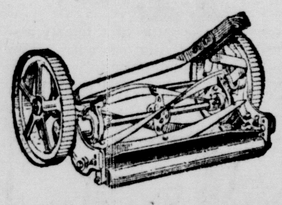

The wild life is encouraged and cared for by providing substantial and safe homes and feeding stations. This feeding is carefully and regularly done by Mr. Fox, himself, for the preservation of the life of the many and beautiful species of birds that make this park their home. The extra labor provided by N. Y. A. has assisted in making possible more homes and feeding stations for these birds.

In the wooded areas nature has made provision for man's comfort, much shade from the summer sun. Here are mighty oaks and all other species of trees found in this area. Besides, due to the interest and unusual knowledge of the forester in charge, we can find scattered through the park, trees which are uncommon here. Some have been brought from foreign lands, some are interesting because of some peculiar feature of their growth. The care and culture of the trees will provide important knowledge and valuable vocational training for all boys at the park. Many of the trees are virgin timber of immense size and unusual beauty.

There isn't much class consciousness in a land where the humblest can turn to the highest and say: "Gotta match?"

SPENDING AND PAYING

Editor News:
Dear Sir:—

It would seem that one generation can learn nothing from the experience of past generations. Back in the beginning of the last century, the country was seized with the craze for building canals. A large number of communities went heavily in debt for the purpose of constructing such canals. The investment proved a total loss, and the taxpayers were years paying the bonds issued for this purpose.

From 1860 to 1880 we had the same craze for railroad building. Instead of the people issuing bonds for millions, however, these bonds were issued for hundreds of millions. The result was the same. These bonds largely had to be paid from public revenue raised from general taxation on land and property of the people. Some communities are still paying on these old bonds.

Notwithstanding these experiences, the people are again authorizing the contracting of heavy indebtedness for the building of airports. This craze seems to have seized every community and there is no town in the country in which there is not agitation for the building of such airports. If we can learn anything from experience, it is clear that these expensive and extravagant airports will finally have to be paid from the taxes levied and collected from the citizens.

We now have a new craze, however, and that is the extravagant spending of the Federal government. While the canals call for millions of dollars in bonds, and the railroads hundreds of millions in bonds, the Federal government is now calling for billions of dollars yearly. Like the canals and the railroads, this indebtedness will ultimately have to be paid by the people, and at the rate the Federal government is spending, we are mortgaging our earnings, not only for the present generation, but for generations to come. Does this not create a serious menace to the stability of our government?

England for the last three years has balanced her budget, reduced her public indebtedness and largely for this reason is at present enjoying a period of prosperity, not equaled by any other country in the world.

May we not quote the wise saying of Dickens in David Copperfield, "Ten shillings income, nine shillings outgo, mean prosperity and happiness; ten shillings income, eleven shillings outgo, mean suffering, misery and want."

Would that the president write this quotation in every department building in Washington and make his army of bureaucrats practice this wise advice proven by the experience of untold generations.

NEW CASTLE CLEARING HOUSE ASSOCIATION

COLONIAL CLUB AT SCARAZZO RESIDENCE

Mrs. Alfonso Scarazzo, Hazelcroft avenue, dispensed delightful hospitality in her home on Thursday evening, when she received Colonial club members.

Cards, music, bingo and chat were the chief pastimes with Mrs. Charles Ross winning card, bingo and club tokens. At an appointed time, the hostess ushered her guests into the dining room where a most delicious luncheon was served. Miss Helen DiMatteo was a special guest.

In two weeks, Mrs. Anthony Spinelli, rear East Lutton street, will receive the club.

Honor Mike Covelli

Assembling in the Covelli residence, Atlantic avenue, Thursday evening, a group of 25 friends was in attendance at a most delightful party honoring the birthday anniversary of Mike Covelli.

Music and a discussion of popular topics of the day formed the pastimes. At an appropriate hour dainty refreshments were served. Those who assisted in serving were Mrs. Jack Killet, Mrs. Elisee Mrozek and Mrs. Mary Killet.

M. And M. Club

Mrs. Carl Payne was a charming hostess Thursday evening, to associates in the M. and M. club, and two special guests, Mrs. Paul Rinker and Mrs. B. W. McKissick.

Bingo afforded much pleasure, Mrs. Harry Hammond winning the award. Mrs. Paul Sitler assisted with a dainty lunch. On May 7, the next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. I. Fletcher, Beckford street.

Tally-Ho Club.

Tally-Ho club girls had a happily informal evening Thursday in the home of Sarah Owens on Ray street. Margaret Thomas and Janet Brown were visitors.

Mildred Layton won the pretty favor at the two-table game of bridge after which a dainty collation was served. Mrs. William Walker will be hostess for the next gathering in a fortnight at her home on North Liberty street.

West Side Club

West Side club members enjoyed the hospitality extended by Mrs. Patrick Thornton, Boyles avenue, Thursday, the occasion being of an informal nature.

Cards occupied the leisure hours, pretty favors falling to Mrs. C. E. Truschel, Mrs. Festus Flynn and Mrs. Richard Hanna. Refreshments were served afterwards by the hostess, wtih plans for thei next assembly to be completed.

M. O. A. Club

Sewing and chat followed by delicious refreshments formed an informal afternoon's pleasure for M. O. A. club associates on Thursday, in the home of Mrs. Faye Minick, on Hamilton street. Mrs. Genevieve Cameron was a special guest and Mrs. Nora Kimmel aided.

The next meeting will be as usual in two weeks, the hostess to be decided upon.

F. H. and C. Club.

A tasty tureen dinner at 6 o'clock followed an afternoon of quilting Thursday afternoon for F. H. and C. members in Clendenin hall. There were seven women present, one of them, Mrs. Blodwen Davis, inviting the group to her home on Knox avenue for the next meeting on Tuesday, May 5.

W. B. Y. Club

A meeting of the W. B. Y. club took place at the residence of Dorothy Krueger, Wednesday night. They decided upon blue and white as the club colors.

The next meeting will be at the home of Grace and Zada Wadlinger, Bluff street, on May 6.

ADVISED TO EAT BRAN FOR HER CONSTIPATION*

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Helps Miss Hanson

Read this enthusiastic, voluntary letter: "Just a line to let you know how much I appreciate Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. I was troubled with constipation.* I asked my doctor what to do. He said to eat bran.

"I tried other brands but they weren't so good, so I tried Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, and it is just wonderful. It makes delicious muffins, too."— Miss Agnes Hanson, 450 N. Cicero Ave., Chicago, Ill.

ALL-BRAN provides mild "bulk" —missing in the average meal. This delicious cereal also furnishes vitamin B and iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN absorbs moisture, and gently exercises and cleanses the system. It is often more effective than that found in fruits and vegetables, as it does not break down within the body. ALL-BRAN also supplies vitamin B and iron.

Isn't this natural food pleasanter than patent medicines? Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily. If not relieved, see your doctor.

Sold by all grocers. ALL-BRAN is much more effective than part-bran products. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

*Constipation due to insufficient "bulk" in meals.

CAPTAIN STOUDT GOING TO SHARON

Captain C. Leroy Stoudt, commander Pennsylvania department, Sons Union Veterans of the Civil War, who was here from Reading, Pa., this week, visited Friday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Clair Cook, at Lakewood.

Tonight Captain Stoudt will be in Sharon to address a joint meeting of Sharon Tent 23, D. U. V., and Camp Gulbert, S. U. V. Lodge members from Mercer and Grove City will attend this evening's meeting.

Clifford Miller Honored

Mr. and Mrs. William Miller, of Edgewood avenue, entertained a group of youngsters in their home Thursday afternoon from 4 until 6 o'clock, the occasion honoring the their son Clifford.

At 6 o'clock, the young folks were invited into the dining room where they partook of a delicious dinner menu. The table was beautifully appointed in tones of green and white, a large birthday cake topped with eleven burning candles, forming the centerpiece. Mrs. Miller was assisted by Mrs. Rose King.

The leisure period, was enlivened with games and contests, and during the procedure, Master Clifford was given a collection of nice gifts, as remembrances of the day.

O. F. B. Club

Mrs. Samuel Wilson entertained the O. F. B. club Thursday evening, very delightfully, in the home of her sister, Mrs. Roy Cummings on Ray street. Bingo furnished informal pleasure with favors awarded to Mrs. Wilbur Ruby and Mrs. Nelson McClusky. Mrs. Cummings helped with a tasty refection.

In three weeks, May 14, the next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Nelson McClusky, Highland avenue extension.

G. G. Club

MAHONINGTOWN RESERVES

A fine program was presented at Thursday afternoon's meeting of the Mahoningtown Girl Reserve club in the Mahoning school.

Devotions included two lovely songs by Erma Felix, "Fairest Lord Jesus," and "I Would Be True." The secretary, Martha Mauck, called the roll and read the minutes of the last meeting. The treasurer's report was brought by Charlotte Gaspare.

During the business meeting it was decided to schedule a special program for a mothers' meeting in May.

The following program was then presented:

Solo, Helen Lambiase; song, Jessie Jane Gilbert, Mary Louise Jolley and Mannetta McCracken; tap dance, Helen Dantonio, Dorothy Thompson, Josephine Prosky and Anna Rainey; reading, Martha Mauck; mandolin solo, Josephine Prosky; piano solo, Ilene Schiedemantle, an play, Leona Ross and Emma DeFelice.

ITALIAN MOTHERS' CLUB

The Italian Mothers' club met on Thursday evening at 7:45 o'clock in the Y. W. C. A. and made plans for a party and entertainment to be enjoyed in two weeks. This event will be in the form of a tureen dinner and husbands of the members will be guests.

Miss Stella Tabisz taught tatting to the members after the business meeting. Refreshments were later served.

In Religious and Fraternal Circles

Alliance Church

The young people of the Christian and Missionary Alliance church will have a prayer service and Bible study period at the church, Pearson street, tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

Hitler Worried Over Leadership In Future Years

Inaugurates Spartan Training Courses For 800 Picked Nazis Today

(International News Service)

BERLIN, April 24.—Worried over the future leadership of Germany, Adolf Hitler today inaugurated spartan training courses for 800 Nazis leading to the eventual establishment of a veritable "feuhrer class' in Germany.

In May the total of political scholars will be expanded to 3,000, who will spend three years in rigorous schooling at three castles with such tests of courage as parachute jumping and Alpine climbing among their "classes."

"The work of Frederick the Great and Bismarck failed," said the Nazi Angriff today in announcing the schools of politics, "because both failed to find successors able to carry out their work.

"Reichsfuehrer Hitler is determined to correct this."

BIRTHS

(Announcements to appear in this column must be signed with name and ddress of writer. and also give name of doctor.)

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Ciotto, of 838 East Washington street, announce the arrival of a daughter in the New Castle hospital Thursday, April 23.

GIRL SCOUTS

TROOP NO. 8

Girl Scouts of Troop 8 gathered Tuesday evening in the First U. P. church. Formation opened the meeting, with Charlotte Withers giving the reports. A nature quiz followed. The girls then divided into their various corners for patrols, where dues and attendance were checked. Plans for a "model" meeting were discussed. Several games were played. A number of the girls went with Miss Wilson and studied health. The remainder went with Mrs. H. N. Drio to study for their hostess test. A good night circle was formed. Taps closed the meeting.

Scribe, Helen Williams.

TROOP NO. 9

Troop No. 9 met last Wednesday evening. Songs started the evening. A Girl Scout banquet was discussed, and a kid party for next Wednesday evening, in place of the regular meeting, was planned. Play practice was the main event of the evening. Another practice will take place Monday evening at 7 o'clock at the home of Miss Nicholson on County Line street. The next meeting will be at Epworth church at 7:15.

Scribe, Phebe Pursell.

Slayer Dies In Oklahoma Chair

James R. Hargus, 25, Of Texas, Dies Smilingly In Electric Chair

(International News Service)

McALESTER, Okla., April 24.—Persuaded at the last moment against "giving a piece of his mind" to those instrumental in his conviction, James R. Hargus, 25-year-old Texan, was executed in the electric chair at the state penitentiary here early today.

He was sentenced for the slaying of a Tulsa police officer, L. B. Mitchell, in 1934.

Walking smilingly into the death room with firm step, Hargus conversed a few moments in low tones with Warden Wash Kenny. Then he announced:

"Gentlemen, good-bye and good luck. I would like to say some more but the warden says it is not advisable. So I guess all I can do is sit down in the chair and die."

The current was applied 45 seconds before the condemned man was pronounced dead.

It may be true that humility is proof of greatness. Only the great could survive what happens to the humble.

The world's callous indifference to suffering is a good sign. It means that most people are free of pain.

B. & O. Files Tariff Rates

New Rates Filed With Public Service Commission At Harrisburg

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, April 24.—The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad company has filed a new tariff in Pennsylvania, reducing its passenger fares as recently ordered by the Interstate Commerce Commission, the Pennsylvania Public Service Commission announced today.

The tariff-lowering passenger coach fares to two cents and Pullman fares to three cents per mile, with no sur-charge—was filed with the Public Service Commission yesterday, Chairman C. J. Goodnough announced.

Filing of the reduction notice here follows the road's formal compliance with the ICC ruling of last February by a similar action in Washington earlier this week. The new rates, under the federal body's order, become effective in June.

The old basic rate, on which other leading roads sought a compromise partial reduction, was 3.6 cents per mile.

ASKS HOUSEWIVES' AID

Superintendent B. J. Watkins, of the City Rescue Mission, today reminded housewives of New Castle to remember the mission during the cleaning season. Clothing and odds and ends of furniture, rags, papers, magazines, toys—in fact, most everything—can be used. Mission trucks will collect donations, he said.

REHEARSAL CANCELLED

The Male Chorus will not have their usual rehearsal Sunday afternoon in the Y. W. C. A. building, as planned, because of the fact, their directoress and pianist, the Misses Gladys and Ann Thomas are in Pottsville with the High School group.

PRIMARY ELECTION PROMISES TO BE QUIET

Few Big Issues Seen In Voting

Big State-Wide Contests In Either Party Primary Are Lacking

LEGISLATIVE VOTE TO BE FEATURE

By J. WILLIAM THEIS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, April 24.—Unexciting to the point of boredom for even its principals, Pennsylvania's 1936 primary election campaign coasted toward a quiet climax today with only two questions seeming to arouse state-wide interest.

Political observers, first, were wondering aloud what the final tabulation of next Tuesday's votes would be for Col. Henry Breckinridge, anti-administration candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Chance For Insurgents

Providing insurgent Democrats a chance to record their opposition to President Franklin D. Roosevelt, who would be conceded the nomination in any company, the Breckinridge candidacy is looked upon as a "straw in the wind" on administration sentiment in the state.

And in the absence of any state-wide contest, party leaders and others were attaching more than a little importance to the special elections for 10 legislative vacancies, to be run off in conjunction with the April 28 primaries.

Two of the 10 short-term seats to be filled are in the senate. Should the Democrats annex both, they would have 21 of the 50 places in the upper house when the special session opens on May 4. The 25 odd-numbered senatorial districts will ballot on candidates at the primary.

Three of the special elections will be held in Berks county. Senator James E. Norton and Speaker of the House Wilson G. Sarig vacated their posts by death, while Rep. Frank W. Ruth, majority floor leader of the Democratic-controlled house, resigned to seek election to Norton's senate seat.

Some observers called attention to the possibility that should Republicans sweep the special elections, taking the eight house seats with the two senate vacancies, Democratic legislators, thinking of how they would look to their constituents, might be frightened out of line when it came to supporting controversial administration tax measures.

Zimmerman Makes Fight

For the rest of the "campaign," Edward B. Zimmerman, Independent Democratic candidate for nomination as Auditor General, alone was conducting any fight. He was given little chance of defeating Sen. Warren R. Roberts, administration choice.

While Roberts and F. Clair Ross, deputy attorney general and Democratic candidate for state treasurer, virtually marked time until election day, Zimmerman called for "repudiation of leaders who are merely making deals to keep themselves in power." Republican fiscal office candidates, E. Arthur Sweeny, for auditor general, and Frank L. Pinola for state treasurer, were as inactive as the Democrats.

In addition to the senate and special elections, all of the 208 house seats and the state's 34 congressional places must be filled this year. Many close fights, particularly in the latter where 225 candidates were seeking nominations, were anticipated. Delegates-at-large and district representatives to national party conventions, and members of state committees also will be elected at the primary.

S. U. V. Auxiliary Has Dinner-Event

Out-Of-Town Guests Attend Dinner Gathering In Woodmen Hall

A meeting of the auxiliary to the Sons of Union Veterans, Oscar L. Jackson Camp 249, took place Wednesday evening in the Modern Woodmen hall on Washington street. At 6:30 o'clock a delicious dinner was served by the following committee: Chairman, Mrs. Pearl Foster; Mrs. Rilla Rishel, president of the auxiliary; Mrs. Bertha Daugherty, Mrs. Ethel Hoon, Mrs. Sadie Parks, Mrs. Nell Sweet, Mrs. Levada Robinson, Mrs. Orville Crooks, Mrs. Katherine Ayers and Mrs. Sue Fleeger.

Much credit is due members of this committee for the success of the dinner. The tables were decorated in red, white and blue, and centered by two large bouquets of red roses and two large pots of hyacinths. Dainty favors were at each place.

Honor guest at the dinner was Miss Dorothy Joyce, of Pittsburgh, auxiliary inspector, who was accompanied here by her mother, Mrs. Catherine Joyce, who is department past president of the Pittsburgh auxiliary. Other out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. F. House, Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Getz, Mrs. Hallie Stoner, Miss Bernice Dietz and Mrs. Irma L. Jones, all of whom are past presidents in Youngstown auxiliary; Mrs. Bertha Dunmire was also present from Youngstown. Guests from Ellwood City included the auxiliary president, Miss Cora Thompson, who extended an invitation to Pittsburgh, Youngstown and New Castle to attend a dinner and inspection at Ellwood on May 1. Mrs. W. D. Porter, of Ellwood, accompanied Miss Thompson.

The next meeting will be on May 6.

When you have finished a meal, place your knife and fork side by side on your plate. This indicates to anyone waiting on the table that you have finished eating.

Pastor Given Fine Tribute

Zelienople Congregation Honors Retiring Pastor, Dr. C. N. Moore And Wife

WILL MAKE HOME IN NEW CASTLE

The congregation of the Presbyterian church at Zelienople gave a farewell party at the high school building Wednesday evening for Dr. and Mrs. C. M. Moore, who are leaving in the near future for New Castle, where they will make their home in the future. There were about 300 present at the affair. A fine dinner was served in the dining room. The Bethany Girls' Bible class, a class taught by Mrs. Moore, had charge of the tables, and the ladies of the congregation prepared and served the dinner. Spring flowers were used as table decorations.

Following the dinner a social evening was spent in the auditorium with a program appropriate for the occasion. There was music and speaking and at the close of the evening's entertainment Rev. and Mrs. Moore was presented with a fine chair by the congregation.

They are leaving for New Castle where they have purchased a home on Park avenue. Rev. Moore is retiring from active work and will do supply work only hereafter. He has been pastor of the Zelienople church for 17 years, and of three churches 41 years. He came to Zelienople from Slippery Rock, Pa. The time for their leaving has not been decided, but will be in the near future.

Tuesday evening the Bethany Girls, a class of young women taught by Mrs. Moore for several years, enjoyed a tureen dinner at the home of Mrs. Stanley VanDyke of Spring street, Zelienople, it being in the form of a farewell for their teacher also. There were 26 present. Following the dinner, devotions were led by Mrs. George Smith and Mrs. C. L. Druschel, presented Mrs. Moore with a Bible. Mrs. G. A. McCormick and Mrs. Ronald Clouse assisted Mrs. Van Dyke in serving.

Veterans To Cash Bonuses Through Local Postmaster

Such Is Plan Now Being Arranged By Washington Officials

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 24.—New Castle veterans will be able to cash their bonus bonds through Postmaster Steen, according to a plan now being arranged by the Treasury and Post Office Departments.

Mailing of bonds to veterans will commence June 15. Cash redemption of these bonds will be carried on through post offices. About 300 first and second-class post offices will serve as disbursing centers. Other post offices will forward bonds to these centers for conversion into cash.

Under tentative plans it is likely New Castle will not be one of the disbursing centers. Under these plans, New Castle veterans wishing to cash their bonds would take them to the post office and assign them to Postmaster Steen. Mr. Steen would forward them to the nearest disbursing center, possibly Pittsburgh. Steen would then receive a check or money order for the bonds which he in turn would deliver to the veteran asking cash payment.

Such plans are tentative, but Treasury officials believe they will be finally made effective. They expect to announce a definite arrangement before long.

The U. S. Federal Reserve system was placed in operation on Nov. 16, 1914, when 12 Federal Reserve Banks were declared formally opened.

SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

(Material Gathered and Edited by Student Reporters)

SAFETY TEST IS GIVEN

Monday and Tuesday of this week school took a safety test. The test was sent out by the insurance company that issues a safety bulletin every month to the students of the high school. Since the test was comparatively easy, it is hoped that many high test grades will result.

GIRL RESERVES GATHER

Members of the Senior High Girl Reserves met Monday evening, April 20, in the Y. W. C. A. The meeting was opened by Geraldine Getty, the vice president, who took charge in the absence of President Peg England. Devotionals were read by Martha Francis and after this a short business meeting was conducted. Mary Ellen Henderson then announced that the program for the following week would be open discussion on the question of marriage in high school. The girls are looking forward to an interesting meeting next Monday night.

CIRCULATION 20,000 BOOKS

This week Miss Helen Westlake, librarian, counted the number of books that went out of our library in the past year and found that about 20,000 books were loaned. As each book is approximately eight inches long, if each of the 20,000 books were put end to end they would extend 2½ miles.

The loaning of books is just a minor part of the work in the library, as a great many of the library books are used only for reference work.

WILL NOMINATE SHORTLY

On Friday, April 17, a regular meeting of the Latin Senate was held. During this meeting a committee was appointed to nominate the officers for the next year. Also Mary Ellen Henderson and Betty Wise were appointed sub-treasurers to collect dues.

ART WORK OUTSTANDING

In the last couple of weeks, students of the art department have been working diligently making the decorations for the football-basketball Dinner Dance and the result was a beautifully decorated dining room and dance floor.

The tables in the dining room were decorated by means of red and black footballs and basketballs, each displaying a score of the past season, held aloft by silver standards placed every few feet down the centers of the long tables. These were jointed by small red and black pennants strung on red cord. The place cards were small white cards which contained a small figure connected either with football or basketball.

The ceiling of the gym was hung with long strings of black and red pennants which extended almost to the heads of the dancers, making a very decorative ceiling.

All the decorations were made in the art room by art students and the actual work in placing these was done by the following: Sarah Edwards, Marian Patterson, Nancy Hall, Mike Farris, Harold Watson, Walter Kwolek, Marian Koszella, Lester Black, and Jack Allison.

SHAKESPEAREAN EXHIBIT

This week the special exhibition in the library is a Shakespearean display. This display is composed of books written by Shakespeare and also biographies of Shakespeare, pictures of different places connected with his life and scenes from a number of his plays.

There is also a model of one of Shakespeare's theaters used in the exhibit. This theater was made by Kelan Gibson, a former student of the school.

MATINEE GIVEN WEDNESDAY

Members of the cast of "The Closed Door" gave a matinee Wednesday afternoon, for the pupils of Senior High school and George Washington junior high.

Due to the death of Kathryn Ganoe's father the part of "Celia" was very capably taken by Teresita Cosgrove, a member of the senior A class and of the high school dramatics class.

The play was a financial success, and the class owes a debt of gratitude to Miss Cosgrove for her fine work in the part of Celia, and to Miss Hartsuff for her coaching them in their parts.

VOLLEY BALL CAPTAINS

Miss Sarah McGoun announces the following girls chosen as captains of the class volley ball teams:

Sophomore A—Dorothy Bodenforfer.
Junior B—Helen Uram.
Junior A—Gayle Warnock.
Senior B—Christine Perrotta.
Senior A—Cleora Fauzey.

LUNCHEON FOR FACULTY

On Wednesday and Thursday, April 22 and 23, the girls of the home economics department held a luncheon for ten teachers of the Senior high faculty in the sewing room.

Hostesses for the occasions were: Mary Louise Flynn, Laura Brown, Betty Jane Kison, Marion Louise Duff, Louise Mann and Vyda Mullen.

SENIOR HI-Y MEETS

On Monday evening, April 20, the senior Hi-Y club met at the Y. M. C. A. for a short business meeting. The club was led in devotionals by Jack Higgins. The movie the club is sponsoring and several banquets and conventions were the topics of discussion. It was decided to officially end the New Castle Hi-Y season by a banquet for all local Hi-Y clubs on May 15.

After closing the meeting with the Friendship Circle, the members withdrew to the Y. M. C. A. pool where swimming was enjoyed.

TROPHIES NOW SPARKLE

During the past few weeks, the trophy case and contents have been undergoing a wonderful metamorphosis. Three N. Y. A. workers, Alex Malozzi, William Henning and Thomas Hitchen, have polished the case and trophies, therein and deserve credit for the fine job they have done. It was a difficult task to remove the tarnish from some of the older and more intricate trophies but the boys were capable of this task and it is nearly impossible to distinguish the older trophies from the newer ones until one reads the inscriptions on them.

SCHOOL BOARD GUEST

Last Thursday, April 16, the home economics class under the direction of Mrs. Viola Healy entertained a group of members of the school board. Hostesses were: LaGene McIntyre, Mary Ellen Campbell, and Anita Hamilton.

PASS SHORTHAND TESTS

Miss Genevieve Riddle today announced that the following Shorthand IV students have successfully passed the 100-word Gregg writer transcription test: Sue Maroni, Margaret Naples, Margaret Robinson, Loleta Butts, Hazel Coulter and Marjorie Howard.

SCHOOL PERSONALS

Russel Love returned to classes Wednesday after being confined to his home for several days.

Carol Ransome returned to school this week after being confined to her home on Main street by illness.

Jane Shilton has been absent from school all this week due to illness. She is confined to her home on Winter avenue.

Margaret Brenner, her sister and parents were visitors at Hiram college last Friday, April 17, and saw Lawrence Bennet, a former Ne-Ca-Hi student and son of Reverend and Mrs. G. S. Bennet, of Park avenue, carrying one of the leading roles in "The Magistrate," a play presented in the Hiram college play shop.

Over Four Billion Dollars On Deposit In Banks Of State

Increase Nearly 10 Per Cent During 1935, Records Of U. S. Reveal

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 24.—The gain in assets of insured banks during 1935 was less marked in Pennsylvania than in the nation generally, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation reported today.

Aggregate resources of banks of the Keystone State insured by the FDIC stood at $5,019,985,000 on December 31, 1935. This represented an increase of 5.1 per cent over December 31, 1934. Assets of insured banks in the country as a whole, on the other hand, increased 10 per cent.

Of the assets of the Pennsylvania banks at the end of 1935, $1,033,308,000 were being held in cash, as cash items in process of collection, or as balances with other banks; $177,584,000 was shown to be invested in securities fully guaranteed by the United States Government, and $1,104,435,000 in United States obligations.

Total deposits in the Pennsylvania banks were $4,145,578,000, an increase of 9.2 per cent during the year. Demand deposits aggregated $1,974,825,000 and time deposits amounted to $1,651,311,000.

Agents Checking Captive Animals

Both Public And Animals Must Be Protected, Game Commission States

HARRISBURG, April 24.—The Game Commission is instructing its field agents to make a thorough check of all individuals holding bears and other wild animals and birds in captivity to determine just how humanely these creatures are being housed and fed, and whether the public is sufficiently protected from injury by the caged or chained animals.

Where animals are held under ideal conditions, and where the public cannot approach too close to feed the creatures, there is comparatively little opposition to their retention. On the other hand, poorly equipped cages without shade or protection, and without ample provisions for safeguarding the public, are a menace, and the Game Commission says it does not propose to tolerate the continuance of such practices.

PULASKI

SUNDAY SERVICES

Services here on Sunday are as follows:

Presbyterian—10 a.m. Sunday school. Superintendent, Marshall Scott. 11 a.m. Church service by Rev. William McKee of Chester, West Virginia.

Methodist—Pastor, Rev. Earl Jay Jennings. 9:30 a. m. Church service. 10:45 a. m. Sunday school. Superintendent Russell Michaels. Pianist, Martha Louise Bilger. There will be no church service on Sunday evening on account of Rev. Jennings attending services in Pittsburgh.

BIBLE CLASS

Mrs. Paul H. McClennahan and Mrs. Fred E. Wallace entertained in a very delightful manner the members of the Elizabeth Parson Bible class of the Presbyterian Sunday school at the home of the former on Tuesday afternoon. The following officers were elected to serve for the coming year: President, Mrs. McClenahan; vice president, Mrs. John Neal; secretary, Mrs. J. P. Buchanan; treasurer, Mrs. Joseph Clark; pianist, Mrs. Fred E. Wallace. A delicious lunch was served by the hostesses assisted by Mrs. C. C. Boyd and Miss Dorcas Lewis. Over twenty members being present.

PULASKI NOTES

FOUND AFTER THREE YEARS

IOWA FALLS, Ia.—It took three years for the administrator of an estate to find Shirley Marie Axtell, 10, but she was $2.200 richer today as the result of inheriting $2.200 from an uncle she did not know. She had spent several years in an orphan's home and was finally adopted by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Axtell.

Leaders Of 4-H Club Meets Here

Leader Of Girls 4-H Club In State Is Speaker At Meeting

WILL ORGANIZE COUNTY CLUBS

Fifteen local leaders of Girls 4-H clubs in Lawrence county met Wednesday in the Y. W. C. A., New Castle to make plans for the coming summer.

Mrs. W. H. McCullough of Big Beaver 4-H club, was chairman of the occasion, and called the roll to which the ladies responded with a brief review of their respective clubs and the work desired by the girls for the coming year.

Miss Mary Vogle, Lawrence County Home Economics Worker, gave a very brief survey of the work accomplished last summer by the various 4-H clubs throughout the county.

Mrs. C. M. Hartzel of Shenango club told of her experiences as a local leader. Miss Elsie McClymonds of the Perry 4-H club, who has had 2 years of clothing work, 1 year of meal planning, and 1 year of canning work told of the value the club work had been to her.

Miss Nellie Clogston, Pennsylvania State 4-H club leader, was the guest speaker of the afternoon. She displayed clothing and home furnishing articles as samples of the type of work that could be done by the clubs. She also showed a collection of pictures taken at 4-H Club Week at State College, Pennsylvania, last August. Miss Clogston spoke on the State goals and the responsibilities of the local leaders.

During the general discussion part in the program, the ladies present discussed the possibility of having more food and room improvement clubs in the county; also the possibility of having a greater recreational program in the individual clubs, and means of interesting more parents in the work which the girls are doing.

At the close of the meeting a short social period was enjoyed by the ladies present.

Organization of the 4-H clubs throughout the county will take place during the coming month.

Michigan Boosts Sen. Vandenberg For Presidency

(International News Service)

DETROIT, April 24—Prepared to raise the banner of "Favorite Son" Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg as their presidential aspirant, 1,200 Republicans gathered here today for the State G. O. P. convention.

Aside from launching the presidential boom for the senator who still maintains silence on the matter, the Republicans will elect four delegates at large for the national convention and two presidential electors.

Although spokesman for Sen. Vandenberg said he did not want binding instruction of the state's 38 votes at the Cleveland convention, it was considered probable instructions would be given delegates to vote for Vandenberg until he himself releases them.

Drafting Of School Budgets Outlined

School Boards Must Give Public Notice Of Budget Figures

HARRISBURG—The next issue of the Pennsylvania Public Education Bulletin will contain an article giving a brief explanation of the procedure required by the 1035 act for preparation of schol budgets.

The principal features of this act are:

1. The school board shall, at least 30 days prior to the adoption of the annual budget, prepare a proposed budget of the amount of funds that will be required by the school district in its several departments for the following fiscal year.

2. Final action shall not be taken on any proposed budget in which the estimated expenditures exceed $2000 until after ten days public notice.

3. A copy of the proposed budget shall be available to any interested person or persons to examine upon request at least 20 days prior to the date set for the adoption of the budget.

4. Within 15 days after the adoption of the budget, the board of school directors shall file a copy of the same in the office of the Department of Public Instruction.

5. Uniform budget forms prepared by the Department of Public Instruction shall be used for these purposes by the school board.

Self-determination: The right of each little nation to have an army and a tariff wall and keep itself poor.

How To Plant Trees Is Told

Rich Soil Is Needed Around Tender Roots Of Tree

TREES NEED WATER AFTER PLANTING

HARRISBURG—With the advent of spring, a great number of requests for instructions on how to plant trees are being received by the State Department of Forests and Waters.

To have a successful planting, particular care must be given the roots of the plant, and it is important that the hole is refilled properly, the department points out.

The department recommends these suggestions to those who are considering the planting of trees and shrubbery:

Dig the hole deeper and wider than the roots require. The roots should not be cramped to fit the hole.

The fertile top soil from the hole should be placed around the fine rootlets by hand so there are no air chambers. These are the delicate feeders and need the rich, mellow ground. All sod, stones and sticks should be removed, and garden soil added if there is not sufficient top soil.

Tramp the earth firmly as the filling progresses.

When the hole has been filled within two inches of the top, water the replaced soil. The soil should be saturated without becoming muddy. Fill the remainder of the hole and make a mound of two inches to allow for settling.

Do not tramp the top soil as the loose top will serve as a mulch to conserve moisture.

The trees should be watered frequently thereafter for a period of several weeks to keep the ground moist.

The deparment suggests that particular care must be taken to keep the top soil loose during the early months of growth so that moisture can seep through to the roots. A firm top will become hard and baked and discourage growth.

Tops of hardwood trees, such as oak and maple may be pruned back after transplanting. Conifers should not be pruned.

Local Teachers Share Program

Will Speak At Science Conference At Slippery Rock Teachers College

SESSIONS LAST FOR TWO DAYS

Many teachers from New Castle and Lawrence county are expected to attend the two-day program of the science conference to be held at Slippery Rock State Teachers college on Friday and Saturday, April 24 and 25. Nationally known nature study authorities will speak. Elementary science, bird life and nature study will be stressed on the program. The final spring demonstration in the training school will be held also on Saturday with a record gathering of teachers expected from the entire service area.

The conference program follows in detail:

Friday.

10:30 a. m.—College chapel, student assembly. "Birds," illustrated with slides and a live rose-breasted grosbeak. Dr. A. B. Brooks, state forester and ornithologist, director of nature recreation and nature study training school, Oglebay Park, Wheeling, W. Va.

3 p. m.—Nature unit on birds (fourth grade presentation at the Terrace avenue school, New Castle, developed by Miss Helen E. Green).

6:30 p. m.—Dinner meeting of the biology section of the Midwestern P. S. E. A., N. Casillo, New Castle high school, president. Address by Dr. E. L. Palmer, head of science education and nature study department, Cornell university, Ithaca, N. Y.; editor, Nature Magazine.

8:30 p. m.—Camp fire program (place to be announced).

Saturday.

6 a. m.—Walk on Nature Trail to Study Birds, Dr. Brooks.

Mines Working Near Capacity

Leesburg District Workmen Enjoy Period Of Increased Employment

(Special To The News)

MERCER, April 24.—The mines of the Sharon Coal and Limestone Company in the southern part of the county are enjoying a period of prosperity. This week the mine is working six days, staggering the men employed so that none will work more than five days a week of seven hours a day. The men, who during the greater part of the winter, were only working two and three days a week, were put on five days during the recent scarcity of coal. Last week a night shift was put on and Monday the schedule called for six days a week.

LADIES' CLUB

The Big Beaver Grange Ladies club had for their guests on Tuesday evening their husbands, families, parents and friends, over 100 persons attending.

At seven o'clock a delicious basket picnic dinner was served from long tables in the dining room of the hall.

Mrs. W. W. Willis gave the invocation. Mrs. J. C. Brittain ably served as toastmistress and introduced the speakers. Mrs. Clifford Douthitt gave the welcome address. The young people responded with a "yell" to the members.

The after-dinner hours were spent in the auditorium, the evening program being called to order by the president of the Ladies' club.

Mrs. W. G. Shannon conducted a brief business meeting.

Mrs. C. A. Kerr, second vice president, introduced the ladies in charge of remainder of the program for the evening. They were the Misses Campbell, Margaret Reeher and Lois Kerr, teachers in New Castle schools. They gave a most interesting account of their trip last summer to Alaska. Miss Reeher gave the introduction and Miss Campbell described their trip as the pictures were thrown on the screen from the time they left by boat at Seattle, Wash., and return. Miss Kerr assisted with arrangements of pictures and operated the machine.

A delightful evening, one long to be remembered, was enjoyed by the club members and their guests.

HONOR BIRTHDAY

A happy little girl was Helen McBride on last Saturday afternoon, when 30 of her schoolmates and friends gathered at her home in Big Beaver township in honor of her ninth birthday anniversary. The party, a complete surprise to Helen, was arranged by her mother, Mrs. Leslie McBride, who, assisted by her sister, carried out an interesting program of games the children enjoyed during the afternoon hours.

Helen received a number of pretty and useful gifts from her little friends and best wishes for many more happy birthdays; also a large beautifully decorated birthday cake with the name "Helen" to top, the gift from her grandmother.

Delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. McBride and her aides.

LITERARY PROGRAM

The literary program for Tuesday evening, April 28, that will be presented during the lecture hour at the regular Grange meeting is as follows:

Song by the Grange; a discussion on what the Grange stands for; roll call, my grandmother's maiden name; good books, Mrs. Wayne McHattie; should the community, the school and the church work together, Robert D. Dawson; how the Grange may benefit a community, Frank Jenkins; things I am doing to make my home attractive to the young folks, Mrs. R. S. McAnlis; novelty song by the Grange; things I am doing to interest the affairs of our farm and home, Elmer Suders; which is the more effective in the control of disease, liquid spray or dust, Walter Werner; beautifying our homes at small cost, Mrs. Douthitt; how to interest young folks in the Grange, Mr. Davis and Mrs. C. S. Duff. Closing song by the Grange; taps.

BEAVER TOWNSHIP NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. McAnlis received the teachers and officers of the Rocky Spring Sabbath school at their home in Big Beaver township. Mr. McAnlis, superintendent of the Sabbath school, conducted the business meeting, and later a social period was enjoyed and cake and ice cream were served.

Word has been received of the death of Mrs. Ethel Donaldson Dunn of California, a former resident of this community. She is a sister of Mrs. Ethan Russell of Big Beaver township.

Damage Suit Is Filed Over Corpse

Sharon Man Files Unusual Suit In Mercer County Court

(Special To The News)

MERCER, April 24.—Alleged appropriation of the dead body of his wife by an undertaking firm and refusal to return the corpse caused Paul Micklo, 430 Morton street, Sharon, to suffer injuries humiliation and shame, he charges, in a suit for $10,000 damages against T. L. Reinsel and J. E. Giroski, Farrell funeral directors.

The action was instituted by the filing of a statement of claim at the court house and follows closely the recovery of the body by Sheriff C. G. Scowden by means of a writ of replevin by Judge George H. Rowley on Monday, April 13.

Mrs. Micklo's death occurred Saturday, April 11. The husband says in his complaint that while she was still living some one telephoned the defendant undertakers to send their invalid wagon to the home to remove Mrs. Micklo to the hospital, but before they arrived she had died. It is alleged that the defendants came in and took possession of the body without permission of the plaintiff and removed it to their funeral establishment. When the plaintiff called at the funeral home the defendants refused to return the body unless paid $150, it is alleged. The body was held from Saturday to Monday.

Nearly Hundred Students Aided

Large Number At Westminster Benefit By Projects Of N. Y. A.

VARIETY OF JOBS NOW INCLUDED

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, April 24.—Since beginning at Westminster College last year the National Youth Administration work has aided the development of 32 separate projects, the largest of which employs 15 students. N. Y. A. has given work to 98 students during the past two years.

Fourteen students are engaged in clerical work in the college library, filing and cataloguing. Approximately 60 students are working in high school offices of New Castle, Sharon, West Middlesex and Farrell, and in departmental offices of the college, typing letters, filing and performing secretarial duties.

Five girls are working in the federal unemployment service office of New Castle, interviewing applicants for help and recording information to be sent to government offices in Washington. All graduates of 1935-36 high school classes are being interviewed at this office.

New Wilmington churches have several students serving in the capacity of general social program workers, and conducting church choirs in nearby towns. Two students with a knowledge of tree surgery take care of campus trees that require mending. One N. Y. A. girl is employed as a reader for a blind student.

Throughout this year a crew of from 12 to 15 N. Y. A. students have been clearing the college woods to make it available for picnicing and to lessen the fire hazard. A typographical survey also is being made. This crew has just recently finished a tennis court for the senior women's dormitory.

MARKED CLOTHES SO WIFE COULD NOT PAWN THEM

(International News Service)

LONDON—William Scott, London husband, even rubber-stamped his clothes in an temmepot to stop his wife from pawning them.

He made this allegation when, appearing in court here to answer a charge of failing to pay for goods, which he declared his wife had ordered without his permission or knowledge.

Describing his wife's habit of pawning almost everything in sight Scott told the court he had a rubber stamp bearing his name, address and the words' "Not to be sold or pledged.' He said he applied this stamp to his linen and other articles of clothing that could easily be pawned.

Judge Owen Thompson ordered a new trial on the ground that Scott had forbidden his wife to pledge his credit.

WANTED BODY LEFT UNTOUCHED 10 DAYS

(International News Service)

PASADENA—The peculiar will of a man who ordered that his body should be left untouched for 10 days after his death was revealed in court precedure here.

"I am fearful that I might be buried alive," explained the codicil of the will of Augusta J. Paris, who died recently.

In order that he might administer the will, Pierre Paris, a son, asked the court to invalidate the codicil.

State laws governing the disposal of dead bodies, he explained, prevented him from carrying out his father's wishes.

Faculty Members Going To Funeral

Gardner And Thomas To Attend Funeral Of Coach Bridenbaugh's Father

Representing the Senior high school, Ralph H. Gardner and George Thomas of the faculty will attend the funeral of Philip Howard Bridenbaugh in Martinsburg, Pa., Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Mr. Bridenbaugh was the father of Phil Bridenbaugh, head coach of athletics of the senior high school.

The elder Mr. Bridenbaugh would have been 85 years of age on Saturday. He is survived by eleven children, seven girls and four boys. He was born in Sinking Spring and had lived in Pennsylvania his entire life.

'LOST' WILD ANIMALS NEED NO HUMAN AID

HARRISBURG—Do not pick up "lost" fawns or bear cubs, the game commission warned today, pointing out that these young creatures usually are not lost or deserted. Their parents invariably in cases of this kind have been frightened away by someone's approach and will readily return to their offspring after the invader leaves the vicinity.

It is a violation of the game law to retain any protected birds or animals in captivity, and the board maintains a strict policy regarding the taking home of very young birds or animals.

Correct this sentence: "He broke his campaign promises," said the man, "so the people have no faith in him."

Doctor Is Injured At Slippery Rock

SLIPPERY ROCK, Pa., April 24.—Dr. W. R. Hockenberry was severely bruised when his car was struck by a truck late Wednesday. Dr. Hockenberry stopped to pick up a friend when a truck, driven by Louis B. Crammer of Grove City, crashed into the rear end of the physician's car on the Butler-Slippery Rock road.

Exonerate Man In Kiefer Death

Jury Concludes That Driver Was Unable To Avoid Striking John B. Kiefer

NO EYE-WITNESS AS HE WAS STRUCK

After hearing the evidence in the circumstances surrounding the death of John B. Kiefer, who was struck and fatally injured by an automobile driven by Joseph Sheldon, of 608 Spruce street, on the evening of April 6, the coroner's jury empaneled by Coroner Orville Potter returned a verdict exonerating Sheldon of blame for the accident, at an inquest in Alderman J. Wallace Ewing's court room Thursday afternoon.

There were no actual witnesses to the collision when Mr. Kiefer was struck by Sheldon's car, on Highland avenue, just below the intersection of Laurel avenue, about 9:30 on the evening of April 6.

Mrs. Florence Bruno, of 1213 South Mill street, who was waiting for a Highland car at the corner of Moody avenue, one block north, stated that a car almost struck her as she stepped out from the curb to see if the street car was coming, but she was unable to identify this machine as that of Sheldon's.

Saw Car Pass

Mrs. Bruno stated that she is employed at Louis Cohn's home and had worked until 9 o'clock that evening. She was coming out Moody to Highland to catch the street car, when she says, she noticed the northbound car going up the hill and hurried so she could catch the car to town, as they generally passed a short distance north of this spot.

She said a car almost hit her as she stepped out from the curb and she thought at the time that the man was going too fast. A few seconds later, she heard the screech of brakes, but could not see what happened. She knew there was some kind of an accident, however, down the street. She did not see Mr. Kiefer struck, she said.

She said she saw no other car pass the spot going south, until she got on the street car. Traffic was tied up at the scene of the accident, when she got down in front of the Highland school, and the street car had to wait until the car was moved.

George Ferver, of 203 Lincoln avenue, stated that he came out Laurel Boulevard around 9:30. As he turned onto Highland avenue, he saw a man's overshoes and hat lying in the street, just below the street intersection. He saw a car stopped a little farther down and the thought came to him that there was trouble, so he stopped in back of this car and got out. They were just getting a man out from under the front of the car and they tried to put him in the car ahead.. The door was too narrow, Mr. Ferver stated, so he offered the use of his car and the man was put in his machine and taken to the Jameson Memorial hospital. He couldn't tell whether the man was living or dead, he said, but he seemed to be badly broken up. The machine was an old Willys, he stated. There were not many people around when he got there.

Tells Of Injuries

Dr. W. D. Cleland, who examined Mr. Kiefer's body at the Jameson Memorial hospital, stated that he was dead on arrival at the hospital. He stated that Mr. Kiefer had suffered a fractured skull, broken neck, broken ribs, fracture of both legs, and ruptured bladder. The injuries would have caused instant death, he stated.

Roy Davis, operator of the street car, which picked up Mrs. Bruno, stated that he was on his way downtown when Mrs. Bruno got on at Moody avenue. He had passed the northbound car somewhere between Leasure and Garfield avenue. He said Mrs. Bruno told him there must have been an awful accident, and when they arrived in front of the Highland school were forced to wait until traffic was cleared. There were three cars in a row, two behind the one which had struck Mr. Kiefer. The front car was moved down below the steps to the Highland school so they could proceed on their way.

Mr. Davis stated that he did not know anyone had been injured until he talked to Officer Showalter on the next trip. He said the car which had struck Mr. Kiefer was standing in the car tracks about five auto lengths below Laurel avenue. He saw Mr. Kiefer's rubbers in the street, about the width of the sidewalk below the street intersection.

Joseph Sheldon, driver of the car, stated that he had been at the home of his grandfather, Joseph Penner, on Leasure avenue, fixing his radio, and left to go home about 9:15. He said that he was ill that evening, having come home from the Tin Mill, where he is employed, suffering with a bad cold, and was running a high fever. He was anxious to get home.

Tells Of Collision

He said that he noticed the street car stopping at Laurel Boulevard and saw someone getting off. He wasn't thinking of anyone coming from behind the street car, and did not see Mr. Kiefer until he was almost in front of the car. He was running. Sheldon said he tried to swerve the car to one side to avoid striking Kiefer, and stopped as quickly as he could. There was no one around, and he tried to pick the man up. Finally other cars came, and he got help. He tried to put the man in his car, but had difficulty and someone said, "Put the man in my car," which they did. He then moved his car to the side of the street. Mr. Levine, from the clothing store, came along just then, and he asked him to go with him to call the police. They went to the first house below the Highland School and called the police and he remained there until they came.

Sheldon identified pictures which were taken of his car, which showed the left headlight broken, the fender and hood dented. He said he had four-wheel brakes, but that the front brakes were not working. He said the state police advised him that his car was all right as long as the back ones worked.

Officer Ray Showalter said that he got a call to investigate an automobile accident about 9:30 on the evening of April 6, and went to the scene in front of Highland school. He measured the distance from where Sheldon said he had struck Mr. Kiefer to where his car was brought to a stop, which was about 37 feet.

Officer Howard Richards, stated that he was with Showalter. He watched traffic while the measurements were made. Officer Showalter stated that he was at the hospital when Mr. Kiefer's body was removed from the car. He said Kiefer's clothing was torn and dirty as if he had been dragged.

The jury which heard the testimony was composed of James A. George, E. J. Kemm, Frank Streib, C. E. Allen, Ernest Treharne, and R. L. Little.

Forty Injured In Riot At Bombay

(International News Service)

BOMBAY, April 24.—A dispute between a Moslem and a Hindu over music being played in front of a Hindu temple today spread into a religious riot in which 40 were injured.

British troops were called out to help 300 policemen before the riot, in which 5,000 participated, could be broken up. One policeman was seriously hurt.

During the fighting, it was reported, several attempts were made to set Moslem mosques afire.

AUTO VICTIMS LEAVE HOSPITAL

Bruce Forrester and Merle Kennedy, of Prospect, Pa., who were injured when their auto collided with a bus near Portersville, early Tuesday morning, have recovered sufficiently to leave the Jameson Memorial hospital, where they have been undergoing treatment.

Kerr-Coolidge Bill Near Vote

Immigration Issue Before Senate—Bill Is Vigorously Attacked

SENATOR DAVIS ASSAILS PROVISIONS

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 24.—America's restrictive immigration policy was at issue in the senate today as it neared a vote on the Kerr-Coolidge bill, proposing to deport desperate criminal aliens.

The bill was subject to violent criticism with a host of critics assailing it as a "criminal importation bill" because of provisions allowing some aliens to become citizens. Drafted to deport criminal aliens, it included provisions allowing aliens of good character to remain here, even if they entered the country illegally.

Davis Leads Assault

Senator Davis R) of Pennsylvania, a former secretary of labor, and Robert Reynolds (D) of North Carolina, led assaults upon the bill. They charged it would block immediate deportation of hundreds of aliens, who bribed or stole their way into America. They also opposed a section, setting upon inter-departmental board to pass upon cases of worthy aliens who wish to become citizens despite their unlawful entry into America.

Davis and Reynolds denounced these provisions, declaring every alien who entered the United States unlawfully should be deported at once. They alleged many of these aliens with criminal records in foreign lands, married upon entry in order to furnish an excuse for being allowed to remain here.

Stand Supported

They announced their stand was supported by a host of patriotic organizations, including the D. A. R., A. F. of L., American Legion, and other veteran organizations.

Senator Coolidge (D) of Massachusetts, and Senator King (D) of Utah, led the fight for passage of the bill. They asserted the measure would do justice to aliens, of good character, who might be deported on some technicality but who desired to become good citizens. They declared the bill would strengthen provisions of existing law.

The provision for deporting criminal aliens would rid the country, they said, of every alien convicted of a crime involving moral turpitude within five years after entering America. Under existing law, aliens can be deported only if convicted of a federal offense, involving a penitentiary sentence of a year.

If people keep on loving their old sweethearts, it means they are disappointed in the ones they finally got.

All private lives will be exposed at the last judgment, and then everybody will know how a candidate feels.

Contrast makes people conceited. The corporal couldn't feel important if there were no privates to look down on.

DISAPPOINTED

Jim—Why did every one cry during the death scene at the theater today? They must have known that the actor wasn't dead?

Jake—That was just the reason.

FRENCH TOURIST BUREAU CHECKS ANY COMPLAINT

PARIS—Visitors to France who consider they have been "rooked," insulted or discourteously treated, may now have their complaints promptly investigated by a new organization just opened at the ministry of public works here. It is called the Commission General De-Tourisme.

A proper list of charges in hotels, and restaurants is being prepared so that tourists shall not be imposed upon. Every assistance is to be given to those on holiday under the new service.

A somewhat similar system exists in Italy, but France, determined to win back her tourist traffic is trying to perfect the scheme.

A number of the professional syndicates have already given their agreement to the principle, and it is hoped that within a few weeks, it will be possible to let anybody know what he may expect to pay and what he need not.

QUICK—Chipso's quick-washing extra soapiness saves hard rubbing on the very dirty things

"WITH one big boy to wash for, and three little fellows, I have lots of nice colored clothes in my wash ... and lots of very dirty, heavy-to-wash pieces, too! Chipso is the one soap I know of that's equally good for both parts of this double job.

"We have as much wash in a day, my husband says, as many families have in a week. Chipso gives me SNOWY sheets and towels in a jiffy. And in spite of our daily washings, my boys' suits don't fade ... my baby's dresses and my nice handkerchiefs don't get those tiny thin spots which ordinary, harsh laundry soaps leave in sheer materials. So you see it pays me to use Chipso!"

Even if YOU wash only once a week ... aren't there two kinds of clothes in YOUR wash, too? Can YOU afford to let harsh soap fade and weaken your nice things? This week ask for CHIPSO. Let this extra-rich, quick-washing soap of fine-flake quality do YOUR DOUBLE JOB.

At last—quick soap that doesn't fade clothes!

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Ickes Gains In Plea For Funds

Many Members Of Congress Favor Him Over Relief Administrator Hopkins

BELIEVES WORKS SHOULD BE LASTING

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 24.—Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes has "sold" a large number of members of congress on the idea that the kind of relief employment he advocates is better than the kind Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins favors.

Approximately 180 representatives actually have petitioned President Roosevelt to see that Ickes has the disposal of at least half, or thereabouts, of the additional $1,500,000,000 asked for by the administration to keep PWA and WPA activities going.

Briefly, Ickes wants relief money to go into permanent improvements, while Hopkins argues for "made work," popularly known as "boondoggling."

* * *

OF "REAL VALUE"

Ickes' reasoning, of course, is that the country should get something of real and lasting value for what it is spending instead of broadcasting funds in what virtually is charity.

Hopkins, it scarcely is necessary to say, has no objection to lasting value, and, indeed, asserts that he is getting quite a bit of it out of his so-called "boondoggling." His contention, however, is that the sort of improvements insisted on by Ickes cost too much for raw materials, not leaving enough to go into wages.

Ickes admits that a job of leaf-raking, for example, undoubtedly is nothing whatever but wages, except for the price of the rake, whereas the construction, say, of a new public building involves the purchase of steel, cement and numerous other items, as well as expenditure for labor to put them together. Furthermore, he points out, labor is required to provide the steel, cement, et cetera. Thus, according to his version, as many hands are employed in the erection of a useful building as can be employed at useless leaf-raking.

* * *

"TOO SLOW"—HOPKINS

All that may be true, concedes Hopkins, but it is too slow a process; what is needed now is immediate employment.

No, rejoins Ickes, it is not a slow process; work on a new building can not be started in a minute, but the instant it is authorized the producers of the material required for it will get busy.

Hopkins denies this. Much time is lost, he says, in merely planning a big improvement, but a huge force of men can be set to leaf-raking on almost no notice at all.

* * *

PLANNING TAKES TIME

And it is true; planning public works IS slow.

Ex-President Hoover, before the boom burst, suggested that the planning be done in prosperous times, to be ready to carry out upon the first hint of a depression.

But he never did anything about it.

It is the old story. When the roof leaks it is impossible to get out in the rain to fix it; when the rain stops it is not necessary.

* * *

"BOONDOGGLING" FAVORED

Besides, urges Harry Hopkins:

Even supposing that a prospective new building does make a deal of work for steel mills, cement factories and sash-and-door plants; a substantial share of the cost of this activity goes into the pockets of the owners of these industries—and they do not so much need relief as the workers do.

"Boondoggling," on the other hand, is "gravy" almost exclusively for the workers.

* * *

RELATIVE STRENGTH

Economically speaking, Secretary Ickes makes a better case than Administrator Hopkins does.

As a welfare worker perhaps Hopkins is better informed than Ickes.

Ickes, however, apparently is stronger in congress than Hopkins. It is not so certain that Hopkins is not stronger with the president than Ickes.

AROUND CITY HALL

One of the moves city council must soon give consideration to is park roads. Each spring the roads have been improved. Calcium chloride has been placed on the thorough fares and the roads shed no dust when travel started.

With adoption of the Mayor Charles E. McGrath bill which is expected sometime in the near future he will no doubt have the civil service board present him with a list of four names for appointments to the police force.

Capture of the alleged robber of the A. & P. store, at Highland and Winter avenues and State liquor store at Mercer recalls that not long ago the same officers, Peter Hilliers and Robert Hanna captured a young man who was alleged to have held up the Dinette and the Lincoln restaurant. Both captures were made on the South Side, while the officers were cruising in police cars.

Councilmanic custom that all ordinances be printed, may be changed. The city fathers desire to save money. They pointed out that, by printing bills on a mimeograph machine they can save half the money now expended at the printing office. The city, according to council pays $1.00 per page for printed ordinances. They believe the cost of mimeographing a bill would not be half that much.

KANSAS SCHOOL DISTRICT

Several folk from this district attended the "Spelling Bee" and program held at No. 5 school on Thursday and Friday evenings of last week. Clarence McCracken and Ruby Knight participated in the "Spelling Bee".

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sankey and son Charles, spent Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Sankey of Plaingrove.

Mrs. Meade McCracken attended the funeral services of her aunt at Grove City on Monday.

Kansas School will close April 30, with a picnic dinner at noon. Mr. Sherman Rodgers as teacherd.

Natalie Matthews of New Castle has been spending some time at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Grundy.

Mrs. Clyde Lowry, Mrs. Dick Fennick and Mrs. Clarence Drake were New Castle shoppers on Thursday of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Drake and son Billie spent Sunday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Boyd of Slippery Rock.

Young Democrats To Elect Officers

Officers of the Young Democratic club will be elected for the coming twelve months, at a meeting in city hall Monday evening, May 4, it was announced today. Since its organization the club has been active in the affairs of its party and has conducted a number of affairs.

State Liquor Store Not To Change Time

State Liquor Stores Will Operate On Standard Time During Summer

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, April 24.—Standard time will guide the operation of state liquor stores during the coming summer months, Clyde E. Smith, director of the division of enforcement of the liquor control board, announced Thursday.

The ruling will mean that drinking establishments in communities that go on Daylight Saving time will remain open until 2 a. m. standard time. State stores and licenses of the board will open and close on standard time, Smith said.

Scouts Having Dinner Affair

A huge dinner-gathering for Girl Scouts, leaders and council members of New Castle is being planned for May 7 at the Epworth M. E. church, Mrs. W. H. Hanger, Girl Scout commissioner, announces.

There are close to 500 Girl Scouts here and undoubtedly a large part of that number will join in this event, the first of its kind ever to be held. The dinner will be at 6 p. m., and a program will follow.

"Men have been eating fish 5,000 years." It doesn't seem to have helped much.

On Court House Hill

The county commissioners have found it necessary to borrow $6,000 more to meet the running expenses of the county. The 1936 taxes are beginning to come in in fairly good amounts and they hope to get along without having to borrow any more money.

Voting booths and paraphernalia which have been stored in a garage at the court house are being distributed to the different precincts in the city, and by this evening it is expected that it will all be in place ready for the primary next Tuesday. After the primary the outfits are to be stored in the old wire nail mill on the Carnegie Steel company property, which has been secured for storage by the county and the city.

Under the will of the late John B. Kiefer which has been probated at the register and recorder's office, all of the decedent's real estate is left to his children, Arthur W. Kiefer and Lillian A. McWilliams. To his son Arthur Kiefer, he bequeaths all his stocks, bonds, mortgages, notes or other securities. The Union Trust Company is named as trustee for $7,000 to be distributed as follows: To a grandson, Arthur L. Frankhouse, $3,000, when he becomes 25 years of age, or at marriage if married before that age. To a grandson, Robert Kiefer, $2,000, when he arrives at 21 years. The trustee can advance money for maintenance or educational purposes. To a granddaughter, Dorothy Kiefer, $1,000, at 21, with discretionary expenditures by the trustee for educational purposes. To a granddaughter, Lillie May Kiefer, $1,000, at 21, with the same provisions as above. The remainder of the estate is left to decedent's children, Arthur W. Kiefer and Lillian A. McWilliams, who are also named as executors.

County commissioners are not satisfied with the burial accommodations at the county home. When the home was built it appears that no thought was given to providing a burial ground. When the first death occurred the body was interred a short distance east of the building. It was not long until there were more deaths and ever since the bodies have been buried within a stone's throw of the windows of the county home.

It is not only a depressing sight for the inmates to see burials so near, but it is taking up ground that ought to be used for garden or grass. The commissioners believe that burials in this location should cease, and that they should get another place for a cemetery. If this cannot be found on the county grounds, an acre or two will likely be bought. It would be considerable work to remove the bodies already buried in the present cemetery, and they may be allowed to remain. If this is done the ground will be smoothed over and sown in grass.

So far as the county commissioners are concerned they have expressed no preference as to what should be done with the old covered bridge at Edenburg. They have been interested in the views of those citizens who believe that the bridge should be preserved as a relic of other days. The Edenburg bridge is one of the few remaining covered bridges in the county. There is one at McConnell's Mills, another nearby known as Breakneck and a couple over the Neshannock creek in the vicinity of Neshannock Falls, and one or two other smaller ones left. County Commissioner Joseph Hannon says he remembers the old covered bridge which once stood on West Washington street, the one on East Washington street over the Neshannock, the Grant street bridge and the old Black bridge. Commissioners Cotton and Bolinger can't remember these old bridges, which shows that Hannon has the advantage of them in age.

Two Freak Kittens Attract Interest

Mrs. Jennie Emery of 210 Shadyside avenue is very proud of two little freak kittens that were born on April 15.

Each cat measures but five inches in length, but has feet large enough for a full grown animal. One of the cats was born minus a tail and the other had but a stub for a tail. If the imprint of the small cat's paw was taken the print could not be distinguished from that of the mother cat in size and shape. The mother is also a freak and possesses a stubby tail.

One of the animals is white with blue spots scattered about its fur, and the other is a solid gray. Mrs. Emery is exceedingly proud of her pets and will be willing to display them to anyone who is interested in animals.

Survivor Tells Of Mine Horror

Dr. Robertson Relates Terror Of Long Imprisonment In Mine

TELLS OF DEATH OF THIRD MAN

(International News Service)

MOOSE RIVER, N. S., April 24.—Weak and wan but in good spirits despite his 11-day imprisonment in an underground purgatory, Dr. D. E. Robertson concentrated his iron will on the resolve to recover today while he recalled his terrifying experiences in the Moose River gold mine.

"More than once," he said, "we thought the end was at hand. When the flare was dropped into the tunnel by the rescue workers, we thought the tiny boxwood fire we'd built had ignited a loose stick of dynamite and we expected a sudden explosion to finish us.

"We raced from our shelf to the other end of the chamber. But there was no explosion. Last Sunday water from some underground sources began dripping steadily, faster and faster, through the other end of the chamber.

"It was then I told those at the surface through the microphone that we had only ten or twelve hours to live. But, luckily the water stopped dripping and the danger of dying like rats disappeared.

"Magill knew our salvation depended on letting those above know we were alive and exactly where we were.

"He was ill when he entered the mine. But last Sunday, with his last ounce of strength, he went through the black, damp 141-foot level of the mine and found some boxwood, with which we kindled our fire.

"Lighting the bit of candle we had, Magill started the fire and the smoke curled up through the shaft, telling those above that we were alive and showing how we could be reached."

Robertson indicated Magill, breaking under the strain, went berserk before death mercifully ended his agony early Monday morning. Robertson said:

"On Sunday Magill could hear the digging above us, but he was too ill to pay heed. He couldn't even get over to the microphone to talk with his wife, waiting on the surface to hear his voice.

"I tried to save his life, but late Sunday night I realized nothing more could be done for him.

"For hours I held him in my arms to keep him warm.

"That night he asked: 'Who kicked me?'

"I suspected then he had stomach ulcers and there had been a break.

"Early Monday morning he sat up suddenly. He was hysterical. He uttered several incoherent words. Then he stumbled backward. In two minutes he was dead. In falling he fractured his skull on the rocky floor of our underground shelf."

France And Britain Seek Peace Showdown From Adolf Hitler

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

LONDON, April 24—Quietly France and Britain moved today to demand an early show-down from Adolf Hitler on his future intentions regarding peace in Europe.

With French collaboration foreign secretary Anthony Eden drafted a questionnaire that will be laid before the Reichsfueherer in Berlin towards the end of next week.

Britain wants to know not only whether Germany intends to make the long-awaited "gesture" to east tension over the Rhineland, but also:

1—What does Germany look for in the way of the colonies?

2—When will the Reich return to the League: and are colonial possessions essential to that return?

3—What are Germany's intentions regarding the independence of Austria, and the German majorities in Danzig and Memel?

4—What is Hitler's attitude towards an air defense pact, and what sort of two-nation non-aggression pacts does he advocate?

Potter Run Road Will Be Improved

Highway Superintendent And County Commissioners Get Releases Signed Up

State Highway Superintendent John Shaw, and County Commissioners Bolinger, Cotton and Hannon, went over the Potter Run road in Washington township Thursday, and succeeded in getting property owners to sign releases of damages for the improvement of the road.

This is one of the roads which was on the program for improvement this summer, but the project was held up by several property owners who had deferred signing up. Yesterday they agreed to go along.

Shaw met with the county commissioners this morning and County Solicitor William McElwee, Jr., drew up the necessary papers, which insures that the project will go through.

The Potter Run road extends from the East Brook-Volant road east to the Perry highway. It is about two miles in length. Superintendent Shaw expects to start work on the road as soon as he gets the proper authorization from Harrisburg.

This is the first of the road projects for this summer which is now definitely on the map. Work of securing releases on the others is under way.

Kidnaped Boy Makes Escape

Akron Man Accused Of Abduction Of Ten Year Old Allentown Boy

WOMAN IS FREED AFTER GRILLING

(International News Service)

ALLENTOWN, Pa., April 24.—Following the release of an unidentified Allentown woman about 45 years old, police today expressed the belief that Richard D. Taylor, 42-year-old washing machine salesman of Akron, O., played a "lone wolf" part in the short-lived kidnaping of Henry T. Koch, 10, son of a local department store executive.

The woman, whose name was withheld, was freed after grilling by detectives convinced them that she knew Taylor only "slightly". At first suspected as an accomplice in the abortive $20,000 snatch attempt, the woman admitted riding to Akron with Taylor two nights ago, investigators revealed, where Taylor planned to get money from a relative. Taylor, police learned, left Akron two weeks ago with his wife for New York, but insisted his wife knew nothing of the kidnap plot.

While 10-year-old Henry, who freed himself from his bond and set police on the trail of his captor in an amazing exhibition of cool headedness, showed no effect of his experience, Taylor faced prosecution under state kidnaping laws.

"It was a lone job," Taylor insisted. "I was a fool to do it."

Police officials stated the confessed extortioner would not be subject to the federal "Lindbergh" law because Taylor neither transported the boy acros sstate lines nor used the mail to deliver a ransom demand.

Henry J. Allen Boosts Landon

Kansas Publisher And Editor Says "Governor Landon Is Natural"

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 24—Political interest was stimulated here today by activities on several fronts.

Henry J. Allen, Kansas publisher and editor, predicted in a speech that the Republican party "will win with Landon" next November. Meanwhile a controversy developed between Sen. William E. Borah and Publisher Frank Knox.

Landon Is Natural

Speaking before the Kansas society New York, Allen declared Governor Alfred M. Landon of Kansas, "is a natural to demobilize the monstrosities of the present administration."

"Governor Landon is not a showman; he is not a radio artist," said Allen, after lauding the Landon administration in Kansas. "But he is steady, sure, reliable."

Allen characterized Landon as "the outstanding figure in the American political scheme today."

The Borah-Knox controversy was enlivened by the action of Senator Borah in sending a telegram from Washington to Colonel Knox of Chicago demanding to know whether Knox was countenancing a movement to persuade Illinois delegates on the Borah ticket in the recent Illinois primary to turn around and vote for Knox.

Knox, who has been in New York attending the annual convention of publishers and editors, left for Chicago last night without replying to Borah's telegram.

Revival Services At Wampum Church Continue To May 3

Revival services which are being conducted each evening at the Wampum M. E. church will continue to May 3. The attendance has been very good and it is believed that it will continue to increase during the coming week.

Sunday evening the services will center around the hymn, "The Ninety and Nine". Mr. Quehl, the song leader, will give a special rendition of that number and Rev. W. R. Vaughn of Edenburg will speak on "The Ninety and Nine and the Lost Coin".

The Epworth League will meet Sunday evening at 6:45 o'clock. Harry Huffman and Miss D. White will be leaders for the evening.

Police Arrest Man In Washington Street

Man who gave the name of George Coppi and residence as Atlantic City, was arrested by Patrolmen John Young and Ray Showalter this morning on a charge of drunkenness and begging. The man was taken into custody in West Washington street after he is alleged to have seized hold of a woman in a North Jefferson street business place. Police were called and Young and Showalter took him into custody.

Old Knox Truck Will Be Repaired

City's First Motor Fire Truck Will Be Put In Shape For Use Again

After having been in service here for a quarter of a century, but relegated to the background during the past few years, the old Knox fire truck, which was the city s first motor fire truck, will be repaired and put in first-class condition again by City Motor Mechanic Charles Colnot.

Mr. Colnot is making plans to rebuild the motor and a new engine will be placed in the machine, which will make it as good as ever. The pumping unit on the truck is in good shape, and although it may not be as speedy as some of the newer equipment, it is believed there are still many more years of service in the old machine when it is put in good condition again.

Report Fine Response To Jameson Hospital Prepaid Care Plan

With the announcement that contracts for the new Jameson Memorial hospital "prepaid care plan" are ready, made only 24 hours ago, the response of individuals and groups has been gratifying, Dr. Wayne W. Bissell, medical director of the hospital, said today.

Affiliating with the new prepaid care plan is a simple operation. If one cares to join as an individual it is necessary to go to the hospital and sign an application. In such cases the fee of $6 or $9 per year is paid in advance, the applicant gets an identification card and he is a member in good standing.

In the case of group memberships, the process is equally simple. The people interested get together, elect a representative and secure a group application blank. The members sign the application, and a day or so later go to the hospital where they are given identification cards.

Just as soon as a member gets his identification card he is a member and save for the few exemptions that apply is eligible for hospitalization. In the case of appendicitis 72 hours must elapse before the member is fully eligible. In the case of elective surgery, that is surgery that is known to be needed for some time, the member is not fully eligible for three months. In maternity cases ten months must elapse before eligibility starts.

Many people have already presented themselves at the hospital, signed application blanks and received their identification cards. Over the week-end it is anticipated that many groups, such as Bible classes, social clubs, industrial and business groups will take steps towards the formation of groups and the plan looks to be getting under way in auspicious style.

The prepaid hospital care plan is such an unusual thing that many people have investigated it thoroughly to find out if the plan contained a joker. Such investigation is exactly what Dr. Bissell invites for the more thorough investigation the more convinced the applicant is of the soundness and feasibility of the plan.

The prepaid hospital care plan gives a member full hospitalization for a period of 35 days in a year, as needed. If he or she wants private ward care the annual fee is $6 and this covers all hospital costs up to 35 days in the year and half rates for any further care. For $9 the member gets a private room.

Under the family dependent plan, a member first joins as an individual or group member and then for $10 additional per year protects his wife and all his minor children. In this classification one-half the bed rate is charged and all extras such as X-rays, diagnostic treatment, operating room, anesthesia, laboratory fees are free.

Must Preserve Press Freedom

Publishers Hear Strong Addresses At New York Convention

OFFICERS TO BE ELECTED TODAY

By Kenneth T. Downs
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, April 24—The fifth annual convention of the American Newspaper Publishers Association whose dominant theme from the opening day has been freedom of the press, comes to a close today, with election of officers.

J. D. Barnum, publisher of the Syracuse (N. Y.) Post-Standard, is slated for re-election as president. The other officers are also expected to be re-elected. They are J. G. Stahlman, Nashville, (Tenn.) Banner, vice president; E. H. Harris, Richmond, (Ind.) Palladium-Item, secretary and Walter M. Dear, Jersey City (N. J.) Journal, treasurer.

After unanimously adopting four resolutions upholding the freedom of the press, the assembled publishers were warned by Dean Carl W. Ackerman, of the Columbia University graduate school of journalism, that they must remain firmly on guard to make certain the newspaper of tomorrow remains as free and independent an institution as that of today.

This must be done, Dean Ackerman asserted at the publisher's annual dinner last night, to protect the freedom and liberties of the American people against any possible form of dictatorship or dictorial influence.

My New York
By James Aswell

NEW YORK, April 24—Potpourri: Paul Draper, the open one of the hoofing marvels, whose dancing highbrow critics say has an "intelligent" implication. . . But that sort of verbal hair splitting is over my head. . . .He's a nimble fellow, with eloquent fast feet. . . George Tapps, Draper and Ray Bolger are the dancing tops in this opinion, Astaire, a runner-up. . . .My vote for the sleekest headwaiter in town: Arezi at the Rockefeller Center Rainbow Room. . . .

Bedlam: Broadway in the Forties at 3 A. M. when the taxi dance halls let out. . . But hackmen are gloomy because fast buses will whisk fans to the Polo Grounds and the World Series this summer at a nickel a head. . . There are still five top-hatted drivers clinging to the horse-and buggy era in front of the Plaza hotel. . . A world-wanderer, returning after twenty years, spoke to one of these silvered coachmen the other day, lightly: "Hello! Are you going to live forever?". . . .The retort came sadly: "Sometimes I think I already home. . . .

* * *

Richard Dix, they tell me, holds all records in cinemaland for playing opposite young women who later become stars. . . A partial list: Esther Ralston, Bebe Daniels, Nancy Carroll, June Collyer, Irene Dunne, Elizabeth Allen and Margot Grahame. . . This has been a season remarkable for the paucity of new name comedians rising in theatres and night clubs. . . Benny Field's notable doings at the Hollywood I'm aware of—but, he, after all, is an old timer. . . .

* * *

Add Broadway double lives: Claudia Morgan, an actress of increasingly appreciated talents has important roles in two plays running simultaneously. . . .She appears in the first and third acts of "Co-Respondent Unknown"—a delectable comedy, by the way, which should be on your list of plays to see during your summer visit here—and she appears in the second act of "Call It A Day," another deserving hit. . .

"Reno in the Fall" a picture just announced by Universal, will make good double billing with "Paris in Spring" . . Vernon Duke, who writes catch popular tunes, uses his real name for serious music he does for the "Ballet Russe". . . .He is Vladimir Dukelsky. . . . Incidently the girls of the Russian troupe, which is having its best season in New York after a $100,000 tour eat nothing but liquids all day long—and then gorge after each performance. . . Traveling, they go for chocolate bars and soft drinks. . .

* * *

Chorines from half a dozen shows and clubs are to be found along Broadway any early a. m. after working hours, playing those bagatelle games and nickel-to-see-the-crane-clutch gadgets. . .Nifty: Paul Frehm's contribution to the walls of "21," the eatery—a portrait of a beautiful girl with the caption "Free White, and 21.". . . . Few know that the late Howard Thurston, the magician studied to become a medical missionary. . . .But he ran away from home at 14 to be a magician, and the fever was not to be cured.

Freddie's Mother Plans New Fight

Mrs. Lillian Mae Bartholomew Will Fight For Custody Of Famous Son

(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, April 24.—Bitter but undismayed over the fact that her husband has taken a firm stand against her, Mrs. Lillian Mae Bartholomew today planned an entirely new fight to regain custody of her famous actor-son, Freddie.

At the same time it was reported here that the father, Cecil Bartholomew was coming from London to Hollywood to "straighten out" the sensational battle which has caused a rift in the family.

Although she lost her suit to have the guardianship of the boy taken away from his aunt, Miss Myllicent Bartholomew, the mother's attorneys today announced she would file a new petition demanding that the boy be returned to her.

Mills Attacks 'New Dealers'

Republican Women Of Pennsylvania Hear Ogden L. Mills At Philadelphia

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, April 24.—Asserting the Roosevelt administration has failed to solve the major problems that confront the nation, Ogden L. Mills, Thursday told a meeting of Republican women of Pennsylvania that the administration "far from creating a more abundant life" can offer at best only "a grim division of shortened rations."

Mills turned his guns on the president's policies and plans as exemplified in the latter's recent address to a young Democrat gathering at Baltimore.

Terming it "a most significant speech," Mills asserted that in it the president "unconsciously but unmistakably revealed why he has failed and must continue to fail to solve certain economic problems that intimately and vitally affect the welfare of all our citizens."

He criticized particularly the president's statement that while production and profits were increasing in 1928 "unemployment was growing at an astounding rate. Mills denied that unemployment then was increasing at an abnormal rate, asserting that a government survey indicated only four per cent of the population was unemployed in 1929. The Republican leader also claimed the president erred when he stated "total production" of the country is about back to the pre-depression high point while only about 80 per cent as many workers are employed.

Rep. Zioncheck Plans Action

Washington State Representative "Bailed" Out Of Jail, Threatens Police

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 24—With one of the principals hors de combat today, Washington awaited with interest the next step in L'Affaire Zioncheck.

For, Rep. Marion A. Zioncheck (D) of Washington state, who spent several hours behind the bars of a cell yesterday before he was finally bailed out, is threatening dire happenings. He is the congressman who proposed in the house that the national capital be moved to Seattle.

Is "Bailed Out"

And meanwhile police Sergeant George I. Helmuth, who served a warrant on the representative to appear in court on a speeding charge, was home on sick leave, with a possibly fractured finger and a swollen face, received in a scuffle with Zioncheck, while attempting to serve the warrant.

It cost $45 before Zioncheck was finally "sprung" from the cell. For Judge Walter J. Casey imposed a $25 fine for speeding and an additional $20 for contempt of court.

In default of the money, Zioncheck went behind the bars, and then he started telephoning for help. Finally John J. O'Conner (D) of New York, chairman of the house rules committee, appeared in court, paid the $45 and took Zioncheck back to the capital.

What's the use? When the world gets through a day without scandal or disaster, people say there is nothing in the paper.

Probe Death Of Boy On Coast

Death By Poisoning Of Wealthy Youngster In School Room, Baffles Police

(International News Service)

FRESNO, Cal., April 24.—Authorities Thursday were without a clue in the investigation of the baffling strychnine death of Olin Lee Everts 18-year-old Fresno high school student and prospective heir to a $1,000,000 estate.

The boy collapsed in convulsions as he sat in a classroom and died six hours later. An autopsy disclosed a lethal quantity of strychnine in his stomach.

He was unable to make a dying statement.

His father, Frank G. Everts, wealthy Fresno attorney, and other relatives and friends discounted the theory of suicide.

District Attorney Dan Conway, who was conducting the investigation, was unable to determine where the poison had been obtained. He was seeking a possible connection between the boy's death and an "epidemic" of dog poisonings in the fashionable fig garden district, where young Everts lived.

Legislators To Meet In Parish For Conference

New Jersey Legislators Accept Offer To Confer In Parish House

(International News Service)

TRENTON, N. J., April 24.—Plans for a special session of the New Jersey assembly, to act on demands of an army of unemployment who have taken possession of the legislative chambers, were abruptly abandoned shortly before the session was to have convened today.

Instead, a conference of legislators was called to meet in the parish house of the second Presbyterian church at Newark.

The Rev. Lester H. Clee, Republican leader of the senate, is pastor of the church.

Announcement of the change in plans came as an unpleasant surprise to the "spirit sleeve legislature," composed of former relief recipients who had demanded that the legislature enact revenue-raising measures to replenish empty relief coffers.

Thrown On Own

The state's needy and unemployed recently were thrown onto their own communities for support when state relief funds were exhausted.

Tuesday, a group of former relief recipients marched on the state house and took peaceable possession of the legislative chambers where they have since remained.

They had planned to remain in the chamber—on the floor if possible—during the assembly session which had been scheduled to convene at 10 o'clock this morning.

Senate President John Barbour, Dr. Marcus W. Newcomb, speaker of the house, and Dr. Clee were expected to take part in the Newark conference.

Ready To Start Quarrying Stone For New Armory

Stripping operations in the Hog Hollow quarry are about completed and by Monday it is expected that the quarrying of stone for the new Troop F armory will start. About 13 feet of overburden laid on top of the stone and a steam shovel has been cutting it away for a week.

The excavation work in Cascade Park is progressing and inside of two weeks it is expected that preliminary foundation work will start.

Agree To Adopt New Rail Rates

Eastern Railroad Presidents Agree To Adopt New Reduced Rate Schedules

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 24.—Eastern railroad presidents today had agreed to adopt the new reduced rate schedule, ordered by the Interstate Commerce Commission February 28, effective June 2.

The new rates call for a tariff of two cents per mile in passenger coaches and three cents a mile in Pullmans, as against the present rate of 3.6 and 4, fixed by the I. C. C. soon after the World War.

Spurred by compliance of the Baltimore & Ohio to the commission's order, and fearing competition from this revision, representatives of the Pennsylvania, New York Central, New York, New Haven & Hartford, Erie and Delaware Lackawanna & Western agreed to the new setup after considering filing a court appeal against the order.

In a petition for a compromise rate, denied last week by the I. C. C., the railroads estimated the new fares would cost the Pennsylvania $12,000,000; the New York Central $9,000,000; the New York, New Haven & Hartford $4,000,000; and the Long Island $1,715,000.

It is hard for a rich man to get to heaven. You see, the neighbors can't help him be good if they can't hurt him.

A true radical is one who hates 120 million people because two or three gave him a raw deal.

Rules For Care Of City Shade Trees Are Given

Special Treatment Required To Meet Lack Of Forest Conditions

SOIL SHOULD BE KEPT LOOSE

HARRISBURG, April 24.—The State Department of Forests and Waters today recommended these rules to be followed in the care of shade and ornamental trees:

1. Keep the soil about the tree in a loose condition.

2. Keep the soil free of weeds and sod.

3. Regulate the water supply.

City trees need this special attention to thrive, the department points out, because the soil in the city frequently lacks plant food and is usually packed too tight and is baked as a result of exposure. This induces the rainfall to run off quickly instead of penetrating the soil.

By keeping the soil loose the water supply is conserved. It also helps soil areations and assists the introduction of fertilizer into the soil when necessary.

Ornamental trees on lawns and streets do not thrive as they do in the forest because the forest soil is light, porous and rich. It is constantly fed by humus, the decay of leaves, vegetation, and organic matter that accumulates from year to year. The forest soil is also well aired and retains a required amount of moisture.

In the absence of forest conditions, most ornamentals suffer from malnutrition, in addition to lack of soil, air and moisture.

One of the most important treatments recommended by the Department of Forests and Waters for city trees is the covering of the soil around the trees with a supply of straw or leaves. This should be done in the fall and the cover should be left on until the early spring.

In the case of conifers, it has been found advisable to have a mulch the year around.

It is the healthy and well cared for trees that have the best chance of warding off attacks of insects and disease. Healthy trees are not immune from attacks, but they are less liable to permanent injury.

Striking Glove Workers Return

(International News Service)

COSHOCTON, O., April 24.—In a surprise move, members of the Independent Glove Workers' Association converged on the strike-closed plant of the Indianapolis Glove Co., here today, brushed aside union pickets and entered the factory through a side entrance.

The independent group, numbering about 70, prepared to go to work. The plant has been closed four weeks by a strike which was declared when rumors spread that a wage reduction was imminent. Most of the employes are women.

After the non-strikers forced an entrance, union pickets spiked the door shut, declaring they would not be permitted to leave the plant.

It isn't easy to find a successful novel. So many of the stories submitted have at least one decent character.

D. A. R. Pledges G-Men Support

Delegates Hear J. Edgar Hoover, Government's No. 1 G-Man

CONVENTION IS NEAR CONCLUSION

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 24—Installing newly-elected vice presidents general and pledging support to the campaign against crime and shady politics, the delegates to the 45th Continental Congress of the D. A. R. will head for home tonight.

The pledge to support the drive against lawlessness and crooked politics was voiced by Mrs. William A. Becker, president general, after J. Edgar Hoover, the government's No. 1 "G-man", denounced any alliance between politics and crime in a speech to the delegates.

"There is no royal road to law enforcement," Hoover said. "If we wait upon the medical 'quacks', the parole panderers, and the misguided sympathizers with habitual criminals to protect our lives and property from the criminal horde, then we must also resign ourselves to increasing violence, robbery and sudden death."

The new vice-presidents general are Mrs. Emelia Street of Connecticut, Mrs. Mortimer Pratt of Missouri, Mrs. Harold Theodore Graves of North Dakota, Mrs. Thomas Joab Mauldin of South Carolina, Mrs. Eli Dixson of Illinois, Mrs. William John Ward of New Jersey and Mrs. John Harris Baughman of Louisiana.

TIMID SOUL

During the rush hour in a crowded restaurant a meek little man left his seat to get a second cup of coffee. When he returned he found a great, hulking brute in his place.

"No, I won't give you this seat until I'm through eating," was the snarled reply to the little man's timid request.

"Very well," agreed the smaller man, "but I don't suppose you would mind giving me that slab of pie you're sitting on?"

PLANT PEAS EARLY TO GET BEST CROP

Extension demonstrations conducted last year showed that peas planted in April yielded considerably more than peas planted in May.

In Forest County seven varieties planted April 23 required an average of 85 days to maturity and yielded an average of 56 pounds to 100 feet of row. The same varieties planted May 14 average only 28 pounds to 100 feet of row in 65 days.

Less moisture and considerably higher temperatures in the critical growth period accounted for the lower yield of the late planted peas. When peas are planted late they mature in a shorter time and are able to produce only meager root systems and top growth.

All varieties should be planted as early as possible to get the best yields.

THREE BROODS CHICKS SOLVE FLOCK PROBLEMS

Keeping the house filled to capacity with layers is suggested as a solution of the laying flock mortality problem. This can be done by having three broods of chicks each year.

In three broods of chicks are reared annually the first brood may be placed in their quarters in January or February. The brooded house and equipment is used again in April and October for the second and third lot of chicks.

Poultrymen who have developed a good retail egg business, as well as those who sell their eggs wholesale, find the practice of hatching three broods of chicks each year highly desirable.

October-hatched pullets lay small eggs when prices are normally low for all eggs. January-hatched pullets come into production in the fall when egg prices are at their highest and small eggs are sold at a greater differential in price than in April.

"LET GRASS GET STARTED BEFORE IT IS PASTURED"

Cows should not be turned out to pasture until the grass has gotten well started and the ground settled.

Early grass is very high in water content. Consequently it is low in nutrients and provides but little feed until the growth becomes abundant. Better pasture and more food throughout the season will result from giving the grass a chance to get a good growth in early spring.

In order that the grass plant may produce the greatest amount of feed or top growth it is absolutely necessary that the root system be well developed. To develop a strong root system, there must first be good top or leaf growth. Roots as well as tops grow from nutrients developed or manufactured in the leafy growth of the plants. The roots in turn supply the leaves with essential materials for building the entire plant structure. It is thus seen that there exists a cooperative relationship between root and top growth. Dairymen who wish to get the greatest amount of feed from their pasture are careful not to graze it too early or too closely in early spring or in late fall.

LAWNS DAMAGED DURING WINTER BY SNOW-MOLD

A great deal of turf in Pennsylvania was damaged during the winter by a fungus disease known as "Snow-mold" which is caused by organism Fusarium nivali. It has been observed in all sections of the state on golf courses, lawns, athletic fields cemeteries, and other turfed areas.

The disease is active under conditions of low temperatures and excessive moisture, and is especially bad under heavy snow cover on unfrozen soil, under coverings of straw or other debris in areas where the drainage is poor and on susceptible grasses, such as bents and those made soft by heavy nitrogen fertilization in late fall.

Damage is recognizable in the roughly circular or irregular patches of greyish-white grass blades which appear to be dead. Often a slimy growth is discernible and the dead leaves are melted, indicating that the disease was active under the heavy snow cover.

At the present time about all one can do to repair the damage on lawns is to brush lightly these areas with a bamboo rake to loosen the matted leaves. If the grass appears to be dead it will be necessary to resod or reseed these areas. In many cases the injury is slight and the grass will recover.

It is probably not possible to prevent the disease entirely but the following suggestions will reduce the damage from this disease in the future:

1. Avoid late fall fertilization with nitrogenous fertilizers. This makes the grass soft and particularly susceptible to diseases.
2. Avoid coverings of manure, straw or like material for winter protection. With the proper height of cut, good drainage, and proper fertilization the natural turf cover will provide sufficient winter cover.
3. A late fall application of a calomel at the rate of 2 to 3 ounces to 1,000 square feet mixed with soil or sand as a carrier to effect uniform distribution. This is primarily for putting greens and lawns containing a high percentage of bent grass.

PREVENT MOTH DAMAGE IN STORED CLOTHING

May, June, and July are the months comprising the open season for clothes moths. The tiny buff-colored miller fluttering in the dark corners or crawling rapidly over the rug or davenport lives only a few days, but she deposits dozens of tiny white eggs in folds of clothing, in the of rugs, or in cleaning brushes and carpet sweepers. The larvae which hatch from these eggs feed upon wool, fur and feathers.

Clothing which is being worn is not likely to be damaged but blankets and clothing stored during the summer need protection. Be sure they are moth-free before putting them away, urges Miss Mary Vogle, home economics extension representative of Lawrence County.

Moths dislike light, heat, and action, so thorough sunning, airing and brushing is the first step. Pay particular attention to seams, folds and pockets. Never store soiled articles. Dry cleaning and pressing will destroy all stages of the moth. Clothing free from moths may be stored:

1. By wrapping in newspaper, being careful to have it unbroken, use several wrappings, one over the other, in such a way that the lapping will be in different places. Seal the ends or fold over two or three times and fasten.
2. By placing in garment bags or heavy paper or glazed muslin. These bags have no virtue in themselves but are valuable in keeping the articles from re-infestation if tightly closed. Moths can enter through very small openings.
3. By storing in boxes or chests which close tightly. Cedar chest if properly constructed are effective in protecting clothing. The aromatic oil of this wood is slowly effective and garments must be free from moths before storing.
4. Napthalene flakes (about four times as powerful as moth balls) or paradichlorobenzine crystals are effective if used in air-tight bags or chests. These form the basis of many co-called moth destroyers on the market but often are used in too small amounts in their preparation to kill moths. One pound of either in a trunk of average size should kill all stages of the moth. It may also be used in the garment bags and packages of clothing. The fumes from these materials are heavier than air, so the flakes should be put in the top of the chest and garment bag. It is not effective scattered about closet shelves or bureau drawers. These materials are harmless and comparatively inexpensive, but are wasted if used carelessly.
5. Cold storage is the safest and best way if available. This method is advisable for furs.

Earle Talks To Future Teachers

Governor Goes To Edinboro, Pa., And Speaks At 75th Anniversary Of School

(International News Service)

EDINBORO, Pa., April 24.—In a plea for "full academic freedom," Gov. George H. Earle Thursday urged the state's future school teachers not to close their minds to new thoughts and new ideas in social development.

Speaking at the 75th anniversary celebration at Edinboro State Teachers college, the governor said the major deficiency of present teachers "lies in the fact that many teachers who begin their careers with open minds become provincialized; their ideas tend to become ingrown, and their sphere of activity, both intellectual and social, becomes confined to the classroom."

"In our rapidly changing world I believe it is vital that our teachers be wide awake to the powerful social and economic forces at work in our lives today," Governor Earle said. "If our children are to cope with the colossal problems of our mechanical civilization, they must be prepared. They cannot be prepared if their teachers close their minds to new thoughts, new theories and new ideas in social development."

FARM INCOME

HARRISBURG — Expenses of farmers, including wages, taxes, interest, rent and depreciation of buildings and equipment, did not increase in 1935 as much as their income. Their gross income was 12 per cent higher and their cash income 10 per cent higher than in 1934.

LYNN TROLLEYS WILL ROLL ANEW IN BRAZIL CITY

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Mass.—Taking a seagoing interlude, a fleet of 19 trolley cars, supplanted by motor buses in Lynn were loaded into a specially constructed hold abroad a Norwegian freighter at South Boston, for a voyage to Brazil, where they will resume their passenger-carrying duties through the streets of Porto Allegre.

The cars were built in 1924 at a cost of $20,000 each for the Boston-Lynn route of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway. When the route wos motorized a year ago, the cars were sold to a New York exporting house which in turn sold them to the city of Porto Allegre.

The Norwegian freighter Beldagny was chartered. Lifted by special machinery, the cars weighing 18 tons each, were deposited in the hold, the wheels sinking into a bed of soft coal. Some of the cars, however, had to be lashed on the deck.

FARM PRICES SHOW USUAL SPRING DROP

HARRISBURG, April 24.—For the first time in several months the index of prices paid Pennsylvania farmers for principal agricultural products dropped in March. It was five points lower on March 15 than on February 15.

Federal-state statisticians attribute the lower price level to the ending of the pork shortage, to seasonal declines and to the inevitable reaction from the invalidation of the AAA.

The index for the state is still six points higher than the pre-war base and two points higher than the national price level.

Must Write Name Of Landon On Ballot

Republicans desiring to cast a vote for Governor Alf M. Landon, of Kansas, as their preference for the Republican nominee as president, will have to write his name on the ballot Tuesday, election officials said today. As Landon did not enter the preferential primaries in the state his name will not appear on the printed ballot.

The only name appearing in the presidential column on the Republican ballot will be that of Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, who entered his petition.

FARM RECOVERY

HARRISBURG—The farmer's return in 1935 on his capital, labor and mangement was 72 per cent of his 1929 return, but three times greater than his 1932 return.

STATE SPIRITUALIST ASSOCIATION LEADER TO ATTEND SERVICES

Rev. Mrs. C. V. Morrow, president of the Pennsylvania State Spiritualist Association, and other state officers will be present at the services in the first Spiritualist church, Clendenin hall, next Sunday at 2:45 and 7:45 p. m.

Ohio Father Is Given Sentence For Beating Son

Xenia, Ohio Man Flogged Son And Then Rubbed Salt In His Wounds

(International News Service)

XENIA, O., April 24.—Ammiel Bent, Jr., 15-year-old high school boy whose father admitted in court that he flogged the boy and then rubbed salt in the wounds because he twice attempted to steal pigeons, today was made a ward of the juvenile court.

Munipipal Judge F. L. Johnson sentenced the father, Ammiel Bent, Sr., 39, a South American, to six months in jail and fined him $200, the maximum sentence possible under Ohio's seldom used torture statute.

Fear Infection.

Bent pleaded guilty to an affidavit filed by his wife, Ida. He said he lost his temper and was sorry he had hit his son "too hard". Hospital attaches predicted the boy's recovery but feared an infection in his knee, resulting when the lash broke off and a piece lodged in the flesh.

According to Prosecutor Marcus McCallister, Bent forced his son to disrobe, then bound his wrists with rope, one end of which he threw over a transom and tied to a doorknob.

Then, with the youth's toes barely touching the floor, McCallister said Bent beat him unmercifully, inflicting large welts on his bare back and chest. The father admitted rubbing salt in the wounds, the prosecutor added.

Taken To Hospital.

Despite his suffering, Ammiel, Jr., was forced to attend school the next day. Classmates reported his condition to school officials who ordered him removed to a hospital.

Mrs. Bent, mother of eight children, told authorities she witnessed the flogging but was afraid to interfere because beatings by her husband were a "common occurrence" in the family.

Bent was born in San Andres, Colombia, S. A. He took out first naturalization papers two years ago.

British Judge Scores Use Of American Talk

(International News Service)

LONDON—Despite the fact that the "Oxford English Dictionary" explains the word "bluff" as "to hoodwink by assuming a fictitious bold front," Justice Langton refuses to have the word used in his court because of its American taste.

During a recent divorce case a counsel said:

"He was only bluffing."

"Do not use that word!" Justice Langton interposed. "I wish you would avoid these Americanisms. It is much better to use English, even if you have to say 'pretense'."

The counsel protested that he did not know "bluff" was an American word; he thought it "good enough English."

Justice Langton then explained. "It comes from a game called 'poker'. Don't you know it? That is American enough."

GYPSIES ASSEMBLE TO ELECT A KING

(International News Service)

WARSAW—Over 1,000 Gypsies will congregbate in the distant city of Rowne along the Polish-Soviet frontier this month in order to elect a "king" of all Gypsies the world over, and to assist in the wedding ceremony of Doda Kwiek, "heir to the throne" of the "kingdom" of Polish Gypsies.

As far as is known local authorities have not yet granted permission for this "royalist" assembly, because "King" Joseph Kwiek failed to submit a formal request for staging of this "historic" meeting. It is believed, however, that the right to assemble in the flat plains off Rowne will be granted and the double ceremony staged with due Gypsy custom and ritual.

'NERVELESS' DOG REACTS NORMALLY

(International News Service)

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — Harvard university's "nerveless dog" is making medical history.

The dog, all of whose sympathetic nerves were removed by its owner, Dr. Lucien A. Brouha of University of Liege, Belgium, has been undergoing tests at the Harvard Fatigue laboratory.

His actions bear out the contention of Dr. Brouha that "nerve fibres" take the place of the missing nervous system. Tests showing that the "nerveless" dog reacts just like any other dog, included various forms of hard exercise, eating, sleeping, fighting and other experiments.

McNair Now Refuses To Shake Hands With President Roosevelt's Son

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 24.—Mayor William N. McNair, Pittsburgh's inexplicable chief executive, today added another bizarre chapter to his ever-increasing headline adventures when he refused to shake hands with Elliot Roosevelt, second son of President Roosevelt.

The mayor was at the county airport, where he was to greet a group of amateur actors. He was asked by a photographer if he wouldn't say "Hello" to young Roosevelt, who stopped off here five minutes while enroute from Cleveland to Washington.

"I won't shake hands with him," McNair blurted. "I won't shake hands with any of the Roosevelts!"

Meanwhile, another newspaperman had approached Roosevelt with the suggestion he meet Pittsburgh's mayor.

"I would be delighted," the young man replied.

As Roosevelt came up however, the mayor walked slowly away. When the pair caught up with him, the newsman asked the mayor to pose with the president's son.

Making no move to extend his hand, Mayor McNair asked:

"Mr. Roosevelt, what relation are you to the man in the White House?"

"I am his son," Roosevelt replied.

"He and his gang put me in jail," the mayor shot.

"I don't understand you," countered Roosevelt, who evidently had not heard of hizzoner's two-hour sojourn in the city lockup last Saturday.

"Well," said the mayor, "tell your old man I am out."

"I don't know anything about your troubles. I'm not in politics," retorted Roosevelt.

With that McNair turned his back on the puzzled young man and walked away.

Before his plane took off, Roosevelt was heard to comment:

"That follow (McNair) is sort of a surly cuss, isn't he? Well, if he thinks I give a damn he is mistaken."

Milk Dealers Will Be Bonded

HARRISBURG, April 24.—A policy of supplemental bonding of milk dealers to protect producers was undertaken today by the State Milk Control board.

The board said it will require a collateral bond, or a surety bond written by any company authorized to do business in Pennsylvania, from milk dealers in all cases where personal bonds would not adequately protect the producers.

Milk dealers' licenses will not be issued until approved bonds have been filed, the board pointed out.

Farmer Is Held For Slaying Of Peace Officers

Angry Louisiana Mob Threatens To Lynch Eccentric Farmer

(International News Service)

BATON ROUGE, La., April 24.—Walter Johnson, 45-year-old eccentric farmer, was spirited to a hospital here early today after a muttering mob gathered about the hospital at Alexandria.

Johnson was shot in the right arm, hip and leg by federal range riders near Colfax last night.

The farmer had been sought since last Tuesday as the slayer of Sheriff W. L. Nugent and his deputy, D. L. Brunson.

Felled By Bullets

A posse of state police, range riders and volunteers combed the woods for the farmer, but it wasn't until last night that he was sighted as he attempted to cross a highway running past his farm home.

Johnson opened fire on the three rangers, wounded in the arm, he cried, "I surrender," but resumed firing as the trio closed in on him.

A barrage from the rangers' guns felled him and he was captured, and taken to a hospital at Alexandria.

He was brought here by officers who feared mob violence when an angry crowd gathered outside the Alexandria hospital voicing threats of lynching.

Club Will Feast On Rattlesnakes

(International News Service)

SANDUSKY, Ohio.—When the Last Man's Club holds its next scheduled meetings—on Friday, Nov. 13, 1936—the members will eat rattlesnake meat.

At the last meeting—on Friday, March 13—they ate crow meat.

Then someone in Texas read about it in a newspaper, and Ceylon F. Tremaine, secretary of the club, received a letter from a Texas food products concern, offering to furnish "free of charge, all the rattlesnake meat you want for the next meeting.

The writer of the letter assured that "rattlesnake meat is much better than crow in every way." Tremaine said the offer has been accepted.

Draegermen Get Praise Of King

Plaudits From King Edward VIII Received By Mine Rescuers

(International News Service)

STELLARTON, N. S., April 24. — Stellarton draegermen — coal miners especially trained in mine rescue work—came home today to receive from their own folk the plaudits they have earned even from their Liege Lord, King Edward VIII, of England.

At Halifax, Lord Tweedsmuir, governor-general of Canada, received a cablegram from the king expressing admiration for the heroic rescue workers and hope they would not suffer any ill effects from their rescue efforts.

Paradocially, these exhausted men who had vowed to each other they would sleep "for days" when they reached the two men entombed in the Moose River gold mine, found themselves "too tired to sleep" when they finally kicked off their grimy boots and sought slumber in their own familiar beds.

Declares Relief Claims Excessive

State Treasurer Waters Says Proposed Relief Grant Increases "Grand-Standing"

SAYS TAXPAYERS ALSO NEED RELIEF

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, April 24.—Pointing to a shortage of approximately $30,000,000 in the general fund of the commonwealth, State Treasurer Charles A. Waters today condemned proposed increases in relief grants as "grandstanding."

Waters, asserting an estimate of $70,500,000 for relief during the remainder of the year was excessive, said he could not approve relief estimates "which contemplate an increase grant per case at a time when the commonwealth cannot meet its obligations."

The relief estimate was submitted by Karl De Schweinitz, state relief director, to the joint legislative committee drawing up a program for the May special session of the legislature, and was approved by Gov. George H. Earle.

Taxpayers Also Need Relief

Stating taxpayers were appealing for relief as well as the unemployed, Waters said:

"This is no time for grandstanding, for such a course of action will only helplessly confuse an already perplexing situation."

The treasury shortage, representing liabilities past due, consists of $12,400,000 in school payments; $1,200,000 for the sinking fund; $2,250,000 for state aid to institutions; $5,800,000 for relief bills, and $12,000,000 for the motor fund. Present cash on hand was reported at $1,500,000, with a payroll of an equal amount due this month.

Speaking as a member of the State Emergency Relief board, Waters said it was not the board's but the governor's duty to present a relief budget to the legislature. The legislative "harmony" committee sought the serb's opinion on De Schweinitz's relief estimate, and was told by Waters the figure was "excessive."

"When, therefore, I am asked as a member of the State Emergency Relief board how much money we should provide for relief," the treasurer declared, "I can not lose sight of the fact that I am also state treasurer of the commonwealth, in which office I am daily impressed with the fact that the general fund of the commonwealth is $30 million short in the amount necessary to meet accrued liabilities, with all evidence pointing to our situation becoming more involved."

De Schweinitz and his predecessor, Robert L. Johnson, have been firmly opposed to any decrease in the per case relief allowance.

In presenting his $70,500,000 estimate, De Schweinitz recommended allowances for relief rental payments. Waters' criticism, it appeared, was of this and the general expansion of relief activities with increases in administrative costs.

Mrs. Blackwood Dies At Pittsburgh Home

News of the death of Mrs. R. M. Blackwood, wife of the Rev. Robert M. Blackwood, D. D., Pittsburgh, general secretary of the Sabbath Association of Pennsylvania, was learned today by Dr. and Mrs. James M. Blackwood, East Washington street.

Rev. Blackwood, a minister of the United Presbyterian denomination, has appeared in many pulpits throughout this section, and his wife was well known locally.

Funeral services will be conducted from Rev. Blackwood's home, 1011 Tyndall street, Pittsburgh, on Saturday afternoon.

Pleads Guilty To Robberies

John P. Simison Enters Plea To A. & P. Store Robbery Before Alderman

HELD FOR COURT DISPOSAL OF CASE

Arraigned before Alderman James C. Brice on Thursady afternoon, John P. Simison of Volant pleaded guilty to the holdup and robbery of the A. & P. store at the corner of Winter and Highland avenues on Monday, April 20. He was remanded back to the county jail without bail, the county court being the only agency authorized to set bail in a case of this kind.

Previously in the day Simison had admitted to the robbery, police said, and also admitted to having held up and robbed the state liquor store in Mercer on the same day he robbed the A. & P. store here.

In the A. & P. robbery, Simison walked into the store and purchased some small articles. As the store manager, Harold Hilliard, handed them over to Simison he pulled a gun and ordered Hilliard to lie down on the floor. Simison then went through the cash register and took out $23.40.

During the day Alfred Lewis, Jr., of the Mercer state liquor store, in company with officers, came to New Castle. Lewis identified Simison as the man who had held up the liquor store and took $70, early Monday evening.

It is probable that Simison will be sentenced before the next term of criminal court as the plea he entered before Alderman Jams C. Brice obviates the necessity of a trial.

SCOUTS PRIMED, VIE TONIGHT IN FIRST AID MEET

County-Wide Competition To Take Place In Ben Franklin Gym

Sixteen boy scout first aid teams from as many lawrence county troops tonight will compete for honors in the annual county-wide first aid meet in the gymnasium of Benjamin Franklin junior high school. The events begin at 8 sharp.

The Mahoning-Shenango Valley Engineers' society is sponsoring the competition and will be represented by Elmer T. Tinstman, the chief judge of the events. Mr. Tinstman will have qualified judges to assist him.

An annual affair, the county meet always attracts a group of scouting friends who greatly enjoy the youths' contests in bandaging and a host of other rescue subjects.

Awards will be provided the winners tonight.

Guest In Auto Hurt In Crash Asks Damages

Josephine Dennis Files Suit Against Frank Phillips For $10,000

Josephine Dennis, 722 Pearson street, this city, has filed a suit at the prothonotary's office against Frank Phillips, of New Wilmington, in which she asks for $10,000 for damages sustained in an auto accident, while she was riding as a guest in the Phillips car.

According to the statement of claim, Phillips and Miss Dennis had started for Youngstown on January 28, 1935. The roads were covered with ice. While driving on the New Castle-Youngstown road near the Merle Cover property, it is claimed that he drove near the inner edge of a curve and his car collided with another machine.

Miss Dennis had her collarbone broken and was otherwise injured. As a result she was in a hospital for 48 days and was laid up for some time after she returned home.

Claims Damages For Automobile Accident

Isaac Joseph Files Suit Against Isaac George And Others For Injuries

Isaac Joseph has filed a suit at the prothonotary's office against Isaac George and others, trading as the Barris-George company in which he asks $5000 damages for injuries sustained in an automobile accident on South Mill street.

Joseph claims that he was walking north on South Mill street, and was crossing the intersection of Grove street. He says that he had reached a point about two feet from the north curb of Grove street, when Isaac George, driving a car south on Mill street, made a left hand turn into Grove street, and knocked him down.

Joseph claims that one knee struck the curb and that he was otherwise injured. He claims that George was driving his car at a high rate of speed, and that he did not use proper precautions in making the turn into Grove street.

Affirmative Wins Pro-Indus Debate

The affirmative team of Pro-Indus club members won a debate which the club enjoyed Thursday night on the subject, "Resolved: That the City Manager Form of Government Should be Adopted In the City of New Castle."

Winning debaters were Attorney Kenneth M. McLure and Thomas Smathers while Jay G. Rudolph and Donald Huffman spoke for the negative.

The attendance drive team captained by G. Ward Whittaker was announced as the winner over the team led by Harold Kerr. The contest took place recently.

Amateur Night Unusual Feature

Third Night Of Food Show Attracts Another Large Crowd, Thursday Evening

SHOW TO CLOSE SATURDAY NIGHT

That New Castle has its share of theatrical potentialities was displayed Thursday evening in The Cathedral, when a group of local stage aspirants competed in a most enjoyable amateur night program held in conjunction with the sixth annual food show and home beautiful exposition, being held under the auspices of the Lawrence County Retail Grocers & Food Dealers association.

Another crowd that just about filled the exposition rooms at The Cathedral seemed pleased with the unusually arranged booths exhibiting foodstuffs.

The amateur event was an interesting way of bringing to a close last night's program. Winsome Patricia Rowland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Rowland of 809 East Main street, who rendered a song and tap dance selection, had the throng agog. After much deliberation, the judges awarded her first prize. Michael Turco, 116 Homestead street, a well known local musician, was a close second, and Walter Smith, 802 State street, won third prize award. The contest was extremely close. Others who competed included Jean Ann Noss of Ellwood City, Norma June Fishburn, R. F. D. No. 5; Earl Hammond, 9 West Moody avenue; Dorothy Truby, 22½ North Mill street; Donna Jean Truby, North Mill street, and Estelle Shira, Neshannock avenue.

A number of baskets filled with groceries were distributed during the course of the night.

So far, this year's show is proving a marked success. The occasion closes Saturday evening at 10:30 o'clock with a popularity contest. The show starts at 7:30 o'clock.

Tonight's program includes music by a group of local musicians and the distribution of baskets of groceries.

SPARK SETS FIRE TO ROOF THURSDAY

For the second time in the past week or so, the home of one of the city firemen was affected by a fire. This was at the residence of F. H. Steinbrink of 106 East Reynolds street, where Fireman Herman F. Steinbrink resides. A spark from the chimney set fire to the gutter of the house at 6:05 Thursday evening. Central firemen extinguished the blaze, which did but small damage.

One way to keep from having a jealous husband or wife is to stop doing the things that justify jealousy.

Flood Control Plans Dashed By Congress

Probably Will Not Report Control Bill Out Before Adjournment

"AIRCADE" PLANS ARE DEMORALIZED

Plan To Seek United Action To Force Congress To Give River Valley Aide

By RICHARD A. BLACKBURN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, April 24—Having dramatized their campaign for flood control by a two-day "aircade" leaders from the Ohio Valley and the Tri-state authority today laid plans for Washington conferences as instruments to force through the Wilson-Copeland bill.

Midway in their flight from Cincinnati to Pittsburgh, their hopes for immediate action, were dashed temporarily by news that the omnibus flood control bill probably would not be reported out of committee before adjournment.

Plans Cancelled

These advices caused cancellation of plans whereby a few flood control enthusiasts would continue on to Washington after leaving the "aircade" upon completion of its flight here.

Instead, representatives of the Ohio Valley conservation and flood control congress decided to return to the river towns carrying the news of the probable delay and asking for united action in forcing congress to consummate its flood control plans.

Early next week Dr. Charles E. Holzer, Gallipolis, O., president of the Ohio Valley group and Alan N. Jordan, its executive secretary, will go to Washington to appear before the National Rivers and Harbors Board in behalf of flood protection for the river cities.

Will Bring Pressure

It was intimated also that pressure will be brought to bear if there is evidence that the bill is to be shelved indefinitely.

"Congress will act," Dr. Holzer declared, "and it will act promptly when it hears that the people of this great valley, and by that I mean the entire 14 states which compose it, are determined that the catastrophies of the past are not to be repeated."

At Pittsburgh the news of possible delay was relayed to the tri-state authority at a banquet given in honor of members of the "aircade" and the two groups agreed to co-ordinate their efforts for obtaining final approval of the "Pennsylvania project."

Would Build Dams

This calls for the construction of 14 dams and reservoirs at a cost of approximately $90,000,000 as the first step toward the final plan.

This series ultimately would be supplemented by 25 more reservoirs along the tributaries of the Ohio to the north and south holding the flood crest to eight feet below its present potential level.

Pennsylvania representatives indicated their weariness with continued debate and study of the flood control proposals and announced their determination to insist upon action.

"We have been thinking about this thing for 25 years" said John Kane, Allegheny county commissioner. "If we let this opportunity pass, we may be 'thinking' about it for 25 more."

True Ivorites Will Gather On Saturday

Members of the Star of Wales Lodge, No. 60, True Ivorites of America, will gather for a special meeting in the Emmanuel Baptist church, East Reynolds street on Saturday evening, April 25, at 7:30 o'clock.

A lunch will be served at the close.

Fiorenza Faces Speedy Justice

New York District Attorney Expects To Bring Him To Trial May 18

GRAND JURY ACTION INDICATED TODAY

JOHN FIORENZA

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 24—John Fiorenza, upholsterer's assistant, will be indicted for the first degree murder of demure Nancy Evans Titterton in less than an hour when the grand jury meets today, District Attorney Dodge predicted.

Dodge, who hopes to bring the 24-year old youth to trial on May 18, said he would call six witnesses before the grand jury.

They will include the slain writer's husband, Lewis H. Titterton, radio company executive; Dr. Alexander O. Gettler, city toxicologist, who disclosed that stains found on the counterpane of Mrs. Titterton's bed corresponded with stains on Fiorenza's clothing, and Theodore Kruger, Fiorenza's employer. Kruger is expected to testify that the prisoner was not at work when the crime is believed to have been committed.

Red Cross Gets Funds From Mayor

Money Turned Over To Mayor McGrath For Disaster Work Given To Chapter

Lawrence county chapter, American Red Cross, today received funds totalling $303.22 from Mayor Charles E. McGrath, which had been contributed by local citizens for assistance of the needy during the recent flood disaster.

The money was placed wtih the other funds received by the chapter which is benig turned over to the American National Red Cross for relief of those who suffered during the recent flood and tornado disasters in the country.

The chapter receipts for this purpose now total over $14,000, it is stated.

State Hospital Association To End Sessions

Annual Banquet And Election Of Officers Held On Thursday Night

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 24.—Concluding sessions of the three-day conference here of the Hospital Association of Pennsylvania were to be held today following the election of a new slate of officers. The annual banquet of the association was held last night.

Officers elected were: president-elect, Miss Mary B. Miller, superintendent of Presbyterian hospital; president, Melvin L. Sutley, superintendent of Delaware county hospital, Drexel Hill; vice-presidents, Col. Percy L. Jones, director of Hamot hospital, Erie, and Sister Frances Desales, superintendent of Misericordia hospital, Philadelphia, both re-elected; treasurer, Elmer E. Matthews, superintendent of Wilkes Barre General hospital, re-elected; executive secretary, John N. Hatfield, administrator of Pennsylvania hospital, Philadelphia, re-elected; trustees, Dr. J. Allen Jackson, superintendent of Danville State hospital, retiring president; Lewis N. Clark, managing director, Germantown hospital, Philadelphia, and William H. Hutt, first vice-president, Third Federal Reserve bank, Philadelphia.

CLAIM ELECTIONS ARE TOO COSTLY

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND, O., April 24.—The State of Ohio and most of its counties are spending too much money in the administration of elections.

This is the conclusion reached by the Citizens' League of Cleveland in its comparison of election costs with those of other states.

The league studied election costs of Ohio and Michigan and found that the cost per capita of population in this state was 37 cents for 1934. In Michigan, it was 23 cents.

The total cost for Ohio's 1934 elections was $2,440,396, as compared with $1,107,485 in Michigan.

To reduce election costs, the league urges voters to make these demands of election officials:

1. Suspension of unnecessary permanent employes; 2. Confinement of voting precincts to the number required by law; 3. Abandonment of unnecessary registrations.

QUALIFIED

The manager and the chief clerk were discussing the new typist.

"What do you think of her?" asked the manager. "How is she doing her work?"

The chief clerk looked a little doubtful. "Well, I don't know," he said, "but she spells atrociously."

"Really," said the manager, "she must be pretty good, then. I couldn't spell it."

Late Oil Man Leaves Fortune To Help Others

Trust Fund Of $2,300,000 Created For Helping Young Men Through College

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 24.—Addison H. Gibson, son of an Armstrong county store-keeper, who made millions when he brought in Mexico's largest oil well, left the bulk of his $2,500,000 esate to charity it was revealed today when his will was filed for probate.

Gibson, who spent the greater part of his life in Pittsburgh, died last week in Tulsa, Okla. He was 75.

According to the terms of his will, the executors will create a trust fund of $2,300,000, the proceeds of which will be used to pay for the hospitalization of poor and needy persons.

Gibson also provided that part of the funds be used to put deserving Western Pennsylvania youths through college.

The balance of the estate was divided among Gibson's sister, Mrs. Annie McChesney, of Oak Park, Ill., a niece, Marie J. Gibson, and Virginia and Earl Reed, children of Earl F. Reed, a Pittsburgh attorney.

Husband Kills Wife's Lover, Goes To Jail

New Kensington Man Stabs Aliquippa Man To Death In Automobile

WIFE-PARAMOUR PLANNED ELOPMENT

(International News Service)

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., April 24. — Joseph Burns, 29-year-old father and aluminum plant worker, today told police why he killed Louis Tishky, 32, of Aliquippa, whose lifeless body, bearing 15 knife wounds, was found in an automobile outside the Burns home here.

"That fellow with his big promises was too slick a talker for Ethel . . . but now I'm sorry I killed him."

Ethel, Burns' wife and the mother of his three small children, was planning to "run away" with Tishky, police said Burns told them.

Trap Is Laid

Last night, Burns said, he sat in the dark in his living room when his wife thought he was at work There he heard her telling a friend over the telephone that she was running away with Tishky.

When his wife left the house, Burns continued, he followed her. Tishky was waiting outside in his car.

"Well, I couldn't control myself," Burns told police. Mrs. Burns ran into a nearby police station, screamed "There's an awful fight", and brought police on the run. But Burns had already given himself up.

Will Help Husband

He walked into the station and calmly announced:

"I've just killed a man."

Today Mrs. Burns defended her husband. She said:

"I suppose I thought I was in love with Louis, but now I know I loved my husband more. Joe is jealous, sometimes unreasonably so—but he's been a good husband and father.

"I feel somewhat responsible for the mess my husband is in, and I will do everything I can to save him."

Stands By Wife

In jail, Burns was equally loyal. Speaking for his wife, he said:

"Don't paint her too black. She's a good kid and a good mother to my babies. But she's too easily led."

Burns will be arraigned later today.

Tishky was slain, police said, with a 10-inch home-made knife. In his car was found a carton of clothes belonging to Mrs. Burns, an umbrella, also Mrs. Burns', her pocketbook and a letter to her from Tishky, postmarked Aliquippa, where he lived. According to police, the letter said, in part:

"I can't live without you, darling, and you must be mine. Can't bear to leave you, and I can never wait until I see you the next time. I have asked the boss if I could get off work Thursday, but he has refused so far. I hope I can make it as we arranged, but I'll let you know, honey.

"I am sending you all my hugs and kisses, and you know they are all for you . . . "

Had Forgiven Her

Burns, operator of an "extrusion press" in the local plant of the Aluminum Company of America, was said to have told police he had often warned his wife to shun Tishky. Twice, he said, he had forgiven excursions she had taken with him, and had discovered letters to his wife from the Aliquippan.

The couple's three children are Dixie Zoe, nine; Betty Joe, eight, and Ethel Maxine, five.

Tishky was divorced and was himself the father of a 10-year-old daughter, Dorothy, who lives with her mother, Mrs. Ann Engelman, in Ambridge.

BEST REMEDY FOR Bladder Weakness

Thompson's Barosma Tablets are the very best remedy I have ever tried in my case of bladder weakness. I can never say too much for them. I had suffered many years before taking them," writes R. L. Hurd, 991 Superior St., Detroit.

The kidneys are seldom free from poisons. Clean them out and backache, sideache, and bladder trouble go. The kidneys are the great filters of the blood. If the kidneys are clogged you should clean them out at once with Thompson's Barosma Tablets and not allow the poison to pass into the system.

W. C. T. U. Women Gather Thursday

Annual Spring Institute Takes Place All Day At Y. W. C. A.

ABOUT HUNDRED WOMEN ATTEND

About 100 women from six Women's Christian Temperance Unions of New Castle gathered for their annual spring institute in the Y. W. C. A. Thursday.

Morning and afternoon sessions were conducted and noon luncheon was served in the third floor dining room of the building.

Several splendid addresses by Rev. Charles H. Hagadorn, pastor of the Mahoning Methodist Episcopal church and Rev. Chester T. R. Yeates, pastor of the Third United Presbyterian church, and very interesting remarks by Mrs. S. E. McCleary, aged 92 years, honorary president and oldest member of the Lawrence County W. C. T. U. were high lights of the day.

Mrs. E. C. Beahm, president, and her worthy helpers of Central Union, were sponsors of the institute and did an excellent job of the program planning. Mrs. June Bernard, of Highland U. P. church, was director of music for the day and her accompanist was Mrs. A. C. Allen. Mrs. Cy Ingham played the piano accompaniment during the memorial service in the afternoon. Registration of members was taken by Bessie Coates Pitzer and Mrs. J. M. Dunlap.

Devotions were led by Mrs. C. H. Heaton, of the First Baptist church, opened the morning session. The platform of the auditorium was beautifully decorated with American Beauty roses and sweet peas donated by several local florists.

Five minute talks were given by the following women representing their unions: Mrs. J. S. Martin, Highland, Mrs. E. C. Morrow, Croton, Mrs. Abe Kildoo, East Side, Mrs. R. E. Long, West Side, Mrs. E. C. Beahm, Central and Miss Martha Dodds, Frances Willard.

Mrs. Edward Shields, county director of flower mission and relief, give report of her year's work. She won the state prize for the excellent record made. Mrs. J. B. McClaren, county treasurer, gave remarks. The noontide prayer was offered by Mrs. Grant E. Fisher.

Throughout the day Mrs. E. C. Beahm presided and Bessie Coates Pitzer, as secretary, kept an account of the notes.

Mrs. T. D. Allen opened the afternoon session with devotions. Mrs. David W. Ritchie, Jr. county director of L. T. L., presented a report of her year's work. She organized eight new L. T. L. unions and won the state banner for her splendid activities. She reported 467 members had paid their dues and that there was 100 per cent pledge signers for the county.

Rev. Hagadorn was introduced by Bessie Coates Pitzer. His subject was "The Quest For Happiness," and he stressed the four "High C's"—Courage, Conviction, Concentration and Christ."

Rev. Yeates spoke after the memorial service on the subject, "What Are We Doing About It?" He urged that the women have hatred for liquor traffic and have a spiritual appreciation of life.

Miss Margaret Peebles, of Plaingrove, a county officer, spoke on, "The Primary Election."

Prayer was offered by Mrs. C. R. Bartley.

Next year the city spring W. C. T. U. institute will be in complete charge of Highland Union of which Mrs. T. A. Gilkey, is president.

Mrs. S. E. McCleary, who gave a delightful talk in the afternoon, was presented with a lovely bouquet of roses by Bessie Coates Pitzer. She graciously replied that she had found roses all along the way."

Mrs. McCleary, oldest living member of the W. C. T. U. in Lawrence county, first attended temperance meetings in the old White hall, now the Central Presbyterian church. She is active, witty and greatly loved and respected by all who know her.

Hold Man On Grave Charge

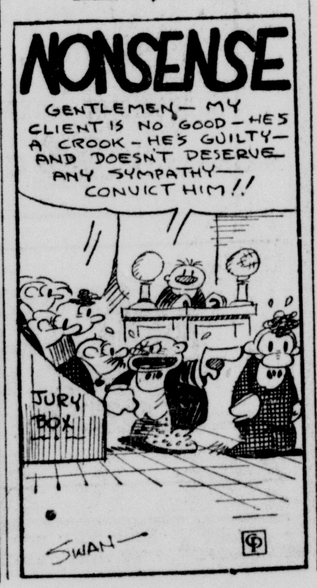

New York Girl Tells Of Being Kidnaped And Attacked In Apartment

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 24.—John Ronzo, 23, a married man was under arrest today as a result of a terrified girl's story of how she was kidnaped at the point of a gun, driven to a Brooklyn apartment, stripped of her clothing and then attacked.

The girl, 19-year-old Luba Kronhaus, told police she had feared the same fate was in store for her that befell Nancy Evans Titterton on Good Friday and said she believed she escaped alive only by offering to pay her captor $250.

Ronzo, who was arrested several hours after the alleged attack, on the girl's complaint, denied the kidnap and attack charges and said the girl had entered his automobile and accompanied him to his apartment voluntarily.

REPUBLICAN VICTORY THIS FALL!

THE HARMONY REPUBLICAN candidates have attracted unified support in all three counties of the 26th Congressional District. This building-up and strengthening of Republican Party vitality and spirit was the most important task confronting our State and County chairmen at the beginning of this year. Success has rewarded their efforts.

We as voters must do our part by voting ourselves and making sure that our friends go to the polls on Tuesday. A large HARMONY REPUBLICAN vote will lay a firm foundation for REPUBLICAN VICTORY THIS FALL.

Father Mourns Death Of Child

Takes No Interest In His Erring Wife Accused Of Murder

GRUESOME SLAYING RE-ENACTED ON ROAD

(International News Service)

ALTOONA, Pa., April 24—A grief stricken father sat in his saddened and silent home here today, while in jail were his wife and her lover, accused by police with slaying his three-year old child to "get him out of the way."

"I don't care what they do to my wife because the only thing I ever loved in life is gone now that they've buried Sonny," the father, Matthew Karmendi, a silk mill worker, said despairingly.

Re-enact Scene

The mother, Mrs. Margaret Karmendi, 24, and her paramour, Roy Lockard, 24, a WPA worker, re-enacted the gruesome slaying by using a lifesized baby doll at the request of Robert J. Puderbaugh, assistant district attorney. Eact However, insisted the other committed the actual slaying of the child by using a huge railroad spike.

The boy, Matthew Jr., was buried yesterday. His death had at first been attributed to a hit-run driver until confessions were obtained police said. The boy's skull was broken by the heavy spike, wielded along a lonely, deserted road while the couple was returning from a motion picture theatre.

"Sharlie" Should Call On "Baron" To Help Him Out

(International News Service)

AKRON, O., April 24.—"Sharlie," who used to admit regularly to Baron Munchausen that he was not there, was "there" today—in jail.

Cliff Hall, 42, former "stooge" for Jack Pearl on the Munchausen broadcasts, was held pending arrival of New York authorities to return him to New York. He was to be arraigned today on a fugitive charge.

Hall, who has been appearing with Joe Penner in a theater here, was arrested last night by detectives on charges of non-support filed by Hall's show-girl wife, June Rogers, in New York.

BUSINESS BOOMS FOR POULTRY BREEDERS

HARRISBURG, April 24.—Poultry breeders in Pennsylvania are experiencing one of the most successful seasons in recent year, J. Hansell French, Secretary of Agriculture, reported today.

Many are sold out from two to four weeks ahead and incoming orders indicate a May demand in excess of the supply of chicks. A survey of hatcheries co-operating with the Bureau of Markets show a 30 percent increase in sales since last spring.

One breeder reports a single order for 8180 eggs a week for ten weeks.

Sentences Payne To Serve 15 Days

Ed. Payne, colored, today appeared before Mayor Charles E. McGrath in police court. He was accused of drunkenness and disorderly conduct. He was alleged to have entered a South Side saloon last night and abused attaches of the place. Police were called. Payne has faced Mayor McGrath in police court several times recently. Payne was sentenced to serve 15 days in the county jail.

Latin Teachers Have Conference

Dinner Session For Teachers Of District Enjoyed On Thursday Evening

EVENING'S MENU PRINTED IN LATIN

Thursday evening classical teachers from various educational centers in this general vicinity met in the private dining room of one of our down-town tea rooms for a dinner conference.

Twenty teachers of Latin were present with Dean Calderwood of Grove City College representing the colleges of our immediate neighborhood.

The table decorations were a great bowl of spring flowers and pale green menu cards.

In keeping with the interests of the guests, the menu cards were printed in Latin, with a grape juice cocktail looking rather self-conscious as "Sucus Uvapomorum;" chicken and biscuits disguised as "Gallina cum Orbibus Farinarum;" and other choice viands masquerading under similar classical names.

After the dinner a program was carried out. Miss Mildred Caldwell, of Sharon presented a masterly paper on "Modern Methods in the Teaching of Latin." Dean Calderwood in his genial, humorous way led the group in a discussion of various matters relating to the present status of Latin in the schools. Miss Lila Adams, of Butler and Miss Mary Van Divort of New Castle, gave brief reports on the recent three day conference of the Classical Association of the Middle West and South, held in Cleveland during the Easter vacation. Plans were also made for a similar dinner to be held probably ir New Castle next fall, in the interest of Latin in the schools and colleges.

The considerable success of this dinner for classical teachers Thursday evening was due to the efforts of the committee in charge, composed of the Misses Ruth Glenn of Hickory Union High school, Lila Adams of Butler, May Eakin and Agnes Webster of New Castle.

In addition to guests already mentioned were: Miss Mildred Zahnizer and Miss Dorothy Jean Wallace, of New Castle; the Misses Augusta Gibbons, Alberta McCotter, E. Vernece Saeger, of Sharon; the Misses Rebekah and Margaret Washabaugh of Grove City; the Misses Dorothy Doerr, Florence Kramer, and M. Eleanor Hervey, of Butler; Mary Olive Morgan, of Eau Claire and Miss Jane Morgan of Parker's Landing.

Detective's Son Being Hunted

Ellis Parker, Jr., Among Indicted In Wendel Kidnaping

WHEREABOUTS AT PRESENT UNKNOWN

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 24.—With all sorts of political repercussions predicted as a result of his indictment with four others in the kidnaping and torture of Paul H. Wendel, 20 state troopers today scoured the Mount Holly section of New Jersey in a wide hunt for Ellis Parker, Jr., son of the famous detective.

The younger Parker was indicted by a Brooklyn grand jury for kidnaping and assault, Charges growing out of Wendel's claim that he was abducted from in front of a New York hotel and held prisoner in a Brooklyn house until he agreed to "confess" that he, and not Bruno Richard Hauptmann, killed the Lindbergh baby.

The elder Parker declared last night he was unaware of his son's whereabouts, but was loud in his protestations of his innocence.

"I know he is innocent," the noted sleuth said. "I will back him to the hilt. All my money will be spent, if necessary, to clear him of these infamous charges."

Reserve Officers To Convene May 1

Pennsylvania Reserve Officers will meet in convention in Uniontown, Pa., May 1 and 2, it was announced today. High ranking officers of the United States Army are scheduled to address the convention.

Major General Albert J. Bowley, commanding the Third Corps Area will be one of the speakers and Brig-General H. H. Arnold, assistant chief of the Army Air Corps will be the principal speaker at the annual banquet Friday afternoon. A program of entertainment for the 500 expected officers has been prepared.

Several officers of the Lawrence County chapter of the Reserve are planning to attend.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

TRAIN TOT TO MIND

As those who have followed this column have observed, I have for years pleaded with parents to train their children while very young to mind. Rarely do I make a public address without emphasizing the need of teaching the child the unambiguous meaning of "NO" before he is two or three—for safety, regard for the rights of others, and respect for authority. How? By means of the good old-fashioned spank selectively employed.

Sometimes, however, I am a little cramped—but never in this column. For example, at a luncheon meeting before representative leaders in religious education, of the Greater New York Federation of Churches, March 28, I had in my prepared speech the following, which, by request, was almost entirely omitted from my actual speech:

"What about the bedlam in some Sunday schools? Some children might profit more, spiritually and morally, out on a good playground than in a Sunday school where they behave as hoodlums. Rushing into the assembly room like wild cattle, knocking over chairs, trampling upon song books or even Bibles, these roughnecks from eight to twelve are hardly gaining much that's good. And often the leaders of the roughnecks are splinters from pillars of the church.

"Better leadership in Sunday schools made attractive to children should help some. But in spite of the best leadership and methods, this problem won't be solved until parents face about and cease following the prophets of no restraint of children at home. Pitifully true it is that parents who are pillars of the church, and others of the intelligentsia, have been among the first to accept the prevailing doctrine of letting little children do about as they please.

Home Restraint Lacking.

"If parent education is to be most effective in our church or elsewhere, it will have to include what it now lacks, reasonable home restraints in the early years of the child. Most parent-education programs the country over not only fail to emphasize restraints, but they generally are warning parents against restraining their children."

On the following day I spoke over the radio network on the American Schools' program of the National Education association, when I also avoided the word spank. But I did say:

"I believe the leading single cause of increasing vandalism and crime, especially in youth, is this doctrine of no restraint, that those, therefore, who have been deliberately spreading this doctrine have contributed mightily to the prevalence of crime."

"Not in the police and courts of justice can we put our greatest hope for checking crime, nor even in our schools, though they are doing a comparatively good job, but in parents who themselves have proved good citizens, provided they will face about and train their children in the nursery in the alphabet of inhibitions."

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Honoring the eleventh birthday anniversary of her daughter, Mary Margaret, Mrs. Wesley Thompson, of the North Side, entertained a group of young folks in her home on Thursday evening. During the evening games of various kinds were enjoyed. A large birthday cake formed the centerpiece on the dining room table and lunch was served by Mrs. Thompson, assisted by Mrs. Charles Louden. The honor guest was the recipient of a collection of useful gifts.

Finds Marriage Papers Over 100 Years Of Age

Out of a bundle of old papers which have been in the family for many years, Mrs. D. C. McClelland has found a number of interesting papers which belonged to her paternal grandfather, William Rapson.

Perhaps the most interesting is the certified copy of the marriage register in St. Mary's parish, Carlisle, Cumberland county, England, which is a certification of the marriage of William Rapson and Jane Phillips which took place on July 13, 1830, the minister being Rev. Thomas Wilkinson.

The copy is yellow with age but very legible. With it is the permission of the regimental commander of the 24th regiment of which regiment Mr. Rapson was a member.

The marriage record is signed by mark by both Mr. and Mrs. Rapson and is witnessed by Thomas Phillips and Mary Hodgson. After his discharge from the English army Mr. Rapson came to Canada and later settled in the United States.

Charlie Chaplin Alive And Well

(International News Service)

SINGAPORE, April 24.—Charlie Chaplin is alive and well at Tourane, French Indo-China, his travel agents here were advised today when they checked on rumors saying the film comedian was dead.

Chaplin, accompanied by his leading lady and fiancee, Miss Paulette Goddard, arrived here from Saigon after a trip into Cambodia to see the famous ruins of Angkor, the manager of their hotel at Tgurane telegraphed.

They are continuing by leisurely stages to Tokyo.

Correct this sentence: "I served my community four years without pay," said he, "and scores of people thanked me."

AROSE FROM BED AFTER WEEK'S TREATMENT

Another Flu Victim Gets Quick Results With World's Tonic

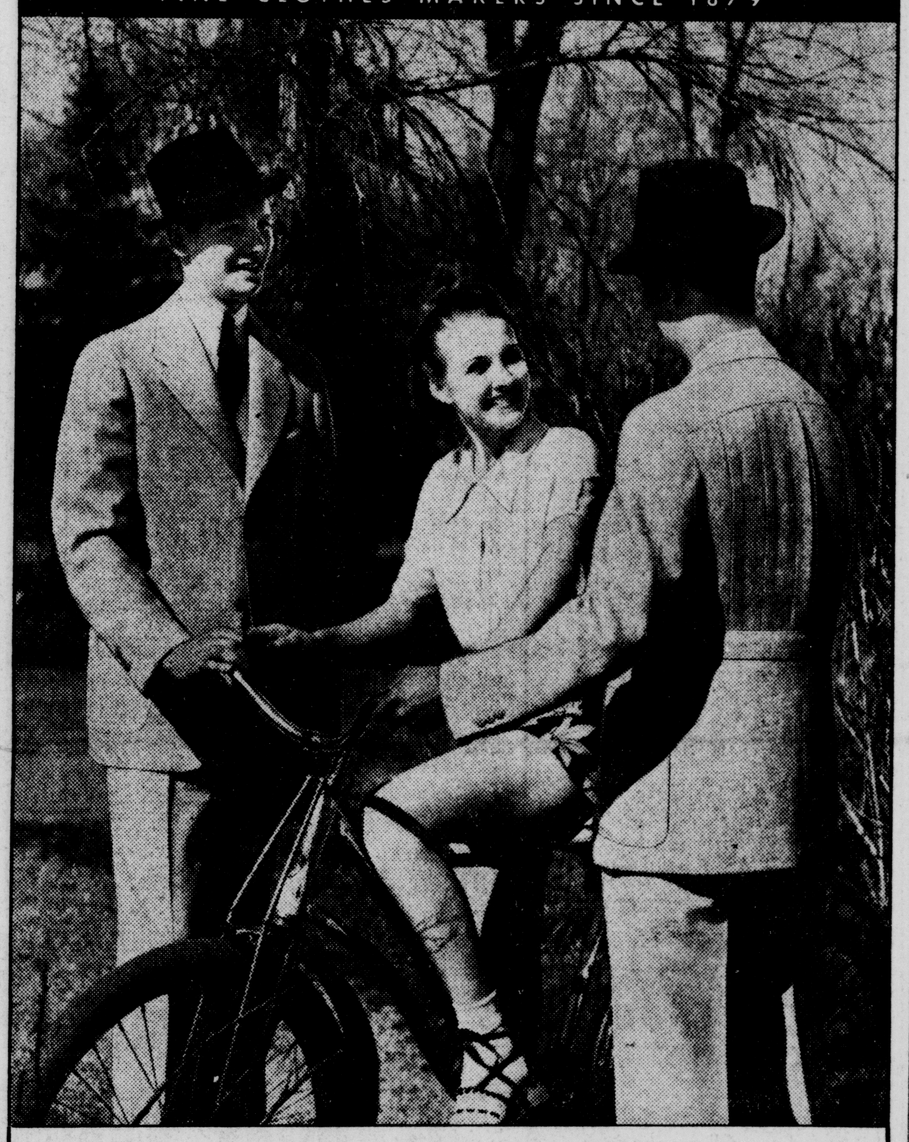

"Last Fall I was sick about three weeks with the flu. I got over it promptly to all outward appearances, but I knew I was not right. For one thing, my stomach was very uncertain. My bowels would not move without taking different kinds of physics every night. Sometimes after a meal my stomach would be so disturbed that I felt I could not retain what I had eaten, and at other times it went sour and caused me to belch a great deal, and often would become nauseated. I took a few remedies for this, but somehow they did me no good, and the condition grew worse. Six weeks after the flu I was not able to eat any solid food, and I was about half starved. I could not gain the weight I had before the flu, and I was very much weaker than I should have been," was the story related by Mr. E. T. White, a well known railroad man of this city.

"At the same time the catarrh left by the flu kept hanging on. My head was full most of the time, and I had ringing noises in my ears that worried me a lot. Following these I began to be seriously annoyed by persistent constipation. I thought maybe this caused the other troubles to hang on, and I took strong medicines to help clean me out. But these left me very weak. I was unable to gain strength, and I finally took to my bed again.

"Knowing from what I had read that World's Tonic is a new medicine brought from various parts of the world, and that no pills or cathartics are required with it, I determined to try to get back some of my lost strength with its aid. The results were most remarkable. Inside of a week I was so much better that I could get about. In three weeks every bit of the trouble with my stomach and all the catarrhal signs had gone. Then I began to put on weight and gain strength. My weight increased from 142 to 168 in about six weeks, and my strength kept pace with my weight, so that I am now enjoying the best of health, which must be credited to the wonderful qualities of World's Tonic." This good medicine can be obtained of Eckerd's, Paisley's and of any other first class drug store. (B-15.)

Hear Testimony In Girl's Death

Contradictory Evidence Offered By Witnesses At Cananzi Inquest Thursday

JURY MAKES NO RECOMMENDATION

Inquiry into the death of Mary Cananzi, who was fatally injured when struck by the automobile of Roy Unangst, of Edenburg, near the repeater station on Route 422, New Bedford road, early Sunday morning, April 5, was made by Coroner Orville Potter in the court of Alderman Wallace J. Ewing, Thursday afternoon.

No recommendation was made by the coroner's jury after hearing the testimony, the verdict which was brought in, stating that Miss Cananzi came to her death as a result of injuries suffered when hit by Unangst's car.

Testimony Confusing

Contradictory evidence was offered by the witnesses. Mr. Unangst stated that he was blinded by the lights of an approaching machine, and did not see the girls until he was right upon them. Sam Mangieri, and John Ryccaj, who were with the girls until a moment or so before they were struck stated that they had seen no cars passing, but admtited that they were not looking at the roadway until just the instant the girls were struck. Miss Pauline Cananzi, who was with her sister, and who was also struck by Unangst's car, claimed they were walking off the concrete and were on the berm when struck. The testimony of State Highway Patrolman D. L. Holmes, showed that the skid marks made by Unangst's wheels, started in the middle of the road. Unangst also stated that he was on the highway and not on the berm, and was substantiated in this by his wife.

Mangieri, the first witness stated that he was employed at the Riviera, on Moravia street, on the night of the accident. He met Pauline Cananzi and her sister Mary about 11:30 on the evening of April 4, and they asked him to try and get them a ride home.

He got John Ryccaj, who was also employed at the Riviera to take them, and they left about midnight, being accompanied by a friend who got out at Taylor street. They drove directly to the home of James Farrell, who resides on the far side of the telephone repeater station on the Youngstown road, Mangieri stated. Mr. Farrell was the brother-in-law, he said of the girls. They drove in the lane alongside the station, and the girls who had been in the back seat with him, got out. He said he talked to them for a minute and they started toward Farrel's house, while he got into the front seat with Ryccaj.

Saw Girls Hit

He said he just happened to look up and saw the girls hit. He could not say where they were in reference to the roadway or berm. When he got out of the car and went to their aid, Pauline was lying off the road on the right hand side, while Mary was lying in the center of the road, somewhat farther ahead. Mary was picked up and placed in the car of Mr. Mellinger, who came upon the scene, and Pauline was placed in Mr. Unangst's car and the victims were taken to the Jameson Memorial hospital.

John Ryccaj, driver of the car, which took the girls to the home of Mr. Farrell told practically the same story. He had never met the girls before, he stated, and had agreed to drive them home on request of Mangieri.

Ryccaj stated that the berm in front of the repeater station was paved with concrete, about five feet wide. He told of finding the pocket books, shoes, and other articles belonging to the girls, which he picked up and took to the hospital.

Dr. Paul Wilson told of being called to give attention to the injured girls. He was unable to fix the exact time, but stated it was after midnight on the morning of April 5. Mary Cananzi had a broken neck, which caused her death. The other girl had a laceration of the scalp and slight concussion, he stated.

Patrolman Testifies

Highway Patrolman D. L. Holmes, told of receiving a call from the Jameson Memorial hospital at 12:50 on the morning of April 5, and at 1 o'clock. Mr. Unangst came to the highway patrol office to report the circumstances. He went with him to the scene of the accident, and the next day returned and measured the distances and noticed skid marks on the highway. These were in the center of the road, veered to the left to within four feet of the left side of the road and then to the right in a sweeping curve, a distance of 125 feet. The car had stopped on the lawn just off the roadway, in front of the repeater station.

He said he had tested Unangst's brakes the day following the accident and found them in good condition. The right headlight was broken and the right fender damaged somewhat, he stated.

He said the highway is 18 feet wide at this point and there is a berm paved with concrete five to six feet wide for a distance of about 150 feet in front of the repeater station.

Sister Tells Story

Miss Pauline Cananzi told of leaving the young men and of starting toward the home of her sister, Mrs. Farrell. She said that Mary had stopped for a second or two to talk to Sam Mangieri and that she walked slow and her sister finally caught up to her. She said that they were walking on the berm, single-file., with her sister in the rear, when they were struck. She heard no car approach and did not know anything until she came to in the hospital. She said she did not see any lights from behind and was positive there were no cars coming from the opposite direction.

Mrs. Mabel Unangst, wife of Roy Unangst, the driver, was the next witness. She stated that they had been in town and had stopped at the home of her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Halleck, and were enroute home. They were coming along the road at a speed of around 35 miles an hour, she thought, and did not see the girls until they suddenly came upon them in the road. They were walking on the cartway, she stated. She said she screamed and that her husband saw the girls about the same instant, as he swerved the car to the left, and reached for the emergency brake. The girls were walking two or three feet from the edge of the road, she said. They turned around and came back down and took Pauline Cananzi to the hospital. She said the girls were walking side by side. They did not see them in time to blow their horn she stated.

Driver's Statement

Roy Unangst, driver of the car which struck the girls, stated that he had driven an automobile for twenty years and that he had never been involved in an accident before. His car was a 1927 model Oakland. They had just left the Halleck home on the Youngstown road, and were enroute home, travelling at a speed of around 35 miles an hour. When they neared the repeater station, a car with glaring light passed them and he lowered the beam of his headlights. Just as they were passing this other car, he said he saw the two girls in the roadway. He swerved his car to the left and tried to stop. He said the girls were walking on the highway, about four feet from the edge of the concrete, side by side.

After the girls had been removed to the hospital, he said that he went to the highway patrol office and reported the incident. He said his car was equipped with four-wheel brakes which were in good condition. They had been inspected last August and were checked again in January.

The jury which heard the testimony was composed of Ernest Treharne, R. L. Little, C. E. Allen, Frank Streib, James A. George, and E. J. Kemm.

Continue War On Unlicensed Dogs

Many Unlicensed Canines Are Killed In Past Few Months

HARRISBURG, April 24.—Although hundreds of dogs were killed chasing deer and other game during the past few months, this menace is by no means ended, and the Game Commission will continue to wage an unrelenting campaign against these killers.

Furthermore, a warning is being given to all dog owners that they will be fined if their dogs are permitted to chase game. The individual, rather than the dog, is to blame, and if dogs are not tied up as they should be during the breeding season they are apt to follow their natural instincts and chase or kill many nesting game birds and animals, the commission said.

In addition dogs running at random are apt to transmit rabies into communities not now infected with this dread canine disease.

Auto Inspection Includes Check On Leaking Gas

State Directs Examination To Prevent Future Carbon Monoxide Deaths

BELIEVED CAUSE OF MANY ACCIDENTS

HARRISBURG, April 24.—Special attention to the menace of carbon monoxide to the drivers of motor vehicles is being given by the official inspection stations during the current inspection campaign, Secretary of Revenue John B. Kelly revealed today.

Recent tests have given rise to the belief that carbon monoxide leaking into the bodies of cars in operation can so dull the faculties of drivers that on occasions some have been unable to react promptly to dangers on the highway. The gas is blamed as a contributing factor in many accidents and in a few cases has been shown to be the direct cause of highway deaths.

A typical case during the past winter was that of a young truck driver found dead in the cab of his truck in central Pennsylvania with the ignition still on and the motor still in gear. The driver's left foot was under the clutch and his right foot was on the throttle. His truck had left the road and plowed into a snow bank.

It was found that a gasket on the exhaust manifold had blown out and the gas had seeped into the cab in which all the windows were closed. The authorities said the driver was struck down by the fumes before his truck left the road.

Secretary Kelly said that all official inspection staions in Pennsylvania have been instructed to check up all cars inspected for leaky exhaust gaskets, manifolds, pipes and mufflers in order to prevent future deaths from carbon monoxide.

Car owners are urged to avail themselves of this newest feature of the state inspection at the earliest possible moment. The inspection period began March 15 and will continue for a 90-day period.

New Regulations For Appointment Of Police Officers

Council Passing Ordinance Requiring Officers To Be Trained

During the meeting at the city building Thursday council reported favorably from committee and ordered printed, pending final passage, Mayor Charles E. McGrath's bill providing the manner in which future appointments to the police force shall be made.

The bill provides that all appointments shall be made in conformity to the existing civil service laws and each man named to the force shall place a $200.00 bond, then undergo a four months course of training at the State police school at Hershey, Pa.

Should the appointee quit during the training session or during the first 16 months service as a policeman the bond may be forfeited. This would be forfeited in such an event, for the purpose of compensating the city for the $200.00, it will expend for the man's maintenance and training.

After the student is passed by the State police and goes to work here the new policeman will receive a rate of pay for first year policemen, according to the measure which it is indicated will be adopted.

Jesus Looks At Wealth And Poverty

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

Proverbs 22:2—"The rich and the poor meet together: the Lord is the maker of them all."

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for April 26 is Luke 16:1-31, the Golden Text being Proverbs 22:2, "The rich and the poor meet together: the Lord is the maker of them all.")

A MISQUOTATION of the Bible that is frequently heard is that "money is the root of all evil". This would make money and wealth essentially evil. But the Bible does not teach this. It says in I Timothy 6:10, "The love of money is a root of all kinds of evil." When money is made an end in itself it becomes mammon, and its service is idolatry. When money is kept in its proper place as a means to spiritual goals it is consecrated to the service of God.

The Unjust Steward

The unjust steward was accused of wasting his lord's goods and quickly resolved to further dissipate the funds in his trust to feather his own nest" at his employer's expense by slashing the indebtedness of his lord's debtors to obligate them to take him into their houses after he was ousted from his job of steward. His employer had sufficient sense of humor to admire the shrewdness and "quickness on the trigger" of the rogue who had defrauded him. He "handed it to him" that he was a clever rogue. If he had employed the same alertness and igenuity to honest ends he would not have had to dismiss him.

Jesus told this story not to commend the rogue's dishonesty but to contrast his alertness with the lethargy of the saints: "For the sons of this world are for their own generation wiser than the sons of the light." Their zeal to lap up riches in this world shames the lethargy of the saints in laying up riches in heaven. Their enthusiasm to master the fine points of golf dwarfs the enthusiasm of the saints for spiritual joys. Jesus was bold enough to venture the suggestion that the saints might take an occasional lesson from the sinners at least in alertness to make use of opportunities.

God Or Mammon

Our Lord never condemned wealth, but merely the misuse and abuse of wealth. When money is made the end and goal of life it becomes mammon and its service idolatry, of which Jesus says, "Ye cannot serve God and mammon." But money has its proper use as a servant of man and of God. We cannot serve it and God, but we can serve God with it.

The Rich Man and Lazarus

Jesus proceeded with the story of the rich man and Lazarus: "Now there was a certain rich man, and he was clothed in purple and fine linen, faring sumptuously: and a certain beggar named Lazarus was laid at his gate, full of sores, and desiring to be fed with crumbs that fell from the rich man's table: yea, even the dogs came and licked his sores." Then came death to rich and poor alike, and with it a reversal of condition with wider spread than before. For Lazarus is seen in Abraham's bosom and the rich man in torment in Hades: "Now he is comforted, and thou art in anguish." The beggar was saved not by his poverty, nor was the rich man condemned by his wealth, but each by his attitude toward God and his neighbor. To the rich man's appeal for a special mission to warn his brothers, came the reply, "If they hear not Moses and the prophets, neither will they be persauded, if one rise from the dead." This life determines destiny in the next. There are many so-called rich here who will be poor there and vice versa.

Maxie Schmeling Is Full Of Confidence

German Fighter Thinks That oe Louis Will Be Easy To Beat

Says Louis Just Slaps, Not Afraid Of Punches That Put Baer To Sleep

International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, April 24.—Max Schmeling, a gentleman whose "act" is the engaging candor of one who proposes to vouchsafe a total of nothing, all told, in a very ingratiating way, let his public or outdoor face slip in a moment of inattention today and, before he adjusted himself, he had beaten Joe Louis with a terrific wallop on the jaw.

When, in about 89-1000th of a second. By what? Why, by approximately four inches.

It happened in a hotel room and another discrepancy was that Louis wasn't present and won't be for the next two months. It was all very difficult to do, in fact, but Max came through handsomely. He let Louis start a left hook to the head and then beat him to the punch, the result being ordained. Schmeling, it seems, is anywhere up to four inches shorter with his Saturday, Sunday and half-holiday punch than any that Louis has in his bag.

Full Of Confidence

That is Schmeling's mature and considered opinion, only he didn't know that he was giving it. He thought that he was having an argument, with no notion that it was to be held against him. I don't know what he thought about the photographer who stood by with lens and flashlight poised. As a matter of fact, I don't know what anybody thinks about a photographer.

Anyhow, Schmeling's right varies —according to "position," as he puts it—from six to ten inches or even longer. His estimate is that Louis' shortest punch, coming either from a hook or a swing, is not less than ten inches. His further estimate about the 89-1000th of a second is purely conjectural. After all, he is a prize fighter, not an astronomer.

"I can give him several thousandth of a second and hit him first," said Schmeling, still under the delusion that he was preserving intact the air of evasiveness he has maintained about the fight since his arrival on the Bremen several days ago.

Studies Pictures

He added that he had arrived at the above calculations and conclusions after studying the Baer-Louis moving pictures, over and over for many months; from "stills" of the fight in which Carnera was ruthlessly cut down and destroyed and from personal observation of Louis in the Paulino fight. He says that the very claim on which American critics base their estimate of Louis' greatness, namely, his sense of balance, is the thing that makes him a fairly long puncher.

"Louis is deceptive," he explained, in his halting English. "He seems to be punching very short but I can understand this apparent contradiction. I, too, can swing long punches that seem to be short because of their speed.

Varies Punching

"For I vary my punching with the right hand, according to position. Louis does not. He gets into position first and then—what you say? Yess—then he lets the punch go. I'm talking about his wing or hook, which are the things to talk about. He is not so much of a straight puncher. In fact, I think I can say that I can hold my own with him with straight lefts.

"The only time he seemed to score with a straight left was against Baer, who made this possible. He stood still and watched them come.

'I will see them come. But I will not watch them. I will act first and Louis must be warned now that he should do some watching. I can punch with my right only four inches and still hurt a man badly."

But what of this balance business? Wasn't that the idea behind all hitting in any sport?

Louis Just Slaps

"Yes, naturally," Schmeling said very earnestly. "I, for example, do not attempt to punch when off balance. But Louis, he—what you say? —Exaggerates. He shifts his weight with his feet almost on a line. And what is the result? It lengthens his punch, first; and second, it leaves both of his hands wide. I could ask no more than that of any opponent.

"It also gives him the effect of a punch from the elbow, with a slapping motion.

"Yes"—hastily—"I admit it's a very 'gut' slap."

As a matter of fact, if that was a slap with which Louis abated and discontinued Mr. Baer last September, then the writer is all for modified parchesi.

Indians Take League Lead

Johnny Allen Pitches Cleveland To Top Of American League

DODGERS-REDS TAKE VICTORIES

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, April 24.—The still young ball season is supplying plenty of surprises. Some veterans who figured to shine from the opening gun have been slow getting under way and some rookies of whom little or nothing was expected have been going along in great style.

A case in point is Harry Kelley, one of those 30-year-old rookies Connie Mack brought up after 11 years' servitude in the sticks.

Kelley, who couldn't have cost Mack much more than the price of a couple of bat bags, let the million-dollar Red Sox down with three hits, one of which was a homer by Jimmy Foxx, and romped in, 9 to 1.

Wes Ferrell Beaten.

The A's made all their runs in four heats at the expense of Wes Ferrell, who cost young Tom Yawkey a small fortune. However, I shouldn't care to bet a thin dime that Kelley will win more games than Ferrell this year.

On the other hand, Bucky Harris, the Senators' pilot, warned us only yesterday, not to go haywire about the Athletics. "Mack has a far better team than he's usually credited with," said Harris. "He has plenty of power and some of his pitchers might surprise you." Well, Mr. Kelley did, but not half as much as he must have surprised the Red Sox.

Indians Take Lead.

Bucky's own team outhit the Yanks, 12 to 9, but the Yanks bunched their blows to better advantage and won, 10 to 6. Homers by Walker and Selkirk accounted for six of the Yankee runs.

Mickey Cochrane must be smiling again today for Eldon Auker showed he was ready to take his place alongside Rowe and Bridges by shutting out the hard-hitting Browns with six hits, and winning 10 to 0.

Johnny Allen, whom the Indians got from the Yanks, also turned in a shutout, and incidentally pushed his team up into first place. Johnny let the White Sox down with seven hits, fanned half a dozen and won, 6 to 0. The Indians pounced on Johnny Whitehead for four runs in the first inning and thereafter it was no contest.

Dodgers Win.

Tight finishes were the order of the day in the National. Lefty Clark of the Dodgers had the Giants shut out until the ninth when they fell upon him for two runs to tie the score and Butcher was called on to replace him.

Mel Ott's homer put the Giants one up in the tenth but the Dodgers came right back to chase Coffman, who had succeeded Schumacher, and pound Gumbert and Smith for two markers and a 4 to 3 total.

Reds Top Cards.

The Cards also came from behind to tie the Reds in the eighth, went ahead in the tenth and then blew the game, the Reds winning 8 to 6. Derringer was tapped for 15 hits but was more effective in the pinches than Paul Dean and his successor, Mike Ryba. Myers' homer decided the issue.

The Phils also came through in the ninth to beat the Bees, 5 to 3. Homers by Watson and Norris accounted for four of the Philly runs.

Lefty French of the Cubs had a slight edge on Lefty Birkofer of the Pirates and came through, 2 to 1. French gave up six hits and his rival nine.

St. Vitus Win Duckpin Title In Church Loop

Defeat First Christians By 161 Pins In Championship Match

St. Vitus church duckpin team of the South Side won the New Castle Church duckpin championship last night at Castle alleys over the First Christians by a total of 161 pins in a three-game total pins match. St. Vitus had 2498 and the First Christians had 2337.

Thus, the St. Vitus boys become the champions of the church league in the first year of its existence, and rightfully so. The St. Vitus boys were paced by the Phillips brothers Joe and Mike, the latter turning in two fine games of 210 and 194, while Joe had games of 213 and 176 to his credit. Ernie Smith paced the Christians with a 209 score in the second game. "Chief" Thomas blasted a 199 score in the third game.

The Christians failed to win one of the games, losing the first one by one pin and taking a setback in the second game by 131 pins.

Will Have Banquet

President Walther of the Church duckpin league announced that a banquet of the entire league will be held in a week or so. The place of the banquet has not been decided upon as yet. The St. Vitus team will be honored at the banquet and given a fine award for their championship.

The following men were members of the winning team this year: Mike Phillips, captain of the team, Joe Phillips, Ray Campoli, DePalmo, Dom Dimeco, "Chuck" Perrotta, Harry Toscano, Premo, and Mancino.

The results of the title match last night:

St. Vitus—
Campoli	144	187	148
J. Phillips	213	176	102
Perrotta	148	...	...
Dimeco	118	181	180
Premo	135	170	192

Drake Relays Start Today

(International News Service)

DES MOINES, Iowa, April 24.—Almost 2000 athletes are here today to participate in the annual Drake track and field carnival, including a galaxy of stars expected to enter notations in the record book.

Designated as an Olympic tryout, the meet is expected to establish a new record for ticket sales as well as for participants. A crowd of 10,000 will be in the stands today, officials estimated, as the 40-event program gets under way, and tomorrow officials expect to hang out the S. R. O. signs.

Browns Athletics Are Losing Money

Fans Stay Away From Ball Parks Of Tailend Teams, May Take Action

(International News Service)

ST. LOUIS, April 24.—The American league is "concerned" over two of its poverty-stricken children but will "await developments".

The problem children are the St. Louis Browns and the Philadelphia Athletics from whose ball parks the turnstile clickers stay away in droves.

Will Harridge, president of the American league, admitted last night the concern over the poor attendance at the two parks.

"It can't go on indefinitely," he said. "But meanwhile we'll have to await developments. There is no immediate action contemplated."

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Jack Petersen, British empire heavyweight champion, retained his title by defeating Jock McAvoy, British middleweight and light-heavyweight champion, in a 15 round bout at London last night. There was only one knockdown. Toward the end of the fight Petersen sent McAvoy down with a right uppercut. McAvoy arose with the count of eight.

Donald Budge, of Oakland, Cal., eliminated Gene Mako, of Los Angeles, from the men's singles championship play in the Mason-Dixon tennis tournament at White Sulphur Springs by winning a four set match, 3-6, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4. Budge's next match will be against today's semi-final match between Hal Surface, Jr., of Kansas City, and Bryan M. Grant, of Atlanta, Ga.

Sixty-seven events are calendared for the Penn relays which get under way today at Franklin Field, Philadelphia. The meet will last two days. Three thousand athletes have been entered. Stand-out sprint duel of the meet will be between Jesse Owens, of Ohio State, and Eulace Peacock, of Temple, in an invitation 100 meter race that will find also about a dozen of the fastest sprinters in the country participants. The Drake relays at Des Moines also will get under way today, 20 events being carded, eight of which will be for high school athletes. One thousand five hundred athletes have been entered by colleges and school in the Drake events.

The prosperity of one helps all. Our fine relatives wouldn't come to see us if they didn't have a new car to show off.

John Lawther Will Speak At Floor Banquet

Former Westminster College Basketball Coach Will Be Speaker Tuesday

Jay Rudolph, general chairman of the Lawrence county high school basketball banquet to be held at the First U. P. church next Tuesday evening, today announced that John D. Lawther, former basketball coach at Westminster College, will be the principal speaker.

At the same time Mr. Rudolph announced that "Bugs" Walther, sports writer, would act as toastmaster of the occasion. The banquet will start at 6:30 o'clock and will be for upwards of 100 young athletes from all parts of the county.

Mr. Rudolph also announced that a trophy cup has been secured for the championship team. This is the first banquet of this kind ever attempted here and there is considerable interest being shown.

Penn Relays Start Today

Jesse Owens And Eulace Peacock Will Be Watched Closely This Year

ATHLETES SEEK OLYMPIC BERTHS

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

PHILADELPHIA, April 24—They'll be playing cinder path roulette for the next forty eight hours on the old quarter-mile wheel at Franklin field, a no-limit game with 3,000 players and the Double-O probably showing for an Olympic prospect or two between mid-afternoon today and twilight tomorrow. The Black also is likely to come up with considerable regularity at conspicuous moments throughout the two days.

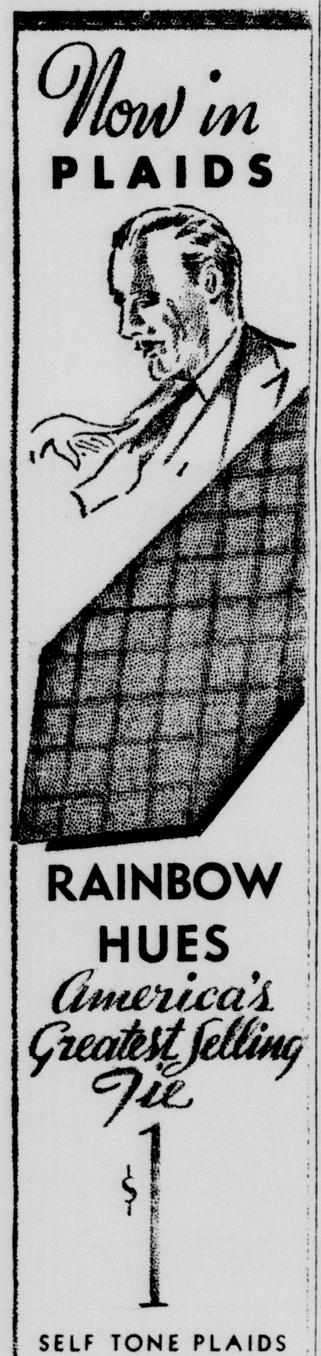

For this is to be the forty second running of the Pennsylvania relay carnival and the Black is positively one of the best bets on the board. It will be represented by Jesse Owens, of Ohio State, and Eulace Peacock, of Temple, the man with the octavus Roy Cohen name. Probably the finest sprinters and broad jumpers the world now knows, especial significance will be attached to their performances in the short relays this afternoon and the special 100 tomorrow, although significance rides with practically every event on the college program.

Watch Sprinters

The answer is that this is an Olympic year and the chips are distinctly down any time the gun goes off. That's why it's a no-limit game on the old Franklin Field wheel this time.

As for Peacock and Owens, they will be leveling in their first outdoor meeting of the year and, if they aren't right here, the chances of them being wrong at Berlin are not too remote; that is and provided a Texan by the name of Chick Wallender does happen to be so downright good that, by contrast, he makes everybody else look bad. So much for part of the Olympic parade.

The rest will be represented by Gene Venzke, the great Pennsylvanian; Eddie O'Brien, the great Syracusan, and the relay teams of Michigan, Michigan State, Ohio State, Texas and Manhattan. It isn't as funny as it used to be to be coupling Manhattan in that company. In fact, as matters stand, it is one of the few eastern entries capable of staving off a monopoly by the invading teams from the mid and southwest.

Mills, Big Ten's 'Kid' Coach Has No Pet System

BY CHARLES J. WHALEN
International News Service Sports Writer

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., April 24—Affable, friendly Doug Mills, new University of Illinois head basketball coach hasn't any pet theories on the game to speculate with when he assumes his cage duties next fall.

Moreover, he is not committed to any definite style of basketball for, in his own terms, "it's not a matter of system, but a case of getting the most out of your material."

At 28, Mills becomes the youngest head coach of any major sport in the Western Conference.

Paradoxically, pupil replaces teacher for Mills succeeds the veteran Craig Ruby, widely recognized as one of the masters of the game. Ruby resigned at the close of the 1936 season, because he did not want "to depend on basketball as a livelihood," all his life.

It was under Ruby's tutelage that the new hardwood instructor affectionately known as "Gaga" starred on the Illini cage team some nine years ago. Ruby's system, exemplified by the short pass and slow break offense, probably will be faintly reflected in Mills teachings.

Besides his basketball activities Mills is to continue his duties as freshman football coach. His elevation to the head coach position called for a considerable increase in salary, estimated as high as $4,000.

He believes in boys who are competitors. "The lads who sink baskets in practice may not be on the floor when the game opens," he says. "It will be the player, who loves to win and comes through in actual competition."

National Open To Draw Record Golf Players, Report

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 24.—The 1930 record of 1,177 entries for the national open golf championship is expected to fall before the deadline for this year's tournament is reached at 6 p. m. next Tuesday, the United States Golf association announced today.

To date, 425 applications already have been received for district qualifying rounds May 11 that will lead to the championship proper at the Baltusrol club, Short Hills, N. J., June 4-6.

Softball Teams To Meet Tonight

There will be a meeting at the "Y" tonight of all softball teams in the city interested in forming a City Softball league. The meeting has been called for 7:30 o'clock. If there is no interest shown tonight in the league, there is a possibility that the idea will be ditched this year.

Tonight is the deadline limit for teams to enter the league.

Daylight Saving Time Is Favored By Boro Council

Vote Unanimous Approval After Hearing Expressions And Letters

TUBE MILL TO USE STANDARD TIME

ELLWOOD CITY, April 24.—Borough council of Ellwood City went on record as unanimously in favor of daylight saving time at a special meeting last night in the City building.

The action was taken after a written request for an expression from council regarding the matter from Burgess R. T. Sitler. Favorable requests for daylight saving time came from the Mathews Conveyor Company, the Beaver Enameling and the Ellwood Iron and Wire Company. It was pointed out that this has been established in Ellwood City for the past five years. Observing standard time would cause a lot of confusion since railroad, bus and mail service will be on daylight time.

When asked by President A. J. Howell if the councilmen had been petitioned by the citizens in their own wards regarding this matter, it turned out that only two of them were requested by a small minority to vote for standard time. The school board let it be known that whatever action council took regarding this matter would be satisfactory to them. It was also pointed out that the Chamber of Commerce was in favor of daylight time. After this discussion council voted unanimously for it.

Yesterday afternoon an official statement came from the office of General Superintendent C. R. Cox of the Shelby works, National Tube Company, that the plant will observe standard time during the summer period. All office employees are requested to report at seven o'clock. The mill men will report at the usual time.

This morning a strong protest against daylight saving time was received by Burgess Sitler, thus leaving things in a state of quandry. Burgess Sitler requested a compromise. That the daylight saving time will go into effect May 30 and end September 5, which is the closing and opening dates of school in Ellwood City. This arrangement would prevent any conflict in homes with mill men and children. There would be no discomfort caused by this arrangement.

An official statement regarding the time to be used by Ellwood City during the summer months is expected from Burgess Sitler tomorrow.

Traveling Flag Given To Grange

ELLWOOD CITY, April 24.—The "travelling flag" was presented to the North Sewickley township grangers at their hall on the New Brighton road Thursday evening by members of the Hookstown grange. A very large number of grangers from many neighboring granges were in attendance.

A very fine patriotic program was presented by the Hookstown organization consisting of songs, readings and a play entitled, "Sardines." An appropriate acceptance talk was given by Rev. J. R. Routledge.

A social time followed featuring games and contests and an added feature was the serving of delicious refreshments by a committee of the host grange, Mrs. Eugene Wise, Mrs. T. N. Gillespie, Jr., Mrs. Edward Brellock, Mrs. James Boswell and Mrs. Merriman.

In the near future the local grange will take the flag to the Fairview grange.

The regular semi-monthly meeting of the organization will be held this evening featuring a literary program.

Boy Passes Away At Home Thursday

ELLWOOD CITY, April 24.—Jack Richard Smith, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Smith of 531 Haig street, passed away last night at his home after a short illness.

Besides his parents the deceased leaves one brother, Harold Raymond. Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock with the Rev. W. E. Minteer, pastor of the local U. P. church, officiating. Burial will be made in the Locust Grove cemetery.

YOUNG KANGS TO MEET

Amateur Fights In Ellwood City

Tony Adamo On Monday Card With Springdale Champion At Shelby Auditorium

HAVE NINE FAST BOUTS SCHEDULED

ELLWOOD CITY, April 24—Shelby auditorium, Ellwood City will be the mecca of fight fans of the district when the second amateur boxing show of the season will be held next Monday night. Receiving loads of praise for its last show, the Shelby Social Club has outdone itself in the nine bout card arranged.

The amateur fighters of the district were carefully matched by Matchmaker Joe Latiano. There will be matches from featherweight to middleweights. Tony Adamo of New Castle who got quite a feather in his cap at the last show by defeating a Pittsburgh A. M. A. champion, will be given an opportunity to add additional laurels to his name when he meets Fritz Waldeck of Springdale in the 147 pound class. The latter is a golden glove champion.

The fast card will be climaxed in the main bout of the evening when the two cleverest and hardest hitting lightweights in this district clash with hammer and tongs. It was a smart move on the part of Matchmaker Latiano to bring these boys together. At the last show Rich Gregory of Butler thrilled the fans with a clean knockout of the Youngstown, O., lightweight champion. John Tirpak of Pittsburgh, Junior A. M. A. lightweight champion scored an easy win when he was awarded a technical knockout over the green Karl Keul of Ellwood City. This bout promises everything—speed, boxing ability, and hard hitting.

In the semi-final bout Paul Kraynak, local hard punching middleweight, will meet Shelton Bell of Youngstown, O., Ohio State middleweight champion, who was knocked out in the first round by his brother, Mike, in the last show. Bell begged for a return match with his conqueror, but was disappointed as Mike was ordered to rest an injured hand by his physician for a period.

The complete card is as follows:

John Tirpak, Pittsburgh Junior A. M. A. lightweight champion, vs. Rich Gregory, Butler, W. P. leading lightweight, 135 lbs.

Paul Kraynak, Ellwood City, W. P. hard punching middleweight, vs. Shelton Bell, Youngstown, O. Ohio State middleweight champion, 160 lbs.

Jimmie Daleherone, Springdale, Pa., vs. John Henry Thomas, Pittsburgh, 160 lbs.

Tony Adamo, New Castle, vs. Fritz Waldeck, Springdale, 147 lbs.

Sam Crovatto, Uniontown, vs. Eddie Davis, Youngstown, O., 126 lbs.

Bennie Bartle, Ellwood City, vs. Jed Curzi, Butler, 147 lbs.

Frankie Carkido, Youngstown, O., vs. Al Mancini, Pittsburgh, 130 lbs.

Bob McShane, East Liverpool, O., vs. Joe Thomas, Pittsburgh, 150 lbs.

Karl Keul, Ellwood City, vs. Kid Roberts, Springdale, Pa., 148 lbs.

FUNERAL RITES

ELLWOOD CITY, April 24.—Funeral services for Mrs. Jeannette Moldavan Lenghal, whose death occurred at her home in Crescent avenue on Tuesday afternoon following a short illness, were held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Roumanian Catholic church.

The services were largely attended by bereaved relatives and friends.

She is survived by her husband, Thomas Lenghal; one son; her father, Nick Moldavan; two brothers and three sisters, all of this vicinity.

Interment was made in the Locust Grove cemetery.

City To Provide Playing Fields

Several Baseball And Mushball Fields To Be Made And Kept Up By City

ELLWOOD CITY, April 24—In keeping with their practice of last year and the summer athletic program planned here, the borough Council of Ellwood City at a special meeting last night in the city building, voted to provide and maintain several baseball and mushball fields about the city for public use.

Councilman Frank Biordi appealed to have the Sunday baseball license fee cut, but it was pointed out that they were powerless to do anything in this matter as it is the state law that the minimum license fee is five dollars, which is charged here.

Other Business

A request of Rev. Fr. Vincent Galliano to take some action against the parking of too many cars near his B. V. M. church and parsonage on Park avenue. Members of his congregation having business there are unable to stop near the parsonage. The matter was referred to the police committee and Burgess with power to act.

The electric light and street committees were delegated to investigate the complaint of Mr. Garrario of the Fourth ward, that a telephone pole has been put up too close to his driveway and causing a dangerous condition. A further investigation of the Rules and Regulations Committee into the case of Mr. Metz was ordered by Council. The latter is claiming damages when a block of wood in the street was sent through his window by a passing truck.

The Police Committee and Burgess were authorized to make some arrangements for speed control on South Second street after a request of citizens of that vicinity. They will also investigate a parking condition on Summitt avenue near a factory. The borough solicitor was instructed to notify the offenders of breaking down light poles on the Fifth street bridge, to pay for the damages. Otherwise legal action will be taken.

A Kittanning light brick with a light mortar was selected for the new municipal building. A rectangular interior lining tile is to be the base brick.

Council Votes Bond Issue For City Building

To Increase Borough Indebtness $52,000; No Increases In Local Taxes

Set Aside Funds To Start Work On New Building At Special Meeting

ELLWOOD CITY, April 24.—All necessary action to hasten the start of construction of a new municipal building in Ellwood City was taken by the borough council at a special meeting Thursday evening in the city building, when they unanimously voted to float a bond issue and set aside funds for incidental expenses.

The ordinance to increase the borough indebtedness to the extent of $52,000 by issuing municipal bonds, was readily accepted by council. The rules were suspended and it was passed on first and final reading. The ordinance provided for the issuing of fifty-two $1,000 bonds in coupon form on which four per cent interest will be paid from December, 1935. The ordinance also provided for the paying of the interest and taxes on the bonds by the borough. A sum of $1500 annually will be placed into a sinking fund for the municipal building for this purpose. The borough officials were authorized to negotiate any business papers regarding this matter.

There will be no raise in taxes in Ellwood City as a result of the increased indebtedness, it was pointed out. This is due to the fact that the borough's present indebtedness is not so large and another series of bonds will be retired this year. A surplus in the electric light fund also was a deciding factor to permit the construction without an increase in taxation. The new ordinance calls for the retiring of $2,000 worth of bonds annually until the year 1963.

A resolution signed by Councilman J. P. Meneice to set aside the sum of $4,570 for incidental expenses in the construction of the new municipal building was passed by council. This is to be transferred from the electric light fund to the special building fund.

Joint Classes Hold Combined Meetings

ELLWOOD CITY, April 24.—The North Sewickley Presbyterian church was the scene of an enjoyable meeting last evening when members of the Ever-ready and Brotherhood classes held a combined meeting for members and their families. Fifty members and friends participated in the various events of the evening.

The opening devotional period was conducted by Arthur Forbush. A trio composed of Joseph Clarke, John Staff and Charles Pflugh contributed a number of vocal selections. Guitar selections were given by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Smith. A debate was also an enjoyable feature of the program.

The serving of appetizing refreshments by Mrs. Floyd Cramer, Mrs. Oran Flinner and Mrs. Clem Hays concluded an informal social period.

The group decided to meet once every three months instead of monthly and the next meeting will be held during the latter part of July.

F. E. Moore Is President Of Rotary Club

Announce Result Of Annual Election Officers At Meeting Thursday

NEW CASTLE MAN CHIEF SPEAKER

ELLWOOD CITY, April 24—The Rotarians last evening were happy to welcome back into active fellowship, a former Rotarian, Thomas Patterson of the Isaly store, at their weekly meeting in the First Presbyterian church.

John Runyan and Joseph W. Humphrey were appointed official representatives to the 33rd district conference which will be held in Washington, Pa., next Wednesday and Thursday.

The recent election resulted in naming of F. E. Moore, president; H. W. Smith, vice president; and the re-election of Lowell Monroe to the post of secretary and Wayne Shiever to the responsibility of the exchequer. Al Milbreth will assume the responsibilities of the little frying pan the which have been so ably fulfilled by Paul Reynolds. W. H. Goehring and Fred Jackson were elected directors.

Rev. E. G. Aubrey had charge of the program and introduced as the speaker of the evening Alexander Thomas, New Castle, and of the consular service of the United States. Mr. Thomas spoke out of a large experience in this field of service, including service at a number of points, among which was an extended service at Cairo, Egypt, and a two year tour of inspection of our more than four hundred consulships. Mr. Thomas told of the high qualifications for this work, the exactions of it and the breadth of experience which it brings. He urged that the United States make more of diplomacy, that, instead of making this a matter of political reward, it be a matter of life study and devotion, as in England. Rav Humphrey will have charge of the next meeting.

Nervous Tone Is Seen In Market

Early Trading Shows Slump—Margin Requirements May Be Raised

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service
Financial Writer

NEW YORK, April 24.—The stock market slumped anew today after a momentary respite at the start, leading issues dropping fractions to more than four points.

Trading picked up in volume on the downside, with the high-speed ticker falling four minutes behind.

Reports that banks would raise the margin requirements to brokers, thus affecting restricted accounts of customers, contributed to the nervous tone of the market.

Steels once more bore the brunt of liquidation, Bethlehem breaking two points and U. S. Steel losing almost as much.

Oils and a few of the motor shares showed moderate resistance to selling.

Chrysler's loss was limited to less than a point, with the stock snapping back above its previous close soon after. Bullish earnings and declaration of a $1.50 dividend late yesterday aided the stock. General Motors turned in a similar performance.

Weak issues included J. I. Case, which dropped 3½ points before meeting support, U. S. Gypsum off four, Westinghouse off two, N. Y. Central and Atchison off more than a point each, and International Harvester off a point.

Bonds moved irregularly lower. Grains and cotton were slightly higher.

New York, April 24.—The stock market took on a steadier tone around noon today after extending yesterday's sharp decline one to four points in the first hour. Losses in a number of cases were converted into small gains, with the general list assuming an irregular tone.

Motors led the recovery movement, Chrysler converting a fractional loss to a gain of more than a point on the bullish earnings for the first quarter and the voting of a $1.50 dividend. General Motors also moved above the previous close.

Steel shares regained about half of their losses which at one time ran to more than two points. Rails, too, pared declines.

Fiorenza's Mother Weeps

Death and Terror Again Stalk in Palestine

With a half score dead, authorities in Palestine have sent British troops from Sarafend, near Jaffa, to the scene of the latest Arab-Jewish outbreak in the Jaffa-Tel Aviv district. The curfew law has been invoked, and preparations are speeded to avert more serious trouble. (Central Press)

WORKERS BUSY ON ROBES FOR BRITISH CORONATION

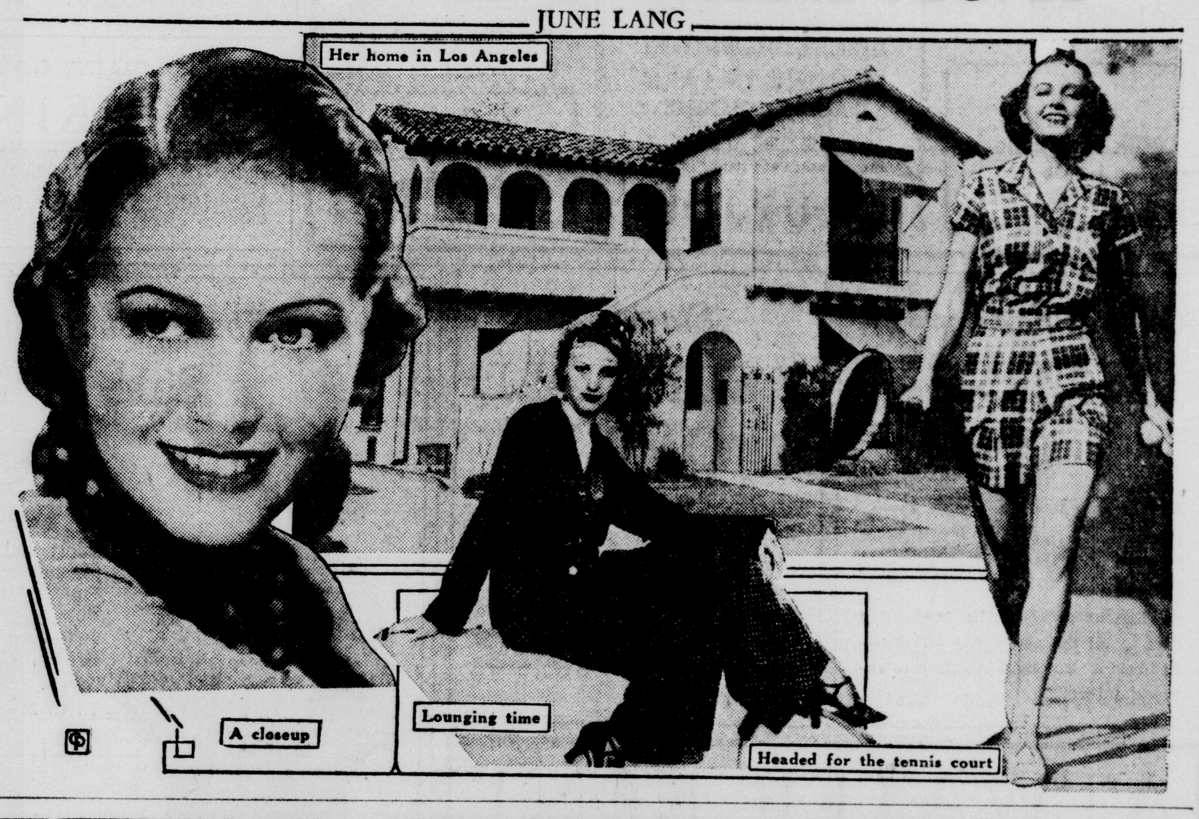

Making coronets

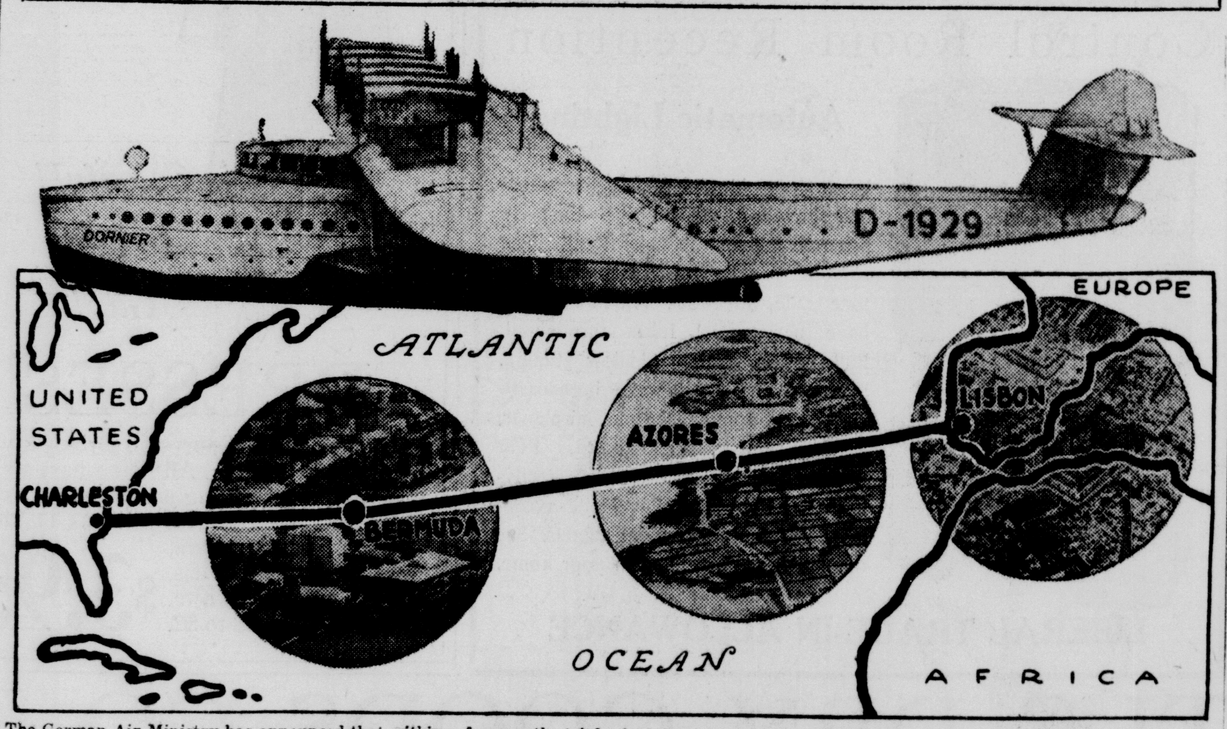

Although the coronation of King Edward VIII of England will not take place for another year, orders are piling in for costumes which nobility will wear to the ceremony. Employes at Ede & Ravenscroft, where robes have been made for nine other coronations, are shown here working on coronets. Peers are expected to spend approximately $300,000 on clothes alone in preparation for the event. The average cost per robe, including coronet, is $400.

Germany's Transatlantic Airline Plans Completed

The German Air Ministry has announced that within a few months trial flights for a transatlantic air service between Germany and the United States will be begun, and that plans for the permanent airline have been completed. Representatives of Lufthansa, the German airline system, discussed their plans with air officials in Washington last December. Principal stops between Berlin and New York will be Lisbon, Portugal, the Azores, Bermuda, and Charleston, S. C. The Germans are building huge Dornier planes of the DO-X type, capable of flying 3,000 miles with a 1,200-pound payload. The ships will weigh close to thirty-five tons and will be luxuriously appointed. (Central Press)

—And This Was a Brand New Car!

Police and firemen had to use acetylene torches to free William Nelson, the driver, after his car was completely and thoroughly smashed, as this unusual picture shows. Traffic was tied up for hours in Roxbury, Mass., as the dying driver was being taken from the wreck. (Central Press)
